

The Magna Carta of Chinese Freedom

Constitution of the Federal Republic of China (Draft)

边 靖 涛

BIAN JINGTAO

中华自由大宪章新政还原三部曲·英文版

The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom

(Trilogy Combined Edition)

Written by: Bian Jingtao

The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom (Trilogy Edition)

Author: Bian Jingtao

Publication Year: 2026

Location: Europe · Germany

© 2026 Bian Jingtao. All Rights Reserved.

No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without written permission from the author.

First Edition: March 2026

ISBN: 9798195859381

【 Synopsis 】

This trilogy is a grand constitutional blueprint designed to terminate two millennia of centralized autocracy and lay the legal foundation for a future free China.

【 About the Author 】

Bian Jingtao, an independent scholar and the drafter of "The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom." He is dedicated to the study of constitutional jurisprudence and the underlying logic of totalitarian systems.

【 Preface 】

Communism is Dead, Constitutionalism Shall Prevail!

For two millennia, the history books of this land have been filled with a colossal lie. Court literati and the powerful have used the veneers of "prosperous eras," "rises," and various "-isms" to conceal a chilling truth: from the unification by the First Emperor to the dictators sitting in the halls of power today, the system here has never truly progressed. It has always been, through and through, nothing more than an increasingly sophisticated "advanced slavery." Ordinary people have been stripped of their right to bargain. Under the monopoly of violence and the hegemony of interpretation, they have been reduced to mere "consumables" and "human mines" fueling this massive state machinery.

However, the iron laws of history tell us this: when the insatiable exploitation of the totalitarian machine reaches its limit, and when the "scorched-earth, generational harvest" drives the nation into the perfect storm of a total economic collapse, the dramatic downfall of the old regime will be an irreversible, physical inevitability.

Yet, an economic collapse does not equate to the dawn of civilization. To avoid merely replacing one set of tyrants with another to build the next farm upon the ruins of the old system, and to completely sever the vicious cycle of "changing the emperor but never the system," we must present the blueprint of a new nation to the public before the storm arrives. This is the entire purpose behind the birth of this book.

The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom and the New Deal Implementation Outline are not condescending acts of charity, but a "national founding contract" belonging to all citizens. We hereby solemnly declare: all governing powers of the government are subject to the whole people; only through the mandate of the people can governance possess legitimacy. We will use the consensus of a contract to tame the arrogance of power; we will use the ballot, the right of recall at any time, and the common law system to truly return the control of the country to the hands of ordinary people. We will absolutely and fairly return the land, resources, and monopoly dividends that rightfully belong to all people to every compatriot in the form of a "survival dividend."

This book is not only a Restoration of historical truth against lies, but also a declaration to the world: the Chinese nation is by no means an inferior race "unsuited for democracy." We are entirely capable of building a clean, free, and constitutional modern state.

Sovereignty returns to the people, and the contract reshapes the Divine Land. May this book become the torch that pierces the endless night, guiding this long-suffering land safely to the shores of civilization.

Bian Jingtao
Europe · Germany 2026

CONTENTS

The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom	2
The Magna Carta of Chinese Freedom	10
Chapter I: General Principles and Federal Constitutional Principles.....	12
Article 1 [State Structure, Sovereignty, and Source of Power Authorization].....	12
Article 2 [Official Language and Script].....	14
Article 3 [Natural Rights and Human Dignity].....	14
Article 4 [Freedom of Speech, Thought, and the Press].....	15
Article 5 [Private Property and Free Economic System].....	15
Article 6 [Citizenship and Freedom of Movement].....	16
Article 7 [Constitutional Supremacy and Hierarchy of Legal Norms].....	16
Article 8 [Hierarchy of International Law and the National Policy of Opening-up].....	17
Article 9 [Federal Separation of Powers, Local Autonomy, and the Unified Common Market]...	18
Article 10 [Fiscal Federalism and Local Taxing Power].....	19
Article 11 [Defensive Democracy Mechanism].....	19
Chapter II: State Organs and Checks and Balances	20
Article 12 [Federal Congress and Local Legislative Bodies] (Supreme Legislative Power and Absolute Fiscal Control).....	20
Article 13 [Federal President] (Supreme Executive Power and Boundaries of Power).....	22
Article 14 [Nationalization of the Military, Checks on Armed Forces, and Localization of Police].....	24
Article 15 [Federal Supreme Court] (National Supreme Judicial Adjudication and Constitutional Review Power).....	25
Article 16 [Common Law System, Dual-Track Jury, and Final Adjudication by National Referendum] (Judicial Sovereignty Resides in the People).....	26
Article 17 [Federal Super Digital Hub and Blockchain Foundation] (Digital Fourth Estate and Full-Stack Anti-Tampering Mechanism).....	27
Article 18 [Federal Independent Prosecutor’s Office] (Supreme Legal Oversight and Public Prosecution Power).....	29
Article 19 [Federal Central Bank] (Monetary Independence and Anti-Inflationary Plunder)...	30
Article 20 [Congressional Power of Impeachment].....	30
Article 21 [Universal Instant Recall Power of Citizens and “Dual-Track” Adjudication Mechanism].....	30
Article 22 [Civil Service Neutrality, Asset Disclosure, and the Right to Disobey Illegal Orders] (Cornerstone of State Administration).....	32

Article 23 [Sunshine Act and Full-Domain Open-Source Oversight] (Holographic Transparency of Public Power and Anti-Invisible Monopoly).....	33
Chapter III: Finance, Economy, and Social Responsibility	34
Article 24 [Fiscal Discipline, Statutory Budgeting, and Anti-Waste Mechanism].....	35
Article 25 [Statutory Taxation, Minimalist Tax System, and Fundamental Rights of Taxpayers]	35
Article 26 [Social Market Economy and Sustainable Welfare System].....	36
Article 27 [Anti-Monopoly, Fair Competition, and Prohibition of Cronyism].....	36
Article 28 [Freedom of Association, Labor Rights, and Social Autonomy].....	36
Article 29 [Academic Independence, Innovation Incentives, and Intellectual Property].....	37
Article 30 [Environmental Justice and Intergenerational Rights].....	37
Chapter IV: The Ultimate Guarantees of Citizens	38
Article 31 [Right to Bear Arms and the Right to Resist]	38
Chapter V: Supplementary Provisions and Constitutional Safeguards.....	38
Article 32 [Restrictions on States of Emergency]	38
Article 33 [Rigid Constitutional Amendment Procedures]	39
Article 34 [Eternity Clause]	39
Article 35 [Effectiveness, Transition, and Final Ratification].....	39

The New Deal Implementation Outline 42

(Draft) (2026 Edition).....	42
Chapter 1: Political Foundation and Integration with Civilization (The Software System).....	43
Article 1: Ending Illegal Tyranny and Rebuilding Constitutional Order.....	43
Article 2: Political Freedom, Election Revolution, and Defensive Democracy.....	44
Article 3: Bilingual Nation and the State Operating System Upgrade (The Bridge to the World)	46
Article 4: Freedom of the Press, Internet Liberation, and Privatizing the Media (Establishing the Fourth Estate).....	47
Chapter 2: The State Machine and Rebuilding the Rule of Law.....	49
Article 5: Nationalizing the Military and Civilian Control.....	49
Article 6: The Justice Revolution (Common Law, Decentralized AI Courts, and Transparent Policing).....	50
Article 7: Ultra-Simplified Government, Banning State Luxury, and the Anti-Corruption Bounty Act.....	52
Article 8: Civil Servants, Layoffs, and High Salaries to Prevent Bribery.....	54
Chapter 3: Economic Revolution and Wealth Distribution (The Engine System).....	54
Article 9: The Land Revolution (Private Housing, Commercial Auctions, and the Survival Dividend)..... 55

Article 10: Public Infrastructure (The Non-Profit Principle)..... 56

Article 11: Scarce Resources and Franchises (Global Auctions and Wealth for All)..... 56

Article 12: Restructuring State-Owned Enterprises and National Wealth Funds (Shares for All and Anti-Corruption Iron Gates)..... 57

Article 13: Labor Rights Revolution and the Domestic Economy Engine (Human Rights Equal Wealth)..... 58

Article 14: Sovereign Currency Reset, Wiping Out Black Money, and Global Asset Hunting (The Great Wealth Purification)..... 60

Article 15: The Soil for National Innovation..... 61

Article 16: The Financial Revolution (Free Money, Capital Market Reset, and Harsh Punishments for Fraud)..... 62

Article 17: Ultra-Simple Taxes, the Legal White List, and Absolute Taxpayer Rights..... 65

Article 18: Global Talent Magnet and Immigration Reform (Dual Citizenship and Low Taxes).. 67

Chapter 4: Social Security and the Survival Baseline (The Safety Net)..... 68

Article 19: Education Revolution, Crushing Corruption, and the Sunshine Act for Admissions 69

Article 20: Medical Revolution, Universal Healthcare, and the Revival of Traditional Chinese Medicine..... 70

Article 21: The Dual-Layer Pension System (State Guaranteed Minimum + Occupational Pension) 71

Article 22: Draconian Laws for Food Safety..... 71

Article 23: Environmental Justice and Pollution Compensation..... 72

Chapter 5: The Ultimate Safeguard (The Last Line of Defense) 72

Article 24: The Constitutional Right to Rebel and the National Defense System (Authorized Responsibility)..... 72

THE UNMASKING 74

Part 1: The Past — Tearing Off the Painted Skin of History..... 75

Chapter 1: The Greatest Illusion of Humanity - From “Naked” to “Advanced” Slavery... 75

Chapter 2: The Evolution of Robbers and “The Emperor’s New Clothes” 77

Chapter 3: The Ultimate Harvesting of Advanced Slavery - Mortgages and State-Owned Enterprises..... 78

Chapter 4: The Blindfolded Mill Donkey and the Ugly Clay Sculpture - The Ultimate Strangling of Truth..... 80

Chapter 5: The Perfect Storm and the Death Spiral - Extinction-Level Exploitation and the Great Economic Collapse..... 82

Part 2: The Reshaping — The Consensus of Contract and Dividends 83

Chapter 6: The Physical Laws of Dictatorial Collapse and the “Premature Contract” to Break the Periodic Law..... 84

Chapter 7: The Dimensional Elevation of Civilization - From Robber Logic to Equal Contract	85
Chapter 8: The Blueprint for Breakthrough - The “Magna Carta” and the “New Deal” as the Founding Contract.....	86
Chapter 9: The Natural Enemy of Power - Freedom of Speech and the Return of Authority to the People.....	88
Chapter 10: Democratic Restructuring in the Tech Era - Eliminating the Representational Loss of the Horse-and-Buggy Era.....	90
Chapter 11: Shredding the Arrogance of Pseudo-Elites - The Ultimate Dissection of the Three “Threats of Chaos”	91
Part 3: The Future — The Shore of Civilization and the Return of Humanity.....	93
Chapter 12: The Iron Law of History and the Last Gasp Behind High Walls.....	93
Chapter 13: The Ultimate Mission of Civilization - The Iron Law of the Survival Baseline and the Vision of Great Harmony.....	94
Final Chapter: The Dragon Breaking Its Chains - The World Coordinate of a Free China and the Ultimate Outlook.....	96
Appendix: About the Author & Call to Action.....	103

The Magna Carta of Chinese Freedom

—— Constitution of the Federal Republic of China (Draft) ——

Drafted by: Bian Jingtao

Preamble to the “Great Charter of Freedom of China”

The supreme purpose of this Constitution is to strictly limit government power, defend citizens’ freedoms, and establish that private property is sacred and inviolable.

It is hereby proclaimed: All governing powers of the government are subject to the entire people; only by relying on the authorization of the people can governance possess legitimacy.

Based on the axiom that “power is an authorization from the bottom up, not a rule from the top down”;

We thereby construct the Federal Republic of China, completely ending the centralized system of the past two thousand years;

Thus truly realizing the separation of powers and checks and balances, returning political power to the people,

And laying an indestructible cornerstone of the rule of law for the permanent peace and justice of the Chinese nation.

Chapter I: General Principles and Federal Constitutional Principles

Article 1 [State Structure, Sovereignty, and Source of Power Authorization]

[Federal State Structure] The Chinese Federation is a federal republic constructed upon bottom-up authorization. National sovereignty belongs to all citizens and does not belong to any political party, group, or individual.

[Logic of Power Source Authorization] The power of the Chinese Federation is not a top-down rule, but a bottom-up authorization. All public power originates from the transfer of citizens' natural rights. Its authorization path follows the principle of layered progression:

Municipal and County Autonomy: Citizens directly authorize grassroots governance power to municipal and county governments and councils;

Provincial Governance: All people of a province authorize regional legislative and executive powers to the province/state;

Federal Republic: All citizens authorize specific and limited powers, such as national defense and foreign affairs, to the Federation.

[Non-subordination and Accountability to the People] The three levels of government—federal, provincial/state, and municipal/county—are all independent political entities.

Non-subordination: According to the constitutional division of labor, there is no administrative subordination among them, nor is there any superior-subordinate leadership relationship. The Federation shall not interfere with provincial/state autonomy, and provinces/states shall not interfere with municipal/county autonomy.

Accountability to the People: The legitimacy of all levels of government is independently sourced, and all are directly accountable to the people of their respective electoral districts, rather than to a higher-level government.

[Right of Revocation and Abolition] Any regime that deviates from this authorization logic and violates the will of the people shall immediately lose its legitimacy. The people have the right to revoke authorization, abolish the government, or restructure the state in accordance with constitutional procedures.

[Multi-party Competitive Democratic System] Based on the aforementioned authorization logic, the Federation implements a free multi-party competitive democratic system. Political parties are merely vehicles for pooling public opinion and striving for the temporary authorization of the people. Any political party must operate within the constitutional framework, compete for the opportunity to serve through fair elections, and shall not seek permanent rule.

[Strict Prohibition of the Party-State System] It is strictly prohibited for any political party to become part of the state apparatus.

Fiscal Independence: State financial appropriations to support any political party are strictly prohibited.

Separation of Military and Politics: Political parties are strictly prohibited from interfering in military, judicial, and administrative affairs.

Public Use of Public Instruments: State instruments shall not be privately owned by political factions; no political party shall place itself above the state.

[Supremacy of Legal Tradition] As the highest letter of authorization from the people, this Constitution possesses supreme legal effect. The power of no political party, organization, or individual shall supersede the Constitution.

[Legislative Goal]:

Severing Vertical Dependence: Completely sever the administrative subordination chains among municipalities/counties, provinces/states, and the Federation. Eliminate the concept of “superiors,” ensuring local officials no longer need to pander “upwards,” but only need to answer “downwards.”

Reshaping the Logic of Power: Transform “top-down control” into “contractual authorization,” establishing “bottom-up” as the sole source of legitimate power, and completely negating the top-down right to rule.

Ending the Party-State System: Strip political parties of their privileges in financial, military, and administrative aspects, restoring political parties to “social groups competing to serve,” rather than owners of the state machinery.

[Expected Effect]:

Officials “Only Revere the Bottom”: Because the Federal President cannot appoint or dismiss mayors, local officials will no longer act according to the central government’s whims, but will desperately strive to please the voters in their own districts. “Running to ministries for money” will become “running to the people for votes.”

Physical Insulation of Dictatorship: Even if an ambitious individual controls the central government, they will be unable to command the police and administrative resources of various provinces and cities, as the two are not subordinate to each other. The dictator will find that their orders do not leave the presidential palace.

Benign Local Competition: Each province and city will possess independent legislative power (e.g., tax rates, industrial policies), attracting talent and capital through institutional competition. The stagnant “grand unification” will be replaced by a blossoming “local vitality.”

[Legal Analysis]: This provision establishes the three core constitutional principles of the Chinese Federation:

Principle of Parallel Sovereignty: The Federation and local entities are not in a “father-son relationship,” but rather a “brother/partnership relationship.”

Unitary State (Old China): The center is the absolute brain, and the localities are the hands and feet. The hands and feet must obey the brain.

Federal System (New China): The Federation, provinces/states, and municipalities/counties are all supreme authorities within their respective constitutional jurisdictions. On issues of building roads and schools, a mayor has the same level of authority as the president, and the president has no right to interfere.

Axiom of Agency: The citizens are the sole “principals,” and all levels of government are independent “agents.” Municipal and county governments are directly commissioned by the citizens, without needing to be “subcontracted” through the province or the Federation.

Principle of Subsidiarity: The center of gravity of power shifts downward. Whatever a municipality or county can do, the province shall not interfere; whatever a province can do, the Federation shall not intervene. The power of the Federation is strictly limited to the “residual and necessary” scope (such as national defense and diplomacy).

Article 2 [Official Language and Script]

Official Languages: The official languages of the Federal Republic of China are Chinese (Mandarin) and English.

Legal Effect: Laws, decrees, judgments, and official announcements issued by the federal government, state governments, and judicial organs must possess both Chinese and English versions simultaneously, and both texts hold entirely equal legal effect.

Language Rights: Federal citizens have the right to choose to use Chinese or English to communicate with any government agency, receive education, and participate in judicial proceedings, free from discrimination.

[Legislative Goal]: Break language isolation, connect China to the global universal operating system, and establish the constitutional status of bilingual parallelism.

[Expected Effect]: Realize the seamless international docking of the legal and business environment, dramatically reduce the transaction costs of the entire society, and guarantee the equal right of citizens to access global information.

[Legal Analysis]: Endow English and Chinese with equal legal hierarchy, ensuring that government services and the judicial system possess internationally recognized interface capabilities.

Article 3 [Natural Rights and Human Dignity]

Human rights originate from nature; they are inalienable and universal. Human dignity is sacred and inviolable. To respect and protect human dignity is the primary obligation of all public power of the Federation. The hierarchy of human rights supersedes state sovereignty. The Federation establishes a rule of law order centered on the “individual,” guaranteeing every individual within its borders the right to a dignified existence, and prohibiting the state from illegally infringing upon individual fundamental rights in the name of any collective interest.

[Legislative Goal]: Establish the supreme constitutional hierarchy of human rights, cementing “human dignity” and the “baseline of existence” as the philosophical pillars of the state’s founding and the ultimate criterion for judicial adjudication.

[Expected Effect]: Completely terminate “state-centrism” at the foundational legal logic level, ensuring that citizens are viewed as independent subjects rather than tools of the state.

[Legal Analysis]: Rights are not granted by the government, but are innate. The sole legitimacy for the state’s existence lies in the protection of rights. This article clarifies that the state bears a positive obligation to provide a baseline guarantee of existence and to maintain basic human dignity.

Article 4 [Freedom of Speech, Thought, and the Press]

The Federation guarantees citizens the absolute freedom of speech, thought, assembly, association, and religious belief; it guarantees citizens the right to unimpeded access to the international Internet and various digital information channels. The press, publishing, broadcasting, and all types of media enjoy absolute freedom; any form of prior censorship is strictly prohibited. The interviewing rights of journalists and their professional right to confidentiality of information sources are protected.

[Legislative Goal]: Ensure that citizens possess free thought and channels for voicing opinions, and establish the independent supervisory status of the media as the “Fourth Estate.”

[Expected Effect]: Permanently dismantle the information firewall, prohibit ideological and press censorship, and leave corruption and tyranny nowhere to hide in the daylight.

[Legal Analysis]: Abolish the “censorship system,” meaning the government has no right to approve content prior to information release. Grant independence to the media, enabling it to enjoy the right to report free from administrative interference within the legal framework.

Article 5 [Private Property and Free Economic System]

Private property is sacred and inviolable. The state strictly protects citizens’ rights to private property and inheritance in accordance with the law. The state implements a policy of all-around economic opening-up, guaranteeing the free convertibility of currency and the free flow of capital. Domestic enterprises and foreign-invested enterprises enjoy completely equal rights regarding legal status, market access, acquisition of production factors, fiscal and tax support, and participation in government bidding (the principle of competitive neutrality). The Constitution prohibits any form of regression to “public ownership” or a planned economy.

[Legislative Goal]: Establish the constitutional foundation of a free market economy, granting citizens and global investors a long-lasting sense of wealth security.

[Expected Effect]: By privatizing land, prohibiting the restoration of public ownership, and ensuring the free circulation of currency, completely eradicate the government’s expropriation of national wealth through economic controls, achieving the seamless integration of China’s economy with the global market.

[Legal Analysis]: Abolish public ownership of land and establish private ownership of land. This article establishes the principle of “competitive neutrality,” strictly prohibiting discriminatory policies against specific forms of ownership.

Article 6 [Citizenship and Freedom of Movement]

The federal territory includes currently de facto governed areas and affiliated islands. Anyone born within the territory or who legally acquires nationality is a federal citizen. The Federation completely abolishes the household registration (Hukou) system, the urban-rural dual segregation, and regional discrimination. Citizens enjoy full and free rights of movement and residence throughout the entire federal territory.

[Legislative Goal]: Establish the absolute equality of citizen status and eliminate the identity hierarchy system.

[Expected Effect]: Liberate the natural right of labor mobility, achieve fair distribution of resources, and eliminate the urban-rural dual identity chasm that has existed for decades.

[Legal Analysis]: Citizens’ right of residence throughout the entire territory is protected by the Constitution; any restrictions on movement imposed through administrative means (such as household registration barriers) are unconstitutional.

Article 7 [Constitutional Supremacy and Hierarchy of Legal Norms]

[Supreme Legal Effect] As the highest covenant of the will of all citizens, this Constitution possesses a sacred and unshakable supreme legal hierarchy. Any laws, provincial/state constitutions, municipal/county regulations, executive orders, judicial rulings, and military directives implemented within the territory of the Chinese Federation must not conflict with the provisions or spirit of this Constitution.

[Principle of Unconstitutional Invalidity] Any legal documents or government actions that conflict with this Constitution, regardless of the level of the enacting body, are legally deemed “Void ab initio” (invalid from the very beginning). No citizen or institution has the obligation to execute unconstitutional directives and has the right to file for a constitutional review lawsuit with the Federal Supreme Court.

[Power Yields to the Law] No political party, organization, religious group, armed force, or individual (including the Federal President and heads at all levels) possesses the privilege to place themselves above the Constitution. All actions of public power must be exercised within the boundaries demarcated by the Constitution.

[Legislative Goal]:

Establish “Rule of Law” rather than “Rule by Law”: Completely end the thousands-of-years-old tradition of the rule of man where “power is greater than the law” and “governing by red-letter documents.” Ensure that the rulers themselves must also submit to the rule of the law.

Unify Legal Tradition: While highly decentralizing administration (Article 3), ensure the unity of the national spirit of the rule of law through the Constitution, preventing local legislation from degenerating into “local policies” that infringe upon human rights.

Grant Citizens the Right to Disobey: Clarify that “unconstitutional directives are invalid,” giving civil servants and military personnel a legal basis to refuse execution when facing unconstitutional orders (such as massacring civilians).

[Expected Effect]:

The Constitution is No Longer a Rubber Stamp: It will become a practical weapon for citizens to defend their rights. If a mayor issues an unconstitutional document, a citizen can sue them directly in court, and the judge must rule the document invalid.

Eliminate the “Privileged Class”: Even if it is the General Secretary of the ruling party or the President, as long as their behavior steps outside the Constitution, they immediately lose legitimacy and face impeachment.

[Legal Analysis]: This article establishes the core of modern rule of law—the “Supremacy of Law.”

Relative to Article 3: Article 3 resolved “who manages whom” (administrative non-interference); this article resolves “who listens to whom” (universal adherence to the law).

Logical Closed Loop: Although local governments are administratively independent, legally they must obey the Constitution. This ensures the perfect balance between the “separation” and “integration” of the state—administration is polycentric, but the standard of justice is unified.

Article 8 [Hierarchy of International Law and the National Policy of Opening-up]

The universal principles of international law and the international treaties legally concluded by the Chinese Federation automatically constitute an integral part of the federal legal system.

The state adheres to the basic national policy of opening up to the outside world and is committed to building an unimpeded international exchange system. Treaties regarding the protection of human rights, territorial integrity, and major national interests approved by the Congress hold legal precedence over ordinary federal laws.

[Legislative Goal]: Ensure state behavior is constrained by the norms of the civilized world, preventing domestic law from regressing into the law of the jungle.

[Expected Effect]: Provide citizens with a dual protection of human rights at international standards, enabling China to rapidly integrate into the global mainstream rule-of-law system, and eliminating legal barriers to international exchange.

[Legal Analysis]: Grant higher hierarchy to international human rights treaties, ensuring the government cannot evade international obligations by enacting malicious domestic laws.

Article 9 [Federal Separation of Powers, Local Autonomy, and the Unified Common Market]

[Limited Authorization and High Autonomy] The Chinese Federation adopts a “limited authorization” constitutional model. The federal government solely possesses jurisdiction over national defense, foreign affairs, the issuance of fiat currency, supreme judicial adjudication, and inter-state (inter-provincial) commerce. All powers not explicitly granted to the federal government in the Constitution are unconditionally reserved to the state (provincial) governments or to the people as a whole. Each state (province) has the right to formulate and implement its own state (provincial) constitution and to implement full universal suffrage for local chief executives and councils, provided they do not violate the fundamental human rights and democratic principles of this Charter.

[Free Factors and Prohibition of Local Protectionism] (The Bottom Line of Economic Unification) While guaranteeing the political autonomy of the states (provinces), it is absolutely prohibited for them to utilize economic privileges to destroy the unified national market. An absolutely unified free common market is implemented within the territory of the Chinese Federation. It is strictly prohibited for any local autonomous government or council to engage in the following actions:

Establish any form of inter-provincial tariffs, transit fees, or invisible trade barriers;

Formulate discriminatory access thresholds and exclusionary regulations against non-local enterprises, capital, commodities, or migrant workers (including citizens migrating across provinces);

Utilize local finances to provide malicious exclusionary subsidies that destroy fair competition nationwide. Any local regulations and administrative orders that fragment the federal economic map and obstruct the absolute free flow of goods and citizens are absolutely void ab initio, and are subject to mandatory revocation and constitutional review by the Federal Supreme Court.

[Legislative Goal]: Politically break the “grand unified centralization” to achieve true checks and balances between central and local powers; economically defend the “absolute grand unification” to completely end the chaos of the “feudom economy” under the old system, where provinces drew boundaries and set up barriers against one another.

[Expected Effect]: The miracle of political and economic win-win: Politically, stimulate the innovative vitality of the local grassroots, fundamentally preventing the restoration of dictatorship caused by excessive central power; economically, forge the world's largest, zero-friction single free market with a population of 1.4 billion. Any Chinese enterprise that freely competes and wins within this unified market will naturally possess crushing world-class competitiveness.

[Legal Analysis]: The highest wisdom of federalism is “politics belongs to the locality, the market belongs to the entire federation.” The drawback of the old system was that the center controlled politics too rigidly, while localities fought their own battles economically. This provision establishes the autonomy principle of “clear bottom lines”: ensuring grassroots affairs are self-determined by locals, realizing true federal governance; simultaneously clarifying “inter-state commerce jurisdiction” as the sword to check local lords, ensuring that capital, technology, and talent can surge absolutely safely and freely across this sacred land.

Article 10 [Fiscal Federalism and Local Taxing Power]

Provincial (state) and local governments possess independent fiscal power and statutory taxing power.

Federal Fiscal Power (Limited List): Only has the right to levy corporate income tax, tariffs, inter-state transaction taxes, and specific earmarked taxes required for national defense and foreign affairs.

Local Fiscal Power (Residual Power): Except for the federal taxes explicitly listed above, all residual taxing powers (including consumption tax, property tax, resource tax, etc.) and local asset disposal rights are independently owned by each province (state) and locality.

Prohibition of Fiscal Coercion: The federal government is strictly prohibited from covertly interfering with the legislative and administrative autonomy of the provinces (states) through the allocation of conditionally attached financial grants.

[Legislative Goal]: Establish the legal foundation that “the purse strings are in the localities,” providing a solid economic barrier for the federal system.

[Expected Effect]: Completely eradicate the covert centralization where “the center controls the financial sources, and localities rely on others’ breath,” giving local governments the confidence to say “no” to unconstitutional directives.

[Legal Analysis]: Financial independence is the prerequisite for autonomy. This article establishes the supreme principle that “residual taxing power belongs to the localities.”

Article 11 [Defensive Democracy Mechanism]

Any organization aimed at destroying or overthrowing the free democratic order established by this Constitution through violence or improper means shall be dissolved upon lawful adjudication by the Federal Supreme Court.

[Legislative Goal]: Establish the “self-defense system” of the democratic institution.

[Expected Effect]: Prevent dictatorial opportunists from utilizing the free space of democracy to seize power.

[Legal Analysis]: Ensure that freedom is not used to destroy freedom, safeguarding the long-term stability of the nation's legal tradition.

Chapter II: State Organs and Checks and Balances

Article 12 [Federal Congress and Local Legislative Bodies] (Supreme Legislative Power and Absolute Fiscal Control)

[Bicameral Structure and Division of Labor of the Federal Congress] The supreme federal legislative power is vested exclusively in the Federal Congress of the Chinese Federation, which consists of a House of Representatives and a Senate.

The House of Representatives (Representing the Will of the Population): Members are directly elected in proportion to the population of electoral districts nationwide. As the institution closest to grassroots public opinion, it holds the exclusive “right of initiative” for all bills concerning tax collection, the issuance of national debt, and financial appropriations (any law requiring citizens to disburse funds must first be initiated by the House of Representatives).

The Senate (Representing the Will of the Provinces/States): Regardless of the population size of a province or state, each province shall elect a fixed number of two Senators, directly elected by the voters of that province. As the institution maintaining federal checks and balances, it holds the exclusive “right of public hearing and confirmation” over cabinet ministers and diplomatic envoys nominated by the President, as well as the final right of ratification for international treaties.

[Core Exclusive Powers of the Congress (Positive List)] The Congress possesses supreme exclusive powers that shall not be delegated to the executive branch:

Exclusive Legislative Power: All civil, criminal, and administrative laws at the federal level can only be enacted by the Congress. The President has absolutely no right to substitute laws, create criminal charges, or restrict civil liberties through “Executive Orders” or “internal regulations.”

Absolute Fiscal Control (The Power of the Purse): Establishes the iron law of “No taxation without representation, no appropriation without legislation.” The annual budget, tax rate adjustments, and national debt ceiling of the federal government must be voted on and passed by both chambers of the Congress.

Power to Authorize War and States of Emergency: The President has no right to unilaterally declare war or a long-term state of emergency. Without the prior or retrospective (within 48 hours) approval of the Congress by an absolute two-thirds majority, the President shall not mobilize federal armed forces to participate in domestic or foreign armed conflicts, nor suspend any civil rights.

[Rigid Checks and Balances Between the Congress and the President (Tightening the Executive Reins)]

Appropriation Paralysis Mechanism: If the President forcefully pushes executive projects that contravene the will of the people, the Congress has the right to enact a “targeted refusal of appropriation” for that specific project within the annual budget bill. Should the President and the Cabinet dare to misappropriate state treasury funds without Congressional approval, it immediately constitutes the “supreme crime of abuse of power,” prompting direct intervention by the Independent Prosecutor’s Office.

Power of Subpoena and Investigation: The standing committees of the Congress possess statutory powers of investigation and subpoena. Any executive official, technocrat, or military general under the President’s command must unconditionally submit to public hearing inquiries by the Congress; those who commit perjury shall face federal felony charges.

Overriding the Legislative Veto: If the President exercises veto power over a bill passed by the Congress, both chambers of the Congress have the right to hold a revote. If passed by an absolute majority of more than two-thirds in each chamber, the presidential veto is forcibly overridden, and the bill takes effect directly.

[Prohibited Zones of Congressional Power (Negative List)] To prevent the Congress from degrading into a “tyranny of the majority,” congressional legislative power is subject to the following absolute restrictions:

It is strictly prohibited to enact retroactive laws that deprive individuals of pre-existing rights (Ex Post Facto Laws) or bills that condemn without trial (Bills of Attainder).

Defending Central Bank Independence and Digital Transparency: Although the Congress holds the power of taxation and budgeting, it has absolutely no right to order the “Federal Central Bank” to print money to fill fiscal deficits (Prohibition of Fiscal Deficit Monetization). All financial appropriation bills passed by the Congress and the flow of funds must be connected in real-time to the [Federal Super Digital Hub], subjecting them to full-domain open-source auditing by all citizens.

[Provincial/State and Municipal/County Councils (Unicameral Efficiency Principle)]

Efficiency Principle: To ensure the efficiency of local administration and substantially reduce the financial burden on taxpayers to support politicians, the local legislative bodies of all provinces (states) and municipalities/counties within the Chinese Federation shall uniformly implement a “unicameral system.” It is legally absolutely prohibited for local governments to establish a bicameral system.

Local Legislative Power: Local councils are directly elected by the citizens of their respective jurisdictions. They are responsible for formulating their own provincial constitutions (provided they do not contravene the federal Charter) and local laws, and they exercise budget approval and municipal oversight over the head of the government at their respective levels (Governor/Mayor).

[Legislative Goal]:

Confiscating the Instruments of Supreme Power: Completely strip the executive system of the totalitarian closed loop of “making its own laws, collecting its own taxes, and spending its own money.” Firmly lock the “power of the purse” and the “right to draft laws” in the hands of the Congress, which is generated by direct democratic elections.

Constructing a Dual Balance: At the federal level, achieve a balance between “population votes” and “regional equality” through the bicameral system; at the local level, mandate a “unicameral system” to ensure flattened decision-making for livelihood matters such as road construction and education, preventing local politics from falling into endless bickering and internal friction.

[Expected Effect]:

Budget Sunlighting and the “Impoverishment” of the President: The President will find that while nominally the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces, if unable to convince the Congress with reason and political achievements, even the fuel costs for the presidential aircraft cannot be approved. This will radically force the President to transform from a “ruler” into an extremely humble “Chief Executive Officer” accountable to the Congress and the voters.

Prudence in Decision-Making and Agility for Livelihoods: Federal laws concern the lifeblood of the nation; the mutual tug-of-war in the bicameral system makes it extremely difficult for malicious laws to be enacted (preferring inefficiency over destructive high efficiency). Conversely, the unicameral system of local councils ensures that local regulations on matters like garbage collection and community security are enacted swiftly, maintaining extreme sensitivity to the needs of the common people.

[Legal Analysis]: The House of Representatives’ initiative on fiscal bills establishes “no taxation without representation”; while the explicit prohibition of the Congress coercing the Central Bank to print money blocks the backdoor for Congress members to promise “infinite debt-funded welfare” to pander to voters (preventing Argentinization). Concurrently, the checks and balances of the Congress, paired with the “Universal Instant Recall” in Article 21, form a comprehensive anti-dictatorship net: “Conventional measures rely on the Congress choking the budget; extreme measures rely on all citizens pressing the button.”

Article 13 [Federal President] (Supreme Executive Power and Boundaries of Power)

[Method of Generation and Locked Term] The Federal President is generated through direct universal suffrage by all citizens on a “one person, one vote” basis. The term is five years, implementing an absolute term limit of a “single lifetime term.” Any individual may serve only one term as Federal President in their lifetime; any attempt at re-election, remaining in office, or covertly extending the term through constitutional amendment is automatically deemed treason and unconstitutional, triggering the people’s right of resistance.

[Core Powers (Positive List)] As the Head of State and Head of Government, the President’s powers are strictly confined to the following federal executive duties:

Administrative Leadership Power: Leads the Cabinet, executes laws passed by the Congress, and coordinates the daily operations of the federal government.

Diplomatic and Command Power: Represents the Chinese Federation externally and concludes treaties (subject to Congressional approval); acts as the supreme commander of the federal armed forces, responsible for national defense and security.

Limited Nomination Power: Possesses the right to nominate cabinet ministers and diplomatic envoys, but all nominations must undergo public hearings in the Senate and be confirmed by a simple majority to take effect.

[Prohibited Zones of Power (Negative List and Stripping of Power)] To prevent executive power from devolving into dictatorship, the President's power is subject to the following absolute prohibitions:

Personnel Prohibited Zone: The President is strictly prohibited from nominating, appointing, or interfering with independent constitutional officers directly elected by the citizens, such as Supreme Court Justices, the Federal Attorney General, the Governor of the Central Bank, and the Auditor General.

Judicial and Pardon Prohibited Zone: The President has absolutely no right to interfere with any specific judicial trials or criminal investigations. The presidential pardon power is absolutely prohibited from applying to cases prosecuted by the "Federal Independent Prosecutor's Office" involving corruption of public officials, election fraud, abuse of power, and treason, completely closing the backdoor for the President to shield cronies or issue self-pardons.

Fiscal Prohibited Zone: The President and the Cabinet have no right to unilaterally allocate state funds, levy new taxes, or incur national debt without Congressional approval.

[Horizontal Checks and Balances]

Subject to Legislative Power: Any executive order issued by the President shall not violate existing laws. The Congress has the right to paralyze executive initiatives where the President illicitly expands power through the "refusal of appropriation."

Subject to Judicial and Supervisory Power: The President's executive actions are continuously subject to constitutional review (injunctions) by federal courts; the actions of the President personally and the cabinet members are fully exposed to criminal investigations by the Federal Independent Prosecutor's Office, enjoying no privileges of immunity from criminal investigation.

[Legislative Goal]: Establish a modern Chief Executive Officer system characterized by "strong execution, weak privileges, and strict monitoring." Completely terminate the political illusion of a "Grand President" or an "Enlightened Monarch." [Expected Effect]:

Ending Electoral Calculations: Through the "single lifetime term," political ambitions are permanently locked, forcing the President to abandon calculations of pandering to interest groups for the next re-election, and compelling a focus on pragmatic work within the five years.

Extracting the Toxic Fangs of Dictatorship: Through a clear negative list, the President's dark hand of using the pardon power to shield corrupt officials and the nomination power to plant cronies is thoroughly severed, firmly nailing the President to the position of an "administrative executor." [Legal Analysis]: Although the power of the Federal President directly derives from the direct electoral mandate of 1.4 billion citizens, conferring extremely high democratic legitimacy, this by no means implies “winner takes all.” The essence of this provision lies in the “severance of power”: It strips the President of control over the “knife” (Independent Prosecutor and Courts) and the “purse” (Central Bank and Congress). The President is merely the helmsman of this giant ship of state, but the blueprints (laws), fuel (budget), and referees (courts) are not under their control. Combined with the “Universal Instant Recall Power” in Article 21, the President will truly become the “First Servant,” treading cautiously as if on thin ice.

Article 14 [Nationalization of the Military, Checks on Armed Forces, and Localization of Police]

Civilian Control of the Military and Military Neutrality: Federal armed forces must demonstrate absolute loyalty to the Constitution, not to any political party. Military interference in politics is strictly prohibited; active-duty military personnel shall not serve as cabinet members, and the Minister of Defense must be a civilian holding no military rank. The military is strictly prohibited from engaging in any profit-seeking commercial activities.

Prohibition of Domestic Troop Deployment (Anti-Domestic Force Principle): The regular federal military is solely responsible for defending against external enemies and providing nuclear deterrence. It is strictly prohibited from executing any policing, “stability maintenance,” or suppression tasks within federal territory. Unless there is a foreign invasion or a devastating natural disaster accompanied by a formal request from a state legislature, federal troops shall not enter domestic cities and communities.

Localization and Demilitarization of the Police: The centralized police command system is abolished. Municipal/county police chiefs are directly elected by local residents or appointed by elected local governments, accountable only to local laws and voters. Police agencies shall not be equipped with offensive military weapons such as tanks or heavy machine guns, preventing their mutation into a “second army.”

Dual-Key System and Technical Monitoring: Utilize networks to establish a real-time monitoring system for military supplies across the entire armed forces. The mobilization of any heavy weaponry and the unlocking of fire control must simultaneously obtain dual electronic signature authentication from both a “Presidential Executive Order” and a “Congressional Authorization Code”; otherwise, the system automatically triggers a physical circuit breaker and locks down.

[Legislative Goal]: Impose a dual shackle of “law” and “technology” on the machinery of violence, completely ending the historical curse that “political power grows out of the barrel of a gun.” [Expected Effect]: Ensure, through physical isolation (separation of military and police) and technical circuit breakers, that the military can never become the private bodyguard of a dictator. [Legal Analysis]: The military is the outward shield and must never become an inward-facing bayonet. The police are the guardians of the community and must never become the claws of the central government.

Article 15 [Federal Supreme Court] (National Supreme Judicial Adjudication and Constitutional Review Power)

[Method of Generation and Independent Status] Justices of the Federal Supreme Court are generated through direct universal suffrage by all citizens on a “one person, one vote” basis and serve life terms. The judicial system is absolutely detached from and independent of the executive and legislative systems in terms of personnel appointments, financial budgets, and internal administration.

[Core Functions and Boundaries of Adjudication] (Separation of Fact-finding and Law-finding) Exercises the state’s supreme regular judicial adjudication power and the final right of constitutional review. Serves as the highest appellate body of the Chinese Federation for civil, criminal, administrative litigation, and constitutional disputes (excluding specific cases that trigger a national referendum). In judicial practice, strictly maintains the Common Law system and the dual-track jury system, establishing the following boundaries of adjudication:

Fact-finding (Questions of Fact): The dual-track jury system applies exclusively to criminal proceedings and major civil litigations involving factual disputes. The jury possesses absolute authority over the determination of facts.

Law-finding (Questions of Law): The “constitutional review” (constitutional litigation) concerning presidential executive orders, congressional legislation, and conflicts in legal provisions is purely a matter of law-finding, absolutely excluding the application of a jury. Rulings on unconstitutionality are independently made by the Justices of the Federal Supreme Court—who represent the highest mandate of public opinion—and carry final legal binding force.

[Mechanisms of Checks and Balances] (Horizontal Counterbalance Mechanism) The Federal Supreme Court is the ultimate institutional fortress to block the overreach of public power, protect citizens’ private property and freedom, and defend the dignity of the Constitution:

Checking Executive Power (President and Cabinet): Possesses absolute final appellate jurisdiction over administrative litigation (citizens suing the government). Has the right to issue injunctions against unconstitutional or ultra vires acts by the federal government and all levels of administrative organs, and has the right to directly rule presidential executive orders as “unconstitutional” and mandate their revocation.

Checking Legislative Power (Congress): Possesses the ultimate power of constitutional review over congressional legislation. During the trial of specific cases, it has the right to directly rule legal provisions that infringe upon citizens’ fundamental rights or violate the spirit of this Charter as “unconstitutional and absolutely void” (i.e., striking down malicious laws), using judicial adjudication to force rigor and restraint upon the legislative body.

Checking Prosecutorial Power (Federal Prosecutor’s Office): Implements “absolute separation of prosecution and adjudication.” The Independent Prosecutor’s Office possesses only the power of investigation and indictment; any criminal charges it brings must be subjected to public trial by a court and fact-finding by a jury to result in a conviction, thoroughly preventing prosecutorial power from degenerating into a tool for political persecution.

[Legislative Goal]: Construct an ultimate judicial defense line independent of any executive directives and political factions, using the highest coercive power of the court to lock down the infringement of “public power upon private rights,” and serving as the sole and final official defender of the federal Constitution. [Expected Effect]: Break the dependent status of the courts as “subordinate stability-maintenance tools of the government” under the traditional system. Ensure that Justices possess ample legal backing to challenge the chief executive, answering only to the Constitution and public opinion. When facing a national constitutional crisis or regime turbulence, the Supreme Court possesses the final, conclusive power of adjudication. [Legal Analysis]: In the old system, judges were appointed or controlled by the chief executive, inevitably favoring the government in “citizen vs. government” cases. This provision establishes the “originality” of judicial power—the power of the Justices derives directly from the votes of all citizens. This clause not only discards the redundancy of a parallel independent “Constitutional Court” but explicitly demarcates the boundaries of power: “The jury handles facts; the Justices handle unconstitutionality.” This parallel democratic authorization and strict division of adjudication ensure that when the court tries high-ranking officials, including the President, it neither oversteps into fact-finding nor suffers any political constraints of “insubordination,” forming an indestructible “horizontal checks and balances” iron triangle within the state apparatus.

Article 16 [Common Law System, Dual-Track Jury, and Final Adjudication by National Referendum] (Judicial Sovereignty Resides in the People)

[Abolishing the Bureaucratic Legal System, Comprehensively Establishing Common Law] The Chinese Federation thoroughly abolishes the old civil law system where the right of interpretation was monopolized by a minority of political elites and bureaucrats, comprehensively establishing and strictly executing the Common Law (case law) system. The law is no longer a control instrument promulgated top-down by the ruling class, but a consensus evolved bottom-up from the people’s conscience, common sense, customs, and social contracts. Establishes the principle of “Stare Decisis”; established precedents of courts at all levels have strict legal binding force on subsequent similar cases. Cases adjudicated by the highest level of public opinion (national referendum) automatically constitute “super-precedents” with constitutional-level validity; executive organs and courts at all levels must uniformly adhere to them, and no institution may overturn them.

[Dual-Track Jury System] (Trial by Peers and Fact-Finding Power) Establishes the absolute principle that “the power of judicial adjudication belongs to the people.” Places full trust in the simple sense of justice and moral common sense of citizens. In criminal proceedings and major civil litigations, the parties possess the absolute right to demand the initiation of the “dual-track jury” procedure:

On-Site Jury: Composed of ordinary citizens randomly selected from the court’s jurisdiction who are present on-site, responsible for listening to the trial and cross-examining evidence.

Online Jury (Anti-Interference Mechanism): Relying on the national digital governance platform, in cases involving local power syndicates, major official corruption, or extreme controversy, the system will conduct a blind, random draw of ordinary citizens from the entire federal domain to form an “online jury.” They participate in the trial via encrypted live streaming, providing an independent cross-adjudication free from local threats.

The Bottom Line of Rule of Law: The jury is solely responsible for “fact-finding” and the “guilty/not guilty” verdict. The judge acts merely as the maintainer of court procedures and the “sentencer” applying the penal term. The judge has absolutely no right to overturn the jury’s verdict on facts and guilt.

[Final Adjudication Power by National Referendum] Establishes the principle that “the ultimate adjudication power of all cases belongs to the entire populace.” For cases that trigger massive social controversy, major ethical conflicts, or jurisprudential divergence, after exhausting conventional judicial avenues, citizens may, through statutory online petition procedures, submit the case to the entire populace for a “National Referendum Adjudication.” The ruling made by the national referendum serves as the final judgment for that case; no court, government, or individual shall overturn it, and no appeals are permitted.

[Legislative Goal]: Thoroughly shatter the monopoly held by “legal elites” and the “bureaucratic class” over judicial power and the interpretation of law, returning the power of life and death over the law to ordinary people possessing common sense, realizing the true return of judicial sovereignty. [Expected Effect]:

Preventing Judicial Dictatorship and Local Underworld Forces: The “dual-track jury” system, combining on-site and online components, ensures that no powerful elite can manipulate a verdict by bribing a single judge or threatening local residents.

Resonance Between Law and Public Opinion: Through common law precedents and the final adjudication power by national referendum, ensure that the evolution of every major verdict and every law withstands the test of history and the simple sense of justice of the entire populace. [Legal Analysis]: Judicial power originates from the people. Under statutory law systems, judges can easily devolve into dictators of the law; whereas the combination of the common law system and the dual-track jury demonstrates the new regime’s full trust in the wisdom of its citizens. When conventional judicial mechanisms fail or deviate from social justice, the sovereign (the entire populace) has the absolute right to bypass the court and directly exercise the final power of adjudication. This provision declares: In the Chinese Federation, the common sense of the people is the supreme law.

Article 17 [Federal Super Digital Hub and Blockchain Foundation] (Digital Fourth Estate and Full-Stack Anti-Tampering Mechanism)

[Blockchain Foundation and Absolute Neutral Status] Establish the “Federal Super Digital Hub.” This hub, serving as the highly intelligent and drastically simplified digital governance operating system of the state, is absolutely independent in terms of personnel and physical architecture. The core governance functions of the hub (especially national election vote counting, recall referendums, and state treasury fund allocations) must be built upon decentralized blockchain and smart contract networks. Any data involving sovereign authorization and resource allocation, once on-chain, is protected by cryptography and possesses absolute immutability.

[Full-Domain Penetration and Reverse Monitoring Mechanism] Establishes the iron law of “full-domain penetration and two-way checks”: The hub penetrates downward into the administrative data of all ministries, achieving completely stripped-down transparency of public power; all executive and judicial organs possess a “statutory reverse monitoring right” over the hub, enabling them to retroactively audit the algorithmic neutrality of the hub at any time and apply to freeze its illicit permissions, ensuring the hub does not devolve into technological hegemony.

[Full-Domain Open Source and Real-Time Self-Proof in Operation] (Online Foundation of Trust) The Federal Digital Hub must make its underlying code and vote-counting algorithms 100% open-source to the global technology community, and open read-only “Real-time Verification Interfaces (APIs).” Global citizens and institutions can at any time use scripts to conduct white-box comparisons of the “real-time digital fingerprints (Hashes)” of the running system; any fingerprint mismatch immediately triggers an unconstitutional alert.

[Anti-Shadow System and the Right of Physical Unannounced Inspection] (Offline Ultimate Guarantee of Reality) To thoroughly eradicate any attempts by the government to forge “demonstrative digital sandboxes” while secretly operating “shadow dictatorial systems,” this Charter grants civilian entities the “right of penetrative inspection of physical infrastructure.” Any legally registered independent technology organization, citizen oversight group, or opposition party representative has the right to submit an “Application for Unannounced Inspection of Physical Server Rooms” to the Supreme Court or the Independent Prosecutor’s Office. The inspecting organization has the right to bring its own physical detection equipment to directly enter the core physical data centers of the Federal Digital Hub to conduct on-site, real-time, unannounced physical verifications.

[Internal Whistleblower Amnesty and Global Bounty Accountability System] (The Ultimate Psychological Warfare to Disintegrate Internal Alliances) Establish a “National Digital Anti-Corruption and Error-Correction Bounty Warrant,” placing the [Internal Whistleblower Protection and Amnesty Mechanism] at the highest priority:

Absolute Internal Amnesty and Massive Reward: Any technical personnel or bureaucrat within the system who, under orders or coercion from higher-ups, participates in writing cheating codes, setting up shadow systems, or concealing real data, provided they proactively submit conclusive evidence (such as source code, secret orders, communication records, or physical vouchers) to the Supreme Court or the Independent Prosecutor’s Office prior to exposure, shall not only gain absolute criminal immunity (exemption from all charges of unconstitutionality and treason) and lifelong identity concealment protection, but will also exclusively claim a massive, tax-free statutory national bounty.

Global Hacker Crowdsourcing: Any global citizen or white-hat hacker who discovers hub backdoors through peripheral auditing is equally entitled to a massive bounty.

Limitless Accountability for Masterminds: Any mastermind official who plans or directs the tampering of systems or the establishment of “shadow networks,” once exposed by internal whistleblowers or global mechanisms, shall instantly be stripped of public office. The Independent Prosecutor’s Office shall initiate extremely severe criminal prosecution under the charges of “supreme treason” and “subversion of state power,” absolutely without the application of any pardon.

[Legislative Goal]: Construct the first state operating system in human history built upon “zero-trust architecture” and “cryptographic consensus.” Use open-source code to prevent algorithmic black boxes, use unannounced physical inspections to puncture the matrix illusion, and use the whistleblower mechanism to thoroughly destroy the internal chain of trust of totalitarian conspiracies. [Expected Effect]: Plunge dictators into eternal “chains of suspicion” and “prisoner’s dilemmas”: Under this mechanism, any President or Minister attempting election fraud will despairingly realize that they must share this destructive secret with several or even dozens of ordinary programmers and server room administrators. These grassroots personnel need only press enter to send a whistleblower email, legally taking tens of millions in bounties to spend a luxurious rest of their lives abroad, while sending the order-giving President to the gallows. Under such extreme temptation of profit and promise of immunity, there is absolutely no trust left within the conspiratorial faction; any system-level conspiracy will be proactively detonated in its embryonic state by their own people!

Article 18 [Federal Independent Prosecutor’s Office] (Supreme Legal Oversight and Public Prosecution Power)

[Method of Generation and Independent Status] The Federal Attorney General is generated through direct universal suffrage by all citizens on a “one person, one vote” basis. The Federal Prosecutor’s Office operates completely detached from the executive system (Cabinet) and the legislative body in terms of personnel appointments, daily operations, and case jurisdiction, functioning as a parallel independent state organ.

[Core Functions] Exercises independent legal oversight and criminal public prosecution power on behalf of the Chinese Federation. Possesses absolute “investigative immunity penetration power,” holding the right to lawfully conduct criminal investigations and indictments for corruption, abuse of power, and other criminal offenses against any holder of public power, including the Federal President, Cabinet Heads, Congress Members, and Supreme Court Justices at all levels.

[Mechanisms of Checks and Balances] (Horizontal Counterbalance Mechanism) The Federal Prosecutor’s Office shatters the bureaucratic internal loop of “one’s own people investigating one’s own people” found in traditional systems:

Checking Executive and Legislative Power: By virtue of its independent investigative and prosecutorial powers, it directly curbs rent-seeking and the perversion of the law by the President, Ministers, and Congress Members.

Checking Judicial Power: Holds the right to initiate criminal prosecution against judges at all levels suspected of accepting bribes or perverting justice, preventing courts from becoming lawless havens.

Self-Restriction: The Federal Prosecutor's Office possesses only "investigative and prosecutorial power," lacking "sentencing power." Any charges it brings must be handed over to an independent court for public trial and adjudication, thereby achieving an absolute balance of power through the "separation of prosecution and adjudication."

Article 19 [Federal Central Bank] (Monetary Independence and Anti-Inflationary Plunder)

[Method of Generation and Independent Status] The Governor of the Federal Central Bank is generated through direct universal suffrage by all citizens on a "one person, one vote" basis. The Central Bank enjoys absolute independence in its institutional operations and the formulation of monetary policy, free from any interference by executive directives.

[Core Functions and Prohibited Zones of Power] Exclusively responsible for issuing the federal fiat currency and maintaining currency value stability. Absolute prohibition of "fiscal deficit monetization" (i.e., it is strictly prohibited for the Central Bank to directly purchase government debt or print money for the government to fill fiscal holes).

[Mechanisms of Checks and Balances] (Financial Defense Line) The Central Bank, acting as the "financial night watchman" defending citizens' private property, checks the government's unrestrained spending and borrowing impulses by severing its "infinite money-printing power." The Governor is authorized by direct popular election and is subject to the universal online recall procedures by all citizens.

Article 20 [Congressional Power of Impeachment]

Scope: The Federal Congress possesses the power of impeachment over all federal public officials (including the President, Vice President, elected independent officials, and political appointees).

Procedure: Initiated by the House of Representatives, tried by the Senate.

Effect: Upon a conviction, the official is immediately removed from public office and handed over to judicial organs to pursue criminal responsibility.

Article 21 [Universal Instant Recall Power of Citizens and “Dual-Track” Adjudication Mechanism]

[Full Coverage of Recall Power and Permanent Window] Citizens’ power of recall is the highest political form through which the sovereign reclaims public authorization. All personnel exercising public power within the territory of the Chinese Federation (from the Federal President down to ordinary grassroots civil servants) hold absolutely no political immunity. Relying on the “Federal Super Digital Hub,” a statutory “recall voting window” is permanently established under the name of every public official. Recall votes operate on the principle of “permanent accumulation with no time limit,” unconditionally subjecting officials to the real-time supervision of voters in their jurisdiction.

[Classification of Recall Targets and “Dual-Track” Mechanism] To balance the absolute stability of the supreme state power with extremely high efficiency in correcting grassroots administrative errors, recall procedures strictly implement a “dual-track” adjudication based on the method of the official’s generation and their level of power:

["Single-Stage Rapid Recall” for Ordinary Administrative Officials (Efficiency Track)] An extremely simplified recall procedure is implemented for non-directly elected regular civil servants, appointed executive officials, and grassroots public personnel. When the accumulated recall votes under the name of such a public official absolutely exceed [50% of the total legally registered voters] in their jurisdiction, the recall takes effect instantly and automatically without any cooling-off period or secondary confirmation. The official immediately loses their qualification for public office. This track achieves the elimination of incompetence and corruption in seconds with zero friction and low cost, forcing administrative efficiency.

["Dual-Boundary Recall” for the President and Top Officials Directly Elected by All Citizens (Stability and Circuit-Breaker Track)] For the Federal President and the extremely small number of supreme constitutional officers generated by universal suffrage, their recall procedure implements a strict “two-stage confirmation,” supplemented by an “extreme circuit breaker” mechanism that ignores time limits:

[Phase One: 50% Routine Warning and 90-Day Cooling-off Period] When the accumulated recall votes under the name of the high official reach [50% of the total legally registered voters] in their jurisdiction, the system immediately issues a “statutory recall warning” and initiates a 90-day (three months) cooling-off period and countdown. During this period, the high official is not directly recalled, granting them an opportunity for error correction and defense, and allowing society to enter a period of rational weighing.

[All-Weather Extreme Circuit Breaker Mechanism (Instant Kill Anytime During the Cooling-off Period)] At any point in the accumulation of recall votes—whether before the cooling-off period is triggered, or within any millisecond of the running 90-day cooling-off period—as long as the accumulated recall votes continue to climb and cross the extreme absolute threshold of [2/3 (approx. 66.7%) of the total legally registered voters], the system will immediately trigger a “physical circuit breaker”! The 90-day cooling-off period is instantly forcibly terminated (or bypassed entirely). The recall skips all subsequent procedures and takes effect instantly; at the precise moment of crossing the 2/3 red line, the high official is stripped of all public offices and military command on the spot, and handed directly to the judiciary!

[Phase Two: Ultimate Confirmation Vote] If, at the end of the 90-day countdown, the accumulated votes have never touched the 2/3 extreme circuit breaker line, the system will officially launch a “one-week (7 days)” final recall confirmation vote. This vote explicitly sets two mutually exclusive options: [Confirm Recall] and [Support Incumbent]. At this moment, two conditions must be met simultaneously: “The total number of people participating in this vote > 50% of the total legally registered voters” AND “The number of votes cast for [Confirm Recall] > 2/3 of the actual total votes cast,” for the recall to be definitively successful. If both conditions are not met simultaneously, the recall fails, and the accumulated votes are cleared to zero and recounted.

[Human Rights Bottom Line and Judicial Stripping Clause] The effect of the recall power is limited strictly to stripping public office (political accountability). It is strictly prohibited to overstep by using the universal recall vote to deprive any individual of their fundamental human rights (such as the right to life, personal liberty, or lawful private property), nor can it absolutely replace statutory judicial trials. If the recalled individual is suspected of unconstitutional acts, corruption, or criminal offenses, they must be handed over to independent judicial organs for trial under common law procedures following the stripping of their public office.

Article 22 [Civil Service Neutrality, Asset Disclosure, and the Right to Disobey Illegal Orders] (Cornerstone of State Administration)

[Selection and Absolute Political Neutrality] Implement a strict “merit system”; regular civil servants must be recruited on merit through fair and transparent unified examinations. All regular civil servants must publicly declare their withdrawal from any political party. During their tenure, it is strictly prohibited for them to participate in partisan activities or campaign for any political party; they must maintain absolute administrative and political neutrality. The primary object of a civil servant’s loyalty is the Constitution of the Chinese Federation and all citizens, not any political party or executive chief.

[Sunshine Act: Mandatory Asset Declaration and Public Disclosure] All public officials exercising public power (including the Federal President, elected officials, political appointees, regular civil servants, and judicial personnel), prior to taking office, must comprehensively declare the domestic and foreign assets of themselves and their immediate family members, and during their tenure, must publicly disclose these to the whole of society on a regular annual basis. Anyone who refuses to declare, conceals assets, or possesses assets of unknown origin shall automatically lose their qualification for public office, face criminal pursuit by the Independent Prosecutor’s Office, and all concealed assets shall be uniformly confiscated.

[Right to Refuse Illegal Orders and Occupational Safeguards] (Breaking the Banality of Evil) Establish a robust system of civil service occupational safeguards; no civil servant shall be dismissed without cause due to political transitions. When a public official receives an administrative directive that obviously violates the Constitution, infringes upon citizens' fundamental human rights and private property, or lacks due process of law, they possess a statutory "absolute right to refuse execution" (right of disobedience). Public officials must absolutely not be subjected to demotion, dismissal, or any form of retaliation for refusing to execute illegal orders; those who dare to uphold the Constitution and disobey orders are placed under the absolute protection of federal courts.

[Accountability for Blind Obedience and Joint Recovery of Personal Assets] Thoroughly abolish the totalitarian bureaucratic protective umbrella that "executing superiors' orders grants exemption from liability." If a public official blindly executes an unconstitutional or illegal administrative order, resulting in damage to citizens' lives, liberty, or property, the "superior's assignment" shall absolutely not serve as a defense to exempt them from legal responsibility. The superior issuing the order and the subordinate executing the order must jointly bear criminal responsibility. For citizen losses caused by illegal administrative directives, the government shall advance state compensation first; after compensation is completed, the Federal Audit Office and the Independent Prosecutor's Office shall, based on the official's "publicly disclosed asset list," pursue limitless financial recovery against their personal assets, up to the deprivation of all their civil service retirement benefits and personal lawful private property.

Article 23 [Sunshine Act and Full-Domain Open-Source Oversight] (Holographic Transparency of Public Power and Anti-Invisible Monopoly)

[Default Open-Source Government Affairs and Holographic Live Streaming: The Absolute Public Disclosure of Core Mechanisms] Thoroughly abandon the old system's inertia of "backroom politics" and the concealment of "passively awaiting investigation," establishing the principle of "default open-source and holographic transparency" in the operation of public power.

Live Streaming of Decision-Making Processes and Permanent Archiving: All administrative decision-making meetings, public hearings, bidding reviews, and legislative debates of the federal and all levels of local governments must, without exception, implement 4K ultra-high-definition real-time network live streaming. Relevant audio-video data and text records serve as statutory state archives, permanently residing on the public network for any citizen to retrospectively access at any time.

Machine Readability and Automatic AI Auditing: Except for the legally defined, extremely rare supreme national defense secrets, the administrative routing, fiscal revenues and expenditures, and underlying algorithms of all levels of government must be proactively and in real-time disclosed. The Federal Digital Hub must provide standardized open data interfaces (Open APIs), unconditionally allowing global citizens and third-party artificial intelligence programs to connect in real-time to conduct round-the-clock compliance reviews and computational monitoring.

[Real-Time Public-Chaining of Officials' Finances and the Principle of "Off-Book Implies Corruption"] (The Ultimate Asset Sunshine Act) Thoroughly abolish the lagging and easily forged "periodic asset declaration system," implementing the absolute surrender of financial privacy rights by public officials. Anyone exercising the public power of the Chinese Federation must, on their first day of induction, sign the statutory Covenant of Absolute Financial Transparency for Public Officials.

Real-Time Public Chain Monitoring: All domestic and foreign bank accounts, cryptocurrency wallets, and financial assets of public officials and their immediate family members must be compulsorily connected to a dedicated official asset disclosure blockchain branch of the "Federal Super Digital Hub." All of their capital flows and balances must be subjected to a 24-hour real-time, immutable open-source display to all citizens.

Concealment is the Original Sin: Establishes the absolute presumption principle that "off-the-books equates to corruption." Any hidden account, off-book income, or asset held by proxy that is not connected to this public network, once discovered by citizens, AI audits, or international anti-money laundering networks, is instantly and automatically ruled by law as illicit corruption proceeds, without needing to prove the source of the funds. The public official immediately loses their qualification for public office, the concealed assets are forcefully confiscated without any bottom line, and the Independent Prosecutor's Office shall initiate public prosecution under the highest level of corruption and treason charges.

[Standardization of Civil Service Work and Plug-in Replacement Mechanism] (Breaking Procedural Monopolies) To thoroughly shatter the invisible monopoly of regular civil servants (technocrats and secretarial bureaucrats) over specific administrative processes, implement the strict principle of "absolute standardization of administrative processes."

Process Open Source and AI Verification: Internal government approval routing and technical maintenance must formulate rigorous "Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs)," and their daily operational trajectories must be fully connected to the hub subject to AI monitoring.

Principle of Plug-in Replacement: Resolutely block any attempts to mystify public power procedures. Citizens possessing professional skills can achieve seamless transitions into positions relying on open manuals. The resignation or disobedience of any bureaucrat must absolutely not cause the state machinery to halt; the elected government has the right to swiftly and simply replace any violating civil servant who attempts to use "professional irreplaceability" as a threat.

Chapter III: Finance, Economy, and Social Responsibility

Article 24 [Fiscal Discipline, Statutory Budgeting, and Anti-Waste Mechanism]

Zero-Based Budgeting and Performance Review: Implement a zero-based budgeting system; the necessity of every expenditure must be re-justified. Establish an independent budget performance review institution; funds failing to meet performance targets shall be uniformly reduced.

Principle of Fiscal Balance: The federal government must pursue a balanced budget. Except for states of emergency such as war or major disasters, the deficit ceiling shall not exceed the statutory proportion of GDP; it is strictly prohibited to finance fiscal deficits through currency over-issuance.

Return of Funds: Budgeted funds not expended on schedule shall automatically be returned to the state treasury without exception; “rush spending at year-end” is strictly prohibited. If the deviation between budget execution and declaration is too large, it shall be deemed a dereliction of budgetary duty, and the department head shall be held accountable.

[Legislative Goal]: Shatter the inertia of budget inflation and establish rigid fiscal discipline. [Expected Effect]: Force the government to calculate meticulously, prevent the nation from falling into a debt crisis, and protect the wealth of taxpayers. [Legal Analysis]: Fiscal health is the economic foundation for the nation’s long-term stability and peace.

Article 25 [Statutory Taxation, Minimalist Tax System, and Fundamental Rights of Taxpayers]

[Absolute Statutory Taxation and Prohibition of Revenue Generation] The establishment of all new taxes and the adjustment of tax rates must be enacted by law by elected councils at all levels (no taxation without representation). Administrative organs are strictly prohibited from arbitrarily adding any form of taxes and fees through administrative regulations. It is strictly prohibited to link administrative fines with the funding of law enforcement departments, thoroughly abolishing the malicious policy of “generating revenue through fines.”

[Minimalist Tax System and Macro Tax Burden Ceiling] The state implements a minimalist low-tax system, abolishing all hidden and oppressive miscellaneous taxes. To prevent the unbridled extraction of private wealth by public power, the federal constitution compulsorily sets a “macro tax burden ceiling” (the maximum statutory proportion of total national tax revenue to the gross domestic product).

[Asymmetrical Burden of Proof and Absolute Protection of Assets] Establishes the “asymmetrical legal principle” protecting taxpayers: In any tax and administrative disputes, citizens and private enterprises enjoy the absolute right of “presumption of innocence”; the burden of proof rests entirely upon the accusing official body. Without a public adjudication by an independent court and the issuance of a statutory warrant, absolutely no administrative or tax organ has the right to seal, deduct, or freeze the bank accounts and private assets of citizens and enterprises.

Article 26 [Social Market Economy and Sustainable Welfare System]

Baseline Survival Guarantee: The state is obligated to establish a social safety net covering all citizens (including medical care, pensions, and unemployment relief), ensuring every citizen enjoys a basic living standard consistent with human dignity.

Workfare Principle: The design of the welfare system must balance fairness and efficiency. It is strictly prohibited to implement unsustainable policies that lead to “welfare dependency” or “raising idlers.” Except for those who have lost their ability to work, the receipt of long-term relief funds must be conditioned upon vocational training or community service obligations.

Intergenerational Equity: Pension and social insurance systems must adhere to the principle of actuarial balance; it is prohibited to fulfill current welfare promises by overdrawing the wealth of future generations.

[Legislative Goal]: Construct a social system that possesses both warmth and competitiveness. [Expected Effect]: Citizens have a baseline of support during difficulties, while the society maintains vigorous labor enthusiasm and innovative vitality. [Legal Analysis]: The state must not only care for the weak but more importantly incentivize the strong, avoiding falling into the “welfare trap.”

Article 27 [Anti-Monopoly, Fair Competition, and Prohibition of Cronyism]

Fair Competition Review: Establish an independent Fair Trade Commission. Before any government policy is introduced, it must undergo a fair competition review to prevent administrative power from distorting the market.

Dismantling Monopolies: The state has the right to legally dismantle super-monopoly organizations that abuse their dominant market position, regardless of their capital background.

Prohibition of Crony Capitalism: It is strictly prohibited for the government to support specific enterprises or form political-business interest groups through franchises, targeted subsidies, or credit inclination. Administrative actions violating this article are void, and related profits must be fully recovered.

[Legislative Goal]: Ensure that market opportunities are fair to ordinary people and prevent the powerful elite from monopolizing the economic lifeblood. [Expected Effect]: Sever the chain of trading power for money and protect the survival space of small and medium-sized enterprises and innovators. [Legal Analysis]: The core of a free market is “fairness of rules,” not “equality of outcomes.”

Article 28 [Freedom of Association, Labor Rights, and Social Autonomy]

Right to Independent Unions: Workers possess the right to freely form and join independent labor unions and conduct collective bargaining. The government and capital are strictly prohibited from interfering in internal union elections and operations; the establishment of officially monopolized union organizations is strictly prohibited.

Social Autonomy: The state encourages non-governmental organizations and industry associations to play autonomous roles in fields such as education, charity, and environmental protection, constructing a governance pattern of “small government, big society.”

[Legislative Goal]: Cultivate strong non-governmental checking forces and alleviate the wealth gap through market-oriented negotiations. [Expected Effect]: Empower workers with organized bargaining power and prevent the individual from being isolated by capital or power. [Legal Analysis]: Independent social organizations are the shock absorbers and stabilizers for the smooth operation of a democratic system.

Article 29 [Academic Independence, Innovation Incentives, and Intellectual Property]

Academic Freedom: Universities and scientific research institutions enjoy complete autonomy. Teaching, scientific research, and artistic creation enjoy absolute freedom, free from any political, religious, or ideological censorship and interference.

Innovation Incentives: The state establishes a strict intellectual property protection system, treating the infringement of intellectual property as the theft of private property. It guarantees that intellectual innovation achievements can be transformed into legally protected, legitimate wealth.

[Legislative Goal]: Establish that “truth reigns supreme” and liberate national creativity. [Expected Effect]: Completely separate education and scientific research from political propaganda; academic freedom is the source of the nation’s technological progress and civilizational development. [Legal Analysis]: Truth tolerates no political censorship, and wisdom must be translatable into wealth.

Article 30 [Environmental Justice and Intergenerational Rights]

Principle of Intergenerational Justice: When formulating economic development policies, the state must consider the impact on the living environment of future generations. It is strictly prohibited to exchange short-term GDP growth at the expense of the ecological environment.

Right to Constitutional Litigation: Grants environmental organizations and citizens the right to file constitutional litigation (public interest litigation) regarding environmental destruction acts. Environmental destroyers, in addition to bearing economic compensation, must also bear lifelong criminal responsibility.

[Legislative Goal]: Achieve the long-term sustainability of resources and the environment. [Expected Effect]: Prevent short-term political vanity projects from destroying the permanent home of future generations. [Legal Analysis]: Environmental rights are an extension of the right to life, belonging not only to the present but even more to the future.

Chapter IV: The Ultimate Guarantees of Citizens

Article 31 [Right to Bear Arms and the Right to Resist]

Citizens possess the right to legally own and bear firearms. When the government implements tyranny and legal avenues for correction completely fail, citizens possess the natural right to exercise the right to resist in order to overthrow the tyranny.

[Legislative Goal]: Establish the physical balance between public power and private rights. [Expected Effect]: An armed citizenry serves as the ultimate deterrence against potential dictators and the final guardian of freedom. [Legal Analysis]: This is the Constitution's "ultimate physical circuit breaker," ensuring that power never dares to slight the sovereign.

Chapter V: Supplementary Provisions and Constitutional Safeguards

Article 32 [Restrictions on States of Emergency]

National states of emergency are strictly limited to foreign invasions or devastating disasters. During a state of emergency, it is strictly prohibited to suspend the freedom of speech, and it is strictly prohibited to halt the operation of the recall voting system. [Legislative Goal]: Prevent ambitious careerists from using crises to usurp power; crises cannot serve as a pretext for suspending democracy.

Article 33 [Rigid Constitutional Amendment Procedures]

Constitutional amendments must be proposed by a 2/3 passing vote in each chamber, and approved by more than 2/3 in a national referendum. [Legislative Goal]: Maintain the stability and sanctity of the Constitution.

Article 34 [Eternity Clause]

Articles 1, 3, 4, 5, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 21, 31, and 32 of this Constitution shall permanently not be amended or abolished. [Legislative Goal]: Set up a “permanent firewall” for the core values of human civilization, forever severing the path to autocracy. (Note: It is confirmed that core clauses such as “Nationalization of the Military (Article 14)”, “Final Adjudication by National Referendum (Article 16)”, and “Right to Bear Arms and Resist (Article 31)” are included.)

Article 35 [Effectiveness, Transition, and Final Ratification]

[Provisional Effectiveness]: This Constitution takes effect immediately upon publication as the “Provisional Constitution” of the Chinese Federation.

Bound Subjects: All citizens and organizations that voluntarily join the Chinese Federation, participate in voting, hold federal digital identities, or participate in the nation-building fund are bound by this Constitution.

Government Obligations: The government-in-exile of the Chinese Federation and any future provisional government must strictly exercise their powers in accordance with this Constitution and shall not overstep them.

[Final Ratification by National Referendum]: Within one year after the end of the CCP regime and the stabilization of the national situation, the federal provisional government must initiate a national referendum.

If this Constitution is approved by more than half of the citizens’ votes, it automatically transitions into the formal Constitution of the Chinese Federation.

If not approved, a constitutional convention must be convened to revise it based on the referendum results until it is passed.

[Transition of Interpretation Power]: Before the formation of the democratically elected Constitutional Court is completed, the final interpretation power of this Constitution resides with the Constitutional Drafting Committee of the Chinese Liberal Constitutional Party. Once the Federal Supreme Court is established, the interpretation power shall be transferred immediately. [Legislative Goal]: Establish the rule-of-law continuity of the transition, ensuring no legal vacuum occurs.

[Conclusion] Taming Power, Returning Freedom

The long river of history surges forward unceasingly and mightily. The iron law of civilizational evolution has long revealed: autocracy is a barbaric remnant of humanity's childhood, whereas constitutional democracy is the only shore leading to a mature civilization. This is an irreversible historical torrent; any dictatorial fortress attempting to block it will ultimately be crushed by the giant wheels of the era.

History has proven a cruel truth with countless blood and tears: no matter how noble a “saint” or “enlightened monarch” is, once seated on the unchecked throne of dictatorship, they will inevitably degenerate into a tyrant. Absolute power corrupts absolutely; this is the iron law of human nature, from which no one can escape. Therefore, we must use the strictest net of institutions to cage power in an iron cage, so that bad people dare not do evil even if in power, and careerists cannot become dictators even if they ascend to the top.

We completely sever legislative, judicial, and executive powers and sacredly return them to their original masters—the people. We choose to believe that the common sense and conscience of the masses are always higher than the “brilliance” and “morality” of the rulers. Because the lessons of thousands of years tell us: the collective wisdom of hundreds of millions of free citizens is the last line of defense to prevent the country from falling into disaster.

When the magic ring of power is shattered by the system, when the sunlight of constitutionalism penetrates the iron curtain, a free China that no longer kneels to imperial power and only reveres the law will surely be reborn from the ashes on this ancient land.

Long live freedom! Long live the people! Long live constitutional China!

Written by: Bian Jingtao

Publication Date: 2026

Place of Issue: Europe · Germany

[Postscript]: The Return of Conscience and the Awakening of Natural Property Rights

This is a covenant about “trust” For two thousand years, the governing logic of the East has always been built upon an extreme distrust of “ordinary people.” They claimed: the populace is ignorant and blind, therefore they need saints to guide them, elites to herd them, and saviors to rescue them. This arrogance, named “elite governance” but in reality “power monopoly,” is exactly the root cause of the endless cycle of dictatorial systems.

This outline completely discards this obsolete prejudice. We choose to believe in the “conscience of the masses.” We believe that when 1.4 billion independent consciences are released from fear and poverty, when hundreds of millions of pairs of eyes connect with each other in the sunlight, this “synthesized conscience” will be far more just than any genius's brain, and far more sacred than any illusory god. Politics should not be a power game for the minority, but the common denominator of all citizens' consciences.

This is a return of “assets” We firmly believe in the core of universal values: all men are created equal. This equality should not only remain a right on paper but should be reflected in genuine dignity.

Land, minerals, and natural resources—these gifts from nature are not the private property of any political party, nor the charity of any government. They are the natural, automatic, and inalienable inheritance of every Chinese citizen.

Natural Property Rights: Every life, at the moment of stepping onto this land, should automatically receive their rightful share of national wealth.

The Bottom Line of Dignity: Through the dividends of the “Universal Wealth Fund,” we ensure that every citizen possesses a baseline guarantee free from hunger and subservience.

Only when people are no longer forced to bow to power for survival can their conscience truly become independent. What we provide are not subsidies, but “admission tickets to freedom.”

This is an evolution concerning the “future” In tomorrow’s era of artificial intelligence and high automation, humanity is stepping into a “post-work era.” When tedious administration is hard-coded into code, when the black box of corruption is illuminated by transparency, the government will return to its essence—a depersonalized social property management.

Our design aims to force elites to return to real industry and science. Let the smartest people explore the universe and the boundaries of the unknown, while letting the government operate autonomously under the rotation and oversight of the conscience of ordinary people.

We no longer need saviors, because we have already found each other. We no longer look up to altars, we only guard the rules. When every “I” becomes an independent and free drop of water in the world, what converges will be a truly civilized Chinese Sea, never seen before.

新政 . 英文版

The New Deal Implementation Outline

(Draft) (2026 Edition)

Drafted by: Bian Jingtao

Preface to “The New Deal Implementation Outline”

The government is merely a “temporary agent” authorized by the people. Its power is strictly chained by a “bottom-up” contract. It acts only as the referee guarding the rules, never as a player in the game. The articles in this Outline are the Supreme Law; any old laws that conflict with it are automatically dead and void.

Chapter 1: Political Foundation and Integration with Civilization (The Software System)

Article 1: Ending Illegal Tyranny and Rebuilding Constitutional Order

[Policy Content]:

1. Designating the Fake Regime and Returning Sovereignty:

- Legal Definition: Under the Magna Carta of Chinese Freedom, the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) regime is officially classified as an “Unconstitutional State-Stealing Syndicate” because it never received the free electoral authorization of the people. All institutions built by it are an “Illegal Fake Regime.”
- Returning Sovereignty: The new government’s mission is to “end the chaos and restore civil rights.” We instantly strip this criminal syndicate of all illegal control over the state machine and return the public power to the lawful institutions authorized by the Constitution.

2. Banning Unconstitutional Organizations and Liquidating Illegal Assets:

- Ban Order: The CCP and all its branches (including the Youth League, Women’s Federation, official labor unions) are declared “Unconstitutional Rebel Organizations” and “Criminal Syndicates.” Effective immediately, they are ordered to disband and stop all activities.
- Treasury Recovery: Seize and freeze all assets under these organizations (including party assets and the private wealth of the elites). After an independent audit, they will be classified as “Predatory Assets,” confiscated in full, and injected into a National Compensation Fund to pay back the citizens persecuted for decades.

3. Administrative Neutrality and “Limited Amnesty”:

- De-communization: Abolish all “full-time political posts” (like Party Committees, Political Commissars, Discipline Committees) in government agencies, the military, and public institutions that have nothing to do with actual work. Stop their salaries immediately.

- Conditional Amnesty: * Punishing Blood Debts: Anyone involved in crimes against humanity, torture, or directly causing the death of citizens (having blood on their hands) will be handed over to the courts. Zero mercy.
 - Corruption Amnesty (The Redemption Clause): Because corruption was baked into the old system, we offer a “Conditional Amnesty” for economic crimes with no blood involved. Officials who surrender all their illegal money (into the Corruption Fund) within a strict deadline will not go to jail. They can even keep their jobs if they swear loyalty to the new Constitution. Those who hide or move their money will be crushed by the law.

4. Uprooting the Economic Base of Privilege:

- Abolish Monopolies: Abolish “public ownership,” which was just an excuse for political privilege. Begin the lawful privatization of state assets.
- Wealth to the People: Establish the iron rule that “Private property is sacred and inviolable.” Any attempt by the state to rob or infringe upon private property is a severe constitutional crime.

5. Wiping Out Personality Cults and Brainwashing:

- Cleaning Public Spaces: Legally tear down and remove all statues, slogans, and monuments symbolizing totalitarian rule and personality cults nationwide.
- Education Returns to Common Sense: It is strictly forbidden to use taxpayer money to force-feed a single ideology in schools and the media. Education and news must return to objective neutrality.

6. Defending the Constitution and Anti-Rebellion:

- Defining Rebellion: Let it be known: Any organized attempt to use violence to stop democracy, fight the new Constitution, or bring back the dictatorship is no longer “political expression.” It is “Armed Rebellion” and “Endangering National Security.”
- Resolute Enforcement: The federal government authorizes the military and police to fulfill their “Duty to Defend the Republic.” Any armed rebellion will be crushed with an iron fist. Zero tolerance for any violent attempt to overthrow constitutional democracy.

[Legislative Goal]: End the disaster of dictatorship with the rule of law. Replace violent revenge with righteous trials. Cut out the cancer of autocracy while establishing the ultimate supremacy of the Constitution. [Expected Effect]: The party-state system is permanently destroyed. China peacefully and smoothly transitions into a normal, modern nation governed by the rule of law, winning the love of its people and the respect of the world.

Article 2: Political Freedom, Election Revolution, and Defensive Democracy

[Policy Content]:

1. Absolute Freedom to Run for Office (Zero Barriers):

- Registration, Not Approval: Abolish all government “approvals” needed to form a political party. We use a “Filing System.” Any citizen group, even if it’s just one person, can automatically become a legal political party just by filing their platform, as long as they respect the Constitution.
- Equal Rights for Independent Candidates: The Constitution protects the “Individual’s Right to Run.” Any citizen of age can run for President, Congress, or Mayor as an “Independent Candidate” without joining any party.
- Equal Treatment: Independent candidates get exactly the same TV time, ballot placement, and vote-monitoring rights as big political parties.

2. Ultra-Simplified Legislatures (No Feeding Lazy Politicians):

- Mandatory One-Chamber System: Provinces, cities, and counties MUST use a “Unicameral” (one-chamber) council. Local governments are completely banned from setting up “two chambers” just to invent fake jobs and waste taxpayer money.
- Part-Time Councilors: City and county councilors will work part-time (paid per meeting, not a full salary). We want real citizens with real jobs running the community, not professional politicians.

3. Anti-Corruption in Elections and Massive Bounties (Bankrupting Vote Buyers):

- The “Whistleblower Get-Rich Plan”:
 - Everyone is a Spy: We set up an “Unlimited Bounty Mechanism” against vote-buying. Any voter, staff member, or rival who proves a candidate bought votes, gave gifts, or promised jobs will get paid:
 - Guaranteed Reward: At least 500,000 Federal Yuan in cash (paid upfront by the state, absolutely anonymous).
 - A Cut of the Loot: The whistleblower gets an extra 30% to 50% of the ENTIRE confiscated wealth of that corrupt politician and his family. No upper limit!
 - Legalized Entrapment: It is completely legal for voters to “pretend to accept the bribe, record it, and report it later.” Taking the money, not doing the favor, and ratting them out is not a crime—it makes you a hero.
- “Lifetime Ban” and Family Asset Seizure:
 - If anyone on a candidate’s team (including volunteers and donors) buys votes, the candidate is instantly disqualified and banned for life from holding public office.
 - Punitive Economic Ruin: Vote buyers don’t just go to jail. Every single asset owned by them and their immediate family is completely confiscated.

4. Absolute Purity of Election Organizers (Who Watches the Watchers?):

- The Independent Electoral Commission (IEC) – The Fourth Power: Totally independent of the President, Congress, and Courts. Its budget is hardwired into the Constitution (1% of the budget).

The Treasury cannot freeze its money; the President cannot give it orders.

- Jury-Style Election Workers (Random Draw):
 - No “Career Election Officials”: The people managing polling stations and counting votes are NOT bureaucrats. They are randomly drafted via blockchain from local, crime-free ordinary citizens.
 - Use and Replace: A citizen can only serve as an election worker once every 10 years. Constant turnover physically destroys any chance of building bribery networks.

5. Internal Whistleblowing and Draconian Punishments (Making the Referees Afraid to Cheat):

- Internal Takedown Mechanism:
 - Double Bounties: A special “Traitor Reward” for IEC staff. If you rat out a coworker or boss trying to alter data or take bribes, you get DOUBLE the bounty (at least 1 Million Yuan) and instant witness protection/immigration if needed. The logic: Anyone thinking about taking a bribe must constantly fear that their coworker will happily sell them out for a million bucks.
- Defined as Treason:
 - Maximum Deterrence: Using public office to rig an election is not simple corruption; it is “Subversion of State Sovereignty” and “Treason.”
 - The Consequence: It carries life in prison or the death penalty. The President is constitutionally banned from ever pardoning election riggers.

6. Full-Process Transparency (Physical & Digital Double Locks):

- Banknote-Level Security: Paper ballots are printed with the same anti-counterfeit tech as paper money.
- Global Live Stream: Counting centers broadcast 24/7.
- Blockchain Proof: Every single scanned ballot is instantly uploaded to the blockchain. Any hacker in the world can verify the data.

[Legislative Goal]: Use sky-high bounties to smash the unwritten rule of “taking money to do favors.” Make sure vote buyers can’t find a single person in this country brave enough to take their dirty money.

[Expected Effect]: Chinese elections will be the cleanest on earth. Buying votes will become the most dangerous job in the world. Ordinary people will earn real wealth simply by defending democracy.

Article 3: Bilingual Nation and the State Operating System Upgrade (The Bridge to the World)

[Policy Content]:

1. Legalizing Official Languages:

- The Constitution officially confirms that English and Chinese (Mandarin) are the official languages of the Chinese Federation, possessing exactly the same legal power.

- All federal laws, presidential executive orders, court rulings, business contracts, and government documents must have both Chinese and English versions, and both are equally binding.
- Any citizen or foreign investor has the right to demand zero-barrier, full-English service when dealing with government agencies (tax, police, business registration).

2. Education System Reboot (Immersion Strategy):

- 50/50 Immersion: Launch the national “Language Melting Pot Plan.” From kindergarten to high school, public education runs on a “50% Chinese + 50% English” model. English is no longer a “foreign language class”; it is the “working language” used to learn math, science, and coding.
- Importing Global Teachers: Within the next 10 years, use high salaries and green cards to import 1 million native English-speaking teachers globally, ensuring even village kids get pure English education.

3. Thresholds for Civil Servants:

- After a 5-year grace period, all frontline federal civil servants and judicial officers must pass bilingual certification. Those who cannot adapt will be transferred or fired.

[Strategic Definition and National Dividends]: 1. Economic Dividend: Language barriers are the biggest hidden tax in global trade. When China becomes an English-speaking country, multinationals won't need massive translation teams. Wall Street, London, and Singapore can seamlessly move their hubs to Shanghai or Shenzhen. We upgrade from being the “World's Factory” (selling sweat) to the “World's Office” (selling brains and service). 2. Information Dividend: 95% of the world's top academic papers, open-source code, and tech docs are in English. Bilingualism tears down the “Information Berlin Wall.” Chinese scientists and students won't have to wait for translations; they will sync with the global brain in milliseconds. 3. Cultural Dividend: English is the key to the free world. Mastering it means citizens can read international media directly, and the dictatorship's brainwashing automatically goes bankrupt. Only by knowing the world's language can we tell the world about Chinese culture. [Expected Effect]: Within 15 years, China will have the largest pool of English-speaking talent on earth. Multinationals will place R&D centers in every Chinese city. The Chinese people will confidently become global leaders.

Article 4: Freedom of the Press, Internet Liberation, and Privatizing the Media (Establishing the Fourth Estate)

[Policy Content]:

1. Freedom of Speech and Digital Human Rights:

- Tear Down the Firewall (Physical Disconnect): Issue Executive Order No. 1 to immediately sever all physical cables and logic nodes of the Great Firewall (GFW). Declare that “freely accessing the global internet and freely obtaining information” is a sacred, inviolable digital human right.
- Decriminalize Speech (Criminal Immunity):
 - Abolish “Speech Crimes”: Instantly wipe out garbage laws like “Inciting subversion of state power” or “Picking quarrels and provoking trouble.”

- Absolute Immunity: Citizens have absolute criminal immunity to criticize the government, curse officials, or discuss sensitive politics. No cop can arrest anyone for an internet post.

2. Privatizing Media and Protecting Journalists (The Fourth Estate):

- Open Media Licenses: Completely abolish the Propaganda Department. Any citizen or private company can start a newspaper, radio station, TV network, or website.
- Journalist Privilege Law: Professional reporters and “Citizen Journalists” (bloggers/YouTubers) have the legal right to refuse to reveal anonymous sources to the courts or police, protecting whistleblowers.
- Right to Record: It is a legal right to film police and government officials in public. Cops are strictly forbidden from stopping cameras, deleting videos, or seizing phones.

3. Governing Rumors and Boundaries (The Sullivan Principle):

- Civil, Not Criminal: The government (police) cannot arrest people for fake news or rumors. Victims (people or companies) can only file civil lawsuits in court for money and apologies.
- The “Actual Malice” Rule: We draw a hard line between “criticism” and “defamation”:
 - For Politicians/Officials: Officials must tolerate harsh criticism and even some false accusations. Unless the official can prove the media “knew it was a lie but spread it intentionally to destroy them” (Actual Malice), the court will throw out the defamation lawsuit.
 - For Ordinary Citizens: Strict privacy protection. If the media maliciously spreads rumors to hurt a regular person, they face ruinous, sky-high financial payouts.
- Truth is the Absolute Defense: As long as the report is true, even if it destroys someone’s reputation, there is zero legal liability.

4. Wiping Out Official Mouthpieces and Cutting the Cord:

- Stop the Funding: Instantly cut off all taxpayer money to official state media (Xinhua, People’s Daily, CCTV, local party papers) and disband them.
- Wipe Out Privileged Groups:
 - Disband Military Troupes: Unconditionally disband all military and government singing, dancing, and sports troupes. Strip them of their military ranks; let them make a living on the free market.
 - Disband “Official Associations”: Disband state-sponsored writers’ and journalists’ associations. Stop all funding.
- Ban Government-Owned Media: Government agencies are strictly forbidden from owning or running commercial news media to stop them from secretly manipulating public opinion.

5. Digital Anti-Monopoly and the Iron Rule of Algorithm Neutrality (Breaking the Black Box):

- Platforms are “Public Utilities”: Any app (social, news, short video) with over 10 million daily active users is legally defined as “Digital Public Infrastructure.” They are no longer private playgrounds; they must obey “Algorithm Neutrality.”

- Algorithm Audits: All major platforms must register their core recommendation logic and trending mechanics with the “Federal Digital Oversight Commission.” The watchdog has “Penetrating Audit Rights” to spot-check the code anytime to ensure they aren’t secretly silencing certain views.
- Smashing the “Filter Bubble”: Platforms are banned from feeding users only what they want to see to make them extreme. The law forces feeds to include 20% random or diverse information. Manipulating algorithms to incite hate or populist panic is punished as “Endangering Public Security.”
- The “Turn Off Algorithm” Button: All platforms MUST have an obvious button to “Turn Off Algorithm Recommendations.” Users have the right to view feeds in purely chronological order and refuse to be force-fed by a machine.

[Legislative Goal]: Give people back their eyes and mouths. Let the truth flow freely. Use “civil payouts” instead of “police arrests” to handle rumors so the government can’t use “fake news” as an excuse to shut people up. Stop wasting taxpayer money on people who only sing praises to the state. [Expected Effect]: A spectacular explosion of free media. Government lies will have nowhere to hide. Historical freaks like “military singing troupes” will vanish forever. Rumor-mongers will face bankruptcy, not jail time. A society of trust will be rebuilt in freedom.

Chapter 2: The State Machine and Rebuilding the Rule of Law

Article 5: Nationalizing the Military and Civilian Control

[Policy Content]:

- Nationalization of the Military: The Federal Defense Force (formerly the PLA) must strip away all political party affiliations. The entire military will take an “Oath to the Constitution.” They answer ONLY to the country and the Constitution, never to any political party or individual.
- Civilian Control Principle: The Ministry of Defense is the supreme military administrative body, and the Secretary of Defense MUST be a civilian with no military rank. The ultimate command of the armed forces belongs to the elected President and Congress. Active-duty soldiers are strictly forbidden from interfering in political decisions.
- Ban on Domestic Deployment (The Constitutional Iron Cage): The ONLY job of the Federal Defense Force is to defend against foreign invasions. It is strictly forbidden under any circumstances for the military to intervene in domestic policing, crush protests, or take military action against its own citizens. Any commander who orders troops to shoot citizens, and any soldier who pulls the trigger, will be charged with “Crimes Against Humanity.” There is no statute of limitations, and they will be hunted globally.

- Treating Professional Soldiers Right: We strictly separate professional military officers from political commissars. All non-political, professional officers and soldiers will keep their jobs. We will raise their salaries, housing allowances, and retirement benefits, making them the hardcore defenders of the new Constitution.
- Abolishing Art Troupes and Privileges: Instantly disband all military singing, dancing, and sports troupes. Strip them of their military ranks and send them back to the commercial entertainment market.

[Legislative Goal]: Turn the “Party’s SS” into a true “National Defense Force.” Lock the “stability maintenance machine” in an iron cage and completely uproot the possibility of the military violently suppressing the people. [Expected Effect]: The military goes back to defending the nation. The soil for military coups and warlords is completely destroyed.

Article 6: The Justice Revolution (Common Law, Decentralized AI Courts, and Transparent Policing)

[Policy Content]:

1. The Foundation of Justice: Return to “Common Sense and Conscience”:
 - Establish Common Law: Abolish the obscure written legal codes that are easily manipulated by bureaucrats. Declare Common Law, based on “Precedent” (Binding case law), as the cornerstone of federal justice.
 - The Masses’ Conscience > Elites: The power to interpret the law no longer belongs to elites or powerful politicians; it belongs to the universal conscience of ordinary people. We firmly believe: For thousands of years, the calculations of the elite have often been the accomplices of dictators and the root of corruption. Only the raw, honest sense of justice of ordinary people is the last defense line for social fairness.
2. Trial Mechanisms: Juries and Decentralized AI Juries (Double Randomness and the Circuit Breaker):
 - The Physical Jury (12 people): Drawn entirely at random from a pool of bottom-rung citizens with no criminal records. They sit physically isolated (double-blind) in the courtroom to deeply review the micro-facts and evidence chain.
 - Massive Cloud Jury (1000+ people): Using blockchain technology, the system randomly selects over a thousand citizens nationwide. After ID verification, they vote independently on the case online. The law of large numbers completely dilutes and blocks any form of bribery or power interference.
 - Judicial Circuit Breaker & Super Precedent (National Referendum):

- Trigger Mechanism: If the “Physical Jury” and the “Cloud Vote” clash completely (implying corruption or elite manipulation), it instantly triggers the “Judicial Circuit Breaker.”
- National Referendum: The case is thrown directly to the entire nation for a vote. Because the result of this referendum will deeply bind every voter today and all future generations (every single Chinese person), this shared fate will force everyone to cast a just and fair vote. This guarantees absolute justice and creates a new social contract. The referendum result is the final verdict and automatically becomes a “Super Precedent” with supreme legal power.

3. Algorithmic Sovereignty and Absolute Sunshine (Preventing Tech Totalitarianism):

- The Open-Source Iron Rule: The Constitution dictates that any algorithm running public power (including jury draws, vote counting, tax math, and welfare dividends) MUST have its source code unconditionally open to the world.
- Global Audit: Establish massive “Algorithm Bounties” to encourage hackers and computer experts worldwide to find bugs. Anyone caught trying to plant a backdoor in the code commits a “Crime Against Humanity.”
- The Analog Backstop: Reject blind faith in tech.
 - Paper Backups: All electronic votes, court verdicts, and property deeds must have physical paper backups.
 - Disaster Recovery: If the electronic system is hacked or crashes, the paper files are the ultimate legal proof, ensuring the state machine always stays in human hands.

4. The Police Revolution: Radical Transparency and Direct Recall:

- 24/7 Live Streaming (Zero Dead Zones):
 - Live Meetings: All internal admin meetings, personnel changes, case classifications, and decision-making processes inside police stations MUST be live-streamed 24/7 on the internet.
 - Live Enforcement: All frontline policing MUST be recorded with live-streaming body cams.
 - Ban the Black Box: Completely abolish the excuse of “Police Secrets.” Except for extremely rare, ongoing raid tactics, any attempt to cut the live feed or operate in the dark using “secrecy” as an excuse is legally defined as a “Premeditated Crime.” The cop is instantly suspended and put on trial.
- Citizens’ Direct Right to Recall:
 - Community Assessment: Police no longer answer to superiors; they answer to the neighborhood residents.
 - Instant Firing: Residents have a one-click “Police Recall Procedure.” If a cop or police chief gets enough “no-confidence” votes from locals, they are instantly fired and stripped of their badge—no approval from superiors needed.

- Independent Oversight Commission: Establish an “Independent Police Oversight Commission” made ENTIRELY of non-government civilians. They have the supreme power to investigate and sue the police, ending the mafia-like “cops investigating cops” protection racket.

[Legislative Goal]: Rebuild trust: Believe that “the conscience of the people” beats “the arrogance of officials.” Uproot tyranny: Use “24/7 Livestreams” and “Direct Firing” to turn the police from “thugs of the rulers” back into “security guards for the neighborhood.” Tech empowerment: Use the internet to turn every pair of eyes into a searchlight watching justice. [Expected Effect]: Collusion between cops and criminals, torture, and backroom deals will vanish because their physical environment is destroyed. China will build the cleanest, most transparent, and most trusted justice system in human history.

Article 7: Ultra-Simplified Government, Banning State Luxury, and the Anti-Corruption Bounty Act

[Policy Content]:

1. Decentralization and Unplugging (Building an Ultra-Small Government):

- City/County Autonomy: Make city and county governments the core of public service. Real power—police, education, healthcare, business administration—is pushed completely down to the city/county level.
- Look Down, Not Up: Mayors only answer to local voters and the city council. If the federal or provincial government gives an order that hurts local interests, the mayor has a constitutional duty to refuse it (Right to Executive Disobedience).
- Mass Layoffs and Abolishing Agencies (The Negative List): Build the world’s most streamlined government (Small Government Model). Immediately and unconditionally abolish: The Family Planning Office, Cyberspace Administration, Development and Reform Commission (NDRC), Petition Bureau, Radio & TV Administration, the brutal Urban Management (Chengguan), and all Party Committee offices. Cut the total number of government employees by 80%.
- Full AI Administration: Introduce a national AI government system to replace inefficient, rent-seeking human approvals. Except for crucial major decisions, all daily admin tasks (licenses, tax filing) are handled fairly by AI algorithms, ending the era of “hard to enter, ugly faces, hard to get things done.”

2. Banning the “Three Public Consumptions” and Anti-Waste Mechanisms:

- Car Reform: Except for police, fire, ambulance, and emergency repair vehicles, completely abolish all standard government cars. Ordinary bureaucrats and officials must pay for their own commute or take the bus.
- Core Security Exception: Only the President, Cabinet Ministers, and key posts specially approved by Congress get armored cars and bodyguards, ensuring the state’s brain stays safe and commands flow during crises.

- Ban on State-Funded Dining and Tourism: State-funded banquets are strictly banned. Official hosting means a “working boxed lunch” (paid out of pocket or with a ridiculously low budget). Violators are charged with embezzlement. Using “study tours” as an excuse for state-funded vacations is strictly banned. Unnecessary international exchanges must be done via video call.
- Wasting Public Funds is a Crime: Set up the “Crime of Squandering Public Funds.” Buying luxury office supplies or building lavish government buildings leads straight to criminal charges for the agency head.

3. The Sunshine Act, Universal Bounty, and Whistleblower Absolute Protection (The Ultimate Anti-Corruption Net):

- Blockchain Finance and Unlimited Audit Rights: Build a distributed finance system based on blockchain. Every penny the government makes (taxes, fines) and every penny it spends (down to a sheet of printer paper) MUST be uploaded to the blockchain in real-time and made public. Every citizen is granted the legal “Unlimited Right to Audit” government books.
- Zero Dead Zone “Universal Anti-Corruption Bounty” (The 20% Iron Rule): Upgrade anti-corruption from “the government fighting alone” to a “Universal Bounty Operation.” Any citizen, insider, or hacker who finds proof of official corruption or waste—once verified—will receive 20% of the total recovered assets in cash from the state. Paid directly to the first verified whistleblower, no upper limit, completely tax-free.
- Redemption and Internal Splitting: Use game theory to completely destroy corruption alliances. Insiders in a corrupt ring (who are not the mastermind and have no blood on their hands) who actively betray their bosses and report the crime will not only get full immunity, but they will also get the same 20% massive cash bounty.
- Whistleblower Absolute Protection Law:
 - Maximum Blind Encryption: The whistleblower’s real identity gets “maximum blind encryption” by the Federal Super Digital Hub. They are kept absolutely anonymous and physically isolated from any high official during the investigation and trial.
 - State Rebirth Asylum: For whistleblowers in massive corruption cases, the state instantly launches a “Witness Asylum Plan.” It gives them and their family new legal identities and secretly relocates them (or sends them abroad) so they can safely enjoy their new legal wealth.
 - Revenge is Terrorism: If any exposed official or their mafia tries to use public power or gangs to threaten or retaliate against a “whistleblower,” they will be stripped of all their wealth and charged with “Crimes Against Humanity” or “Terrorist Targeted Elimination.” Zero mercy.

[Legislative Goal]: Build the cleanest, most efficient small government on earth. Compress the space for power through “AI approvals and mass layoffs.” Plant the “Dark Forest Law” inside the bureaucracy using the “20% massive bounty and internal immunity rewards.” Make corrupt officials live in extreme terror, knowing they could be sold out by their accomplices, subordinates, or the entire nation at any second. [Expected Effect]: Government spending will fall off a cliff, and the massive wealth saved will feed the people. Under this system, taking bribes becomes a “dead-end road with highly uncertain gains, zero trust, and constant betrayal.” The unwritten rules of bureaucracy are completely destroyed by an ocean of citizen bounty hunters.

Article 8: Civil Servants, Layoffs, and High Salaries to Prevent Bribery

[Policy Content]:

- Conditional Amnesty: For low-to-mid-level technocrats and civil servants who committed no crimes against humanity (like direct murder, torture, or mass persecution). As long as they confess their past within a deadline, hand over their illegal money, and publicly swear loyalty to the new Constitution, they get complete immunity from criminal prosecution. They can keep their jobs or retire peacefully.
- High Salary for Integrity: For the elite civil servants kept after the mass layoffs, implement a “High Salary System.” Their income will be enough to maintain a very decent, even superior life. This solves the “don’t dare to steal, don’t want to steal” problem from the economic root.
- Draconian Punishment (Zero Tolerance): While enjoying high pay, they face “zero tolerance” for corruption. If proven to have taken a bribe (even 1 Yuan), they are instantly fired, stripped of all pensions and benefits, criminally prosecuted, and banned for life from public service.
- Humane Transition (Soft Landing): For the 80% redundant bureaucrats who are laid off, the state provides a 2-year “transition allowance” and free job skill training to help them enter the private sector. This prevents massive unemployment from causing social unrest.

[Legislative Goal]: Divide the old system, win over technocrats, keep the state machine running, while building a lean, clean, and highly efficient civil service team. [Expected Effect]: Avoid administrative paralysis caused by massive purges. Achieve a smooth, peaceful transition from a corrupt bureaucratic system to a clean, service-oriented government.

Chapter 3: Economic Revolution and Wealth Distribution (The Engine System)

Article 9: The Land Revolution (Private Housing, Commercial Auctions, and the Survival Dividend)

[Policy Content]:

1. Residential and Commercial Land (Privatization and Bidding):

- Privatize Existing Property: All current urban residential and commercial land is converted into absolute private property. Owners will receive a “Perpetual Land Ownership Certificate.” The old “70-year lease” system is completely destroyed.
- Auction New Land (For the Economy): The government can no longer secretly fix prices for new industrial or commercial land. It MUST be an “Independent Base Price + Open Global Auction.” Let global capital bid, and 100% of the money goes straight into the National Dividend Pool to maximize citizens’ wealth.
- Land Value Tax: Implement a “Land Value Tax” on commercial and industrial land to stop billionaires from hoarding land and ensure citizens continuously share in rising land values. The tax goes straight into the Dividend Pool.

2. Agricultural Farmland (National Land Bank Trust):

- The People’s Trust: The “nominal ownership” of all agricultural land is taken back and placed into the “China National Land Bank,” completely independent of the government.
- Global Bidding: The Land Bank will consolidate small plots into massive, modern farms and lease them to global agribusinesses via open bidding (for 30-50 years) to achieve maximum efficiency.

3. Citizens’ “Survival Dividend Right” (Born with it, Dies with you):

- Innate Land Right: Every living citizen of the Federation, regardless of age or gender, naturally owns an unalienable right to a share of this national land rent.
- Anti-Monopoly Rule: This right is “Born with it, Dies with you”—you get it automatically when you are born, and it is canceled when you die. It is strictly forbidden to inherit, sell, or trade this right. This physically cuts off generational wealth hoarding and prevents Russian-style oligarchs from buying up the country.

4. Farmer Resettlement (Voluntary Exchange):

- No Forced Evictions: Farmers holding current land rights have absolute freedom of choice.
- Cash Incentive: Farmers can voluntarily surrender their land rights in exchange for a “Lifelong Pension (as compensation for historical contributions) PLUS the Universal Land Dividend.”

[Legislative Goal]: Make “housing for the residents, profits for the plowman” a reality. Use global bidding and tax systems to continuously grow the people’s wealth. [Expected Effect]: > * Internally: Destroy the government’s addiction to selling land for its own budget. Citizens get a permanent passive income.

- Externally: Smash xenophobia. The logic becomes: “The more money foreign companies make here, the bigger my dividend gets.” A true win-win.

Article 10: Public Infrastructure (The Non-Profit Principle)

[Policy Content]:

1. Transportation (Completely Free):

- Free Roads: Declare the national highway network, state roads, and bridges as “public goods fully paid for by taxpayers.”
- Tear Down Toll Booths: Instantly demolish every single highway toll booth and checkpoint nationwide. Any vehicle driving within the Federation pays zero tolls.
- Merged Funding (Single Tax): Highway maintenance is no longer funded by toll gates, but entirely merged into the “Fuel Tax” (and an “EV Mileage Tax”).
- The Logic: “Drive more, gas up more, pay more for maintenance.” It’s the simplest fairness, and the administrative cost of collecting it drops to zero.

2. Energy and Municipal Utilities (Free Survival Baseline):

- Life Quota: “Access to basic energy is a human right.” Every citizen gets a legal, free monthly baseline quota of water, electricity, and internet data.
- Tiered Pricing: Anything used above the free quota is charged at market rates.

3. Reverse Bidding and Outsourced Maintenance:

- Outsource the Work: Roads are free, but quality can’t drop. A “National Highway Maintenance Fund” is fed by the fuel tax.
- Bidding for Upkeep: Global private companies bid to maintain the roads, getting paid strictly based on road quality (KPIs). If a pothole isn’t fixed in 24 hours, the money is instantly deducted from the contractor!

[Legislative Goal]: Fix double taxation: If you pay gas tax, you shouldn’t pay a road toll. [Expected Effect]: Logistics speeds up massively. Physical barriers vanish, dropping China’s shipping costs to the lowest in the world. Road trips are free; tourism will explode.

Article 11: Scarce Resources and Franchises (Global Auctions and Wealth for All)

[Policy Content]:

1. Resource Sovereignty:

- What it is: Mines (oil, coal, rare earths), virgin forests, radio spectrums (5G/6G), flight routes, airport slots, satellite orbits, and public data are highly valuable, scarce public resources.
- Who owns it: These belong to ALL CITIZENS. No government agency has the right to secretly hand them out or sell them cheap to their buddies.

2. Global Digital Auctions:

- Kill Bureaucracy: Abolish the “official approval system.” Build a “National Resource Global Trading Platform.” The rights to mine or operate ANY scarce resource MUST be sold here via open, anonymous, global bidding with a strict minimum price.

- Highest Bidder Wins: As long as they meet green and safety standards, the highest bidder gets a time-limited operating right.

3. The Fiscal Firewall (Closing the Loop):

- Smart Distribution: The massive billions made from these auctions are STRICTLY FORBIDDEN from entering the government’s budget to pay for administration.
- 100% Dividend: Through blockchain smart contracts, after deducting tiny admin fees, 100% of this money goes straight into the “National Survival Dividend Pool.”
- Direct Deposit: Combined with the land rent from Article 9, this money is deposited directly into every citizen’s personal bank account every quarter!

[Legislative Goal]: Turn public scarcity into hard cash for the citizens. Use the free market to optimize resources while completely eradicating the power-renting and bribery in the resource sector. [Expected Effect]: Resources are no longer bargaining chips for corrupt officials and shady businessmen; they are the fountain of wealth for the whole nation.

Article 12: Restructuring State-Owned Enterprises and National Wealth Funds (Shares for All and Anti-Corruption Iron Gates)

[Policy Content]:

1. Smash Monopoly Giants:

- End Monopolies: Former state-owned giants in natural monopolies like energy (power grids, oil), telecom, railways, and airlines CANNOT be privatized as a single massive block (to prevent private monopolies).
- Split and Restructure: They must be physically chopped up into 3-5 independent, competing commercial entities (e.g., separating the power grid from the power plants).

2. Create “Competitive National Wealth Funds”:

- Asset Transfer: The shares of these newly split companies are not auctioned off. Instead, they are injected into 5-10 newly created “Chinese National Wealth Funds.”
- Shares for All: The legal owners of these funds are ALL verified citizens of the Chinese Federation. The funds act as financial investors holding the shares on behalf of the people.

3. Direct “National Dividend” Payouts:

- Profits to the People: The annual investment returns and dividends of these Wealth Funds are strictly banned from being used for government admin expenses or the federal budget.
- Direct to Your Pocket: Profits must go to a separate account and be distributed equally as a “National Dividend”—wired directly into the personal bank account of every single Chinese citizen every year. Everyone gets a slice of the nation's economic growth in cold, hard cash.

4. Sunshine Governance and Professional Managers:

- Cut the Cord: Completely sever the administrative tie between the government and these companies. The board directors representing the funds MUST be globally recruited professional managers. It is strictly forbidden for current or former government officials to work as executives in these funds or companies.
- Transparent Oversight: The harshest “Sunshine Act” applies. All stock holdings, board voting records, executive salaries, and dividend data MUST be published live on the internet for the whole country to see. Citizens have the right to audit the books and fire executives in real time.

5. The “Golden Share” System:

- Only in companies critical to national defense or core infrastructure (like nuclear power or backbone fiber optics) will the federal government hold a single “Golden Share.”
- Strict Limits: This share does not participate in daily management or dividends. It ONLY acts as a veto power in extreme cases of “hostile takeovers by enemy forces” or “severe threats to national security.”

[Legislative Goal]: Turn the abstract concept of “owned by the whole people” into real, physical “cash earned by the whole people.” Break monopolies by splitting them, stop asset theft through the funds, and build a massive, consuming middle class through direct cash dividends. [Expected Effect]: Uproot the soil that breeds Russian-style oligarchs. Handing trillions in SOE profits directly to ordinary people every year will trigger a nuclear explosion in domestic consumption.

Article 13: Labor Rights Revolution and the Domestic Economy Engine (Human Rights Equal Wealth)

[Policy Content]:

1. Freedom of Association and the Right to Strike:

- Disband the Fake Union: Immediately and unconditionally disband the “All-China Federation of Trade Unions,” which is nothing but an administrative lapdog.
- Free Unions: The Constitution guarantees all workers (including delivery riders and Uber drivers) the absolute right to form independent labor unions in any company. Unions will act as a market force to drive up wages and force companies to upgrade their tech.
- The Right to Strike is Sacred: Strikes are a basic human right. Police cannot intervene in non-violent strikes.

2. Eradicate “Second-Class Citizens” and Outsourcing Exploitation:

- Equal Pay for Equal Work (Destroy the Caste System): Abolish the identity gap between “formal staff” and “temps/contractors.” Whether in the government or private sector, if you do the same job, you get the exact same pay and benefits. Violators will be charged with the severe “Crime of Employment Discrimination.”

- Ban on Labor Dispatch (Outsourcing): Using labor dispatch agencies just to dodge employer responsibilities is declared illegal.
 - Direct Hiring: For any long-term core position, the company MUST sign a direct labor contract with the worker. We cut out the blood-sucking middlemen and give that profit directly to the workers.
3. Gig Economy Rules: Dual-Track System and Algorithm Justice:
- The “ABC Test” (Substance Over Form): For platforms like Meituan (food delivery) and Didi (ride-hailing), if a worker’s dispatch, pricing, routes, and performance are controlled by the platform’s algorithm, the law considers them “Full-Time Employees.” The platform MUST pay full social security.
 - The Worker’s “Dual-Track Choice”: The law forces platforms to offer two models. The WORKER chooses; the platform cannot interfere:
 - Model A (Standard Hours): Base pay + bonus, stable 8-hour workday.
 - Model B (Piece-Rate/Flexible): Paid per order; work more, earn more.
 - The Three Iron Red Lines (The Bottom Line): No matter which model the worker chooses, the platform MUST obey these rules:
 - Minimum Hourly Net: Even on piece-rate, the converted hourly income can NEVER fall below the legal, decent minimum wage.
 - Full Social Security: It is strictly forbidden to trick or force riders into registering as “independent contractors” to dodge social security.
 - Forced Rest (The Algorithm Lock): Once a worker hits the legal maximum hours (e.g., 5 days x 8 hours + max legal overtime), the system MUST lock them out and stop giving orders to prevent fatigue driving and extreme exploitation.
 - “Obey the Law or Go Bankrupt”: We declare clearly: If a company claims “we can’t make a profit if we obey labor laws,” then their business model is an “Illegal Exploitation Model.” The government encourages them to go bankrupt and leave the market. We will NEVER tolerate blood-sweat factories just for the sake of GDP or fake “tech innovation.”
4. The Work-Hour Revolution and a Decent Minimum Wage (Creating the Middle Class):
- Strict 8-Hour Workday:
 - Ban 996: Any forced overtime system is a crime. Only when people are freed from endless labor will they have the time to spend money, making the service industry boom.
 - Punitive Overtime Pay: Overtime MUST be paid at 1.5x to 3x the normal wage. Make it hurt the employer!
 - Decent Minimum Wage: We abolish the old “barely starving” standard and establish the “Middle-Class Entry Standard.” A full-time worker’s monthly income must be enough to decently feed a family of three in their city, with money left over for savings.

5. Iron Fist Enforcement: Fines on Revenue and the “Death Penalty” for Companies:

- Reverse Burden of Proof: In labor disputes, the employer bears 100% of the burden to prove they didn't break the law.
- Fined Based on Revenue: If a platform tries to find loopholes, uses the algorithm to torture drivers, or dodges taxes, they will be hit with a massive fine of 5% to 10% of their ENTIRE GROSS REVENUE from the previous year (not just profit).
- The Repeat Offender Kill Switch: Any platform caught breaking labor laws for the same reason twice will instantly lose its internet operating license and business license. They are permanently banned from the market, and the founders will face criminal charges.

[Legislative Goal]: Turn workers from “industrial consumables” back into “human beings.” By forcing high wages and strong protections, we artificially create a massive middle class with tremendous purchasing power, completely solving China's weak domestic demand. [Expected Effect]: The tragedy of “riders trapped in the algorithm” ends forever. Companies are forced to actually innovate with tech instead of just squeezing human blood. China's domestic consumer market will experience a nuclear-level explosion.

Article 14: Sovereign Currency Reset, Wiping Out Black Money, and Global Asset Hunting (The Great Wealth Purification)

[Policy Content]:

1. Issue the “Federal Yuan” and Forced Currency Exchange (The Corruption Filter):

- New Currency: Abolish the old RMB. Issue the “Federal Yuan,” anchored by national credit and hard assets. Set a strict, non-extendable 30-day window for legal currency exchange.
- “Guilty Until Proven Innocent” Exchange Review (Wealth Purification):
 - Small Amounts Exchanged Automatically: For ordinary citizens' bank deposits and reasonable amounts of cash (e.g., under 5x the family's annual income), exchange it 1:1 automatically, no questions asked. Protect the people's money.
 - Big Money Audits: Anyone holding massive piles of cash or unexplained huge bank deposits MUST provide legal tax records and prove where the money came from.
 - Black Money to Zero (Bankrupting the Corrupt): Any funds that cannot prove their legal origin are classified as “Illegal Proceeds.” They are denied exchange and drop to ZERO.
 - The Result: The tons of cash hidden in the basements of corrupt officials' villas will become worthless scrap paper overnight.

2. The Economic Dividend: Deflating the Corruption Bubble, Boosting Citizens' Wealth:

- Reversing the Dilution: The old regime diluted ordinary people's savings by printing endless money (inflation). By refusing to exchange trillions in corrupt black money, we effectively wipe out 30%-40% of the useless money supply.

- Wealth Appreciation: With the nation's total assets staying the same but the amount of money shrinking massively, the purchasing power of every single new Federal Yuan will skyrocket.
- Plainly speaking: The corrupt officials' money is gone, so the honest citizens' money is worth much more. This is an "Invisible Dividend" handed out by the state to all law-abiding citizens!

3. Global Asset Hunting and "Start-Up Capital" for the Nation:

- Special Recovery Order: Establish the "National Asset Recovery Committee" directly under the President. Sign treaties with the US Treasury, Swiss banks, and Interpol to hunt down stolen assets.
- Reverse Burden of Proof: Launch a "Global Asset Audit" on all mid-to-high-level officials from the old regime and their families. If they hold domestic or overseas assets (including through proxies) that obviously exceed their legal salary, the government doesn't need to prove they stole it; it is automatically presumed to be corrupt money, frozen, and confiscated.
- Civilian Bounty Mechanism: Offer a massive 20% bounty to encourage global law firms, financial detectives, and insiders to help hunt down the loot.

4. Where Does the Money Go? The "New State Construction Fund":

- Ring-Fenced: The black money wiped out during the exchange and the trillions recovered from overseas are STRICTLY FORBIDDEN from being used for the government's daily admin costs.
- The Three Big Uses: It all goes into the "Federal National Construction Fund" as rocket fuel for the new country:
 - Fill the Pension Black Hole: Instantly pay back the massive hole the old regime blew in the national pension fund.
 - Pay Off Infrastructure Debt: Wipe out local government debts so we can tear down the highway toll booths (make roads free).
 - Universal Start-Up Bonus: In the first year of the new nation, issue a lump sum "New Life Starter Bonus" in cash to every single citizen to stimulate domestic demand and let the people instantly taste the benefits of the New Deal.

[Legislative Goal]: Righteous judgment: Make the predators dirt poor and make the law-abiding wealthy. Economic reset: Cut out the blood-sucking tumor attached to the nation's body so the Chinese economy can run free. Rebuild credit: Start the fairest market economy with the cleanest currency. [Expected Effect]: The old elite class will be "physically destroyed" economically. The nation will gain trillions of dollars in debt-free startup capital. Inflation and the insane wealth gap that plagued China for years will be structurally fixed overnight.

Article 15: The Soil for National Innovation

[Policy Content]:

Ban Government Handouts (Kill Rent-Seeking): The government is strictly forbidden from creating any “industry subsidy funds” or “special grants.” We completely sever the chain where politicians and businessmen secretly hand taxpayer money to each other.

Super Tax Write-Offs: If a company spends its own money on R&D, it gets massive pre-tax deductions. Only companies that actually make a real profit will reap the rewards.

Inventors Keep the Rights: Patents invented in public research labs belong 100% to the individual inventor, not the institution or the state!

Regulatory Sandbox (Freedom First): For cutting-edge tech, the rule is: “If it’s not explicitly banned, it’s allowed.” The government only steps in after the fact with a negative list.

Failure Without Ruin: As long as you run your business legally, you are allowed to go bankrupt without it destroying your life, your credit score, or your ability to start another business.

[Legislative Goal]: Completely eradicate corruption in scientific research. Make scientists and entrepreneurs the true heroes of innovation, not bureaucrats.

[Expected Effect]: Companies that only survive on government subsidies will die. Only companies with real blood-making abilities will survive. China becomes the global high ground for innovation.

Article 16: The Financial Revolution (Free Money, Capital Market Reset, and Harsh Punishments for Fraud)

[Policy Content]:

1. Absolute Freedom for Currency and Capital (The Global Financial Haven):

Independent Central Bank: Issue the new “Federal Yuan.” The central bank is totally independent. Erasing government debt by simply printing money is strictly banned.

Abolish Capital Controls: Shut down the State Administration of Foreign Exchange (SAFE). Abolish all limits on citizens and businesses buying or selling foreign currency.

Money Without Borders: Capital can flow in and out of China 24/7 with zero limits and zero barriers.

Any government order trying to block the flow of money is illegal!

2. Stock and Futures Market Revolution (Power to the Investors):

True Registration-Based IPOs: Abolish the Securities Regulatory Commission's "approval power." Companies no longer need to suck up to officials to go public; they just have to tell the absolute truth to the market. Logic: The government doesn't endorse companies; let the market decide.

Freeing Short-Sellers (The Market Police): Fully remove restrictions on short-selling. Value: Short-sellers are the "scavengers" who clean up garbage companies. Letting them make money by exposing fraud is the most effective free-market weapon against scammers.

T+0 and No Price Limits: Align with mature global markets. Allow same-day trading (T+0) and cancel artificial limits on how much a stock can go up or down in a day. Let prices reflect true value through fierce market combat.

Tax Haven for Venture Capital: Angel investments (VC/PE) get "tax deductions for losses" and "zero capital gains tax for long-term holding." This will suck global innovation capital straight into China.

3. Draconian Punishments for Fraud and Class Action Lawsuits:

Class Action (The Ultimate Weapon): This is the ultimate shield for retail investors. If a listed company commits fraud (even if they only lied about 1 dollar), lawyers can sue on behalf of ALL cheated investors.

Ruinous Payouts: The payout must cover 100% of the investors' losses. This often means billions, enough to instantly bankrupt the fraudulent company.

Reverse Burden of Proof: In securities fraud cases, corporate executives must prove their innocence; otherwise, they are presumed guilty.

The "Financial Death Penalty" and Infinite Liability:

For Executives: Anyone who cooks the books gets 20 years to life in prison.

Punitive Economic Stripping: Fraudulent bosses, accounting firms, and sponsors must bear "Infinite Joint Liability." Every asset owned by their entire family will be confiscated to pay back the retail investors!

4. Derivatives and Futures Market (Full Sunshine):

Fully Open: Open up stock index futures, treasury bond futures, and forex options. Let businesses and people use financial tools to manage risk.

Ban Government Meddling: It is legally forbidden for the government to “pull the plug,” ban selling, or issue “window guidance” when the stock market crashes. The market belongs to the market; accepting the bet and taking the loss is the core of the contract spirit.

5. Financial Justice and Anti-Usury (The 12% Iron Red Line):

Interest Drops with Principal: The law demands that ALL loan interest (including installments and credit cards) MUST be calculated strictly on the “actual remaining daily principal.”

Ban on Fraud: Charging interest on the full original amount for installments is banned. Charging penalty interest on the portion of a credit card that has already been paid is banned.

The 12% Hard Red Line (IRR):

The true, all-inclusive annualized interest rate (including ALL hidden fees and guarantees) for ANY loan CAN NEVER EXCEED 12%.

Debtors do not have to pay a single cent of interest above this red line. Any excess already collected MUST be paid back double!

Usury is a Crime: Anyone who uses algorithms to hide high interest rates or uses violent debt collection will be charged with the “Crime of Illegal Plunder.”

6. Personal Bankruptcy Protection (The Right to Rebirth for the Honest):

Legal Discharge: Establish a unified national “Personal Bankruptcy Law.”

“Honest Business” Exemption (Trying is not a crime):

Strict Separation: Judges must strictly separate “Business Failures” (due to market risks or failed R&D) from “Consumer Bankruptcy” (due to buying luxury goods or gambling).

Instant Fix: For entrepreneurs deemed “honest failures,” the credit repair period is waived. The day the bankruptcy is ruled, their legal right to start a new company, become an executive, and raise funds is instantly restored.

Survival Bottom Line: During bankruptcy liquidation, it is strictly forbidden to strip the debtor and their family of basic survival necessities.

Housing Exemption: Following international norms, the debtor is allowed to keep one basic home (or a set cash exemption for housing). No one will be thrown out onto the streets!

[Legislative Goal]: Clean up the source: The financial market is not a “cash machine” for companies; it is a “treasure bowl” for the citizens. Humane safety net: Acknowledge that “failure is part of business.” Use bankruptcy laws to protect honest losers, not drive them to suicide.

[Expected Effect]: Garbage stocks will be completely wiped out. Global capital will flood in wildly. Entrepreneurs will dare to take massive risks because they know even if they fail, the system has a safety net, and their families won't be destroyed.

Article 17: Ultra-Simple Taxes, the Legal White List, and Absolute Taxpayer Rights

[Policy Content]:

1. No Taxation Without Law and Criminalizing “Fines for Revenue”:

No Taxation Without Representation: Any adjustment to tax rates on the White List MUST be passed by an absolute majority of elected councils. Government agencies have absolutely NO right to invent taxes or mandatory fees using “red-head documents” or executive memos.

Severing “Fines for Revenue”: Completely abolish the evil policy of tying police or agency budgets to the fines they collect. All fines go 100% into the national treasury and MUST be spent entirely on universal healthcare or basic education. Any police chief or mayor who issues a “fine quota” to their subordinates will be charged with “Extortion” and “Abuse of Power.”

2. The Ultra-Simple Tax White List and the Macro Tax Cap:

The 5-Tax White List (Positive List): The Chinese Federation runs the simplest tax system on earth. From today, the federal and local governments are constitutionally allowed to collect ONLY these five taxes:

Corporate Income Tax (on pure profit only);

Personal Income Tax (capped at the 15% red line);

Terminal Consumption Tax (sales tax);

Import/Export Tariffs (Federal only);

Scarce Resource and Land Value Tax.

Amnesty and Abolition of Junk Taxes: Any old tax or fee NOT on this White List (including hundreds of hidden fees, stamp duties, and education surcharges) is permanently dead and void from the start.

National Tax Cap: The Constitution sets a hard “Macro Tax Red Line” (e.g., total national tax revenue can never exceed 20% of GDP).

3. The State’s Digital Duty and the 1-Click AI Tax System (Killing Compliance Extortion):

The State’s Duty to Build It: The federal government has an inescapable legal duty to build and provide an absolutely idiot-proof “AI Auto-Tax Filing System” for all citizens and businesses, completely free of charge.

Fire the Accountants: This system must pull data automatically so that ordinary people and small businesses can legally and perfectly file their taxes with a single “Confirm” click, without EVER needing to hire a professional accountant.

System Errors are the State’s Fault: Completely root out bureaucrats who use red tape to torture taxpayers. If a citizen underpays taxes because the official AI algorithm had a bug or a confusing interface, the taxpayer is ABSOLUTELY EXEMPT. Zero fines, zero interest!

4. Taxpayer Bill of Rights and the “Asymmetric Burden of Proof”:

The Asymmetric Legal Principle: The Constitution draws a sharp line. For public officials, “unexplained wealth equals corruption” (they must prove their innocence). But for ordinary citizens and private businesses (taxpayers), they enjoy the absolute right of “Innocent Until Proven Guilty.”

The Burden is on the State: If the tax office accuses a citizen of dodging taxes, the government bears 100% of the burden of proof. It is strictly forbidden to force normal citizens to “prove their innocence.”

Asset Protection Order (Stopping Legal Robbery): Tax and administrative agencies are absolutely stripped of the privilege to directly freeze, deduct, or seize a citizen’s or company’s bank account without a trial. Any forced asset seizure requires a warrant signed by an independent judge beforehand!

[Legislative Goal]: Lock the state’s “power to tax” in the tightest iron cage. Use the “Legal White List” to slaughter the bureaucracy’s urge to invent junk taxes. Use the “Free 1-Click AI Tax App” to wipe out compliance costs. This establishes the Constitution’s greatest “Asymmetric Principle”: Brutally strict on officials, highly lenient on citizens. If the government’s tax software sucks, it’s the government’s fault, not the citizens’.

[Expected Effect]: Create the safest, most efficient business environment in the world. Every entrepreneur and ordinary person knows: The state only collects these 5 taxes, filing takes one click, you don’t need to hire an accountant, and without a judge’s signature, even the President can’t touch a single penny in your bank account!

Article 18: Global Talent Magnet and Immigration Reform (Dual Citizenship and Low Taxes)

[Policy Content]:

1. Acknowledging Dual Citizenship (Breaking the Identity Chains):

Change the Nationality Law: Completely trash the old rule that “getting a foreign passport automatically cancels your Chinese citizenship.”

Welcome Home: Allow overseas Chinese to apply to keep or restore their Chinese Federation citizenship while holding onto their foreign passports.

Logic: Clear the path for 60 million global Chinese elites (including Nobel laureates and Silicon Valley executives) to come back and serve. Let them buy a plane ticket and fly back to start companies or teach anytime, with zero visa barriers.

2. The “National Gold Card” and Global Free Movement (The Talent Green Card):

Visas for Top Global Brains: Issue the “Chinese Federation Gold Card” (10-year or lifetime) to foreign nationals (non-Chinese) with PhDs, advanced tech skills, or specific expertise.

The Perks: Cardholders enjoy exactly the same rights to healthcare, buying houses, and children’s education as full citizens. No visas needed at the border. “Move in with just a suitcase!”

3. Personal Income Tax Capped at 15% (The Global Tax Haven):

Ultra-Low Taxes for the Best: Implement a “National Income Tax Cut” for certified top tech talents, urgently needed experts, and founders of emerging industries.

The Hard Ceiling: No matter how many millions they make, their actual, effective personal income tax rate CAN NEVER EXCEED 15%. The federal treasury will refund every penny above that line.

Overseas Income is Tax-Free: Modeling the Hong Kong tax system, any passive income generated outside China by new immigrants (like overseas rent, dividends, capital gains) is permanently exempt from Chinese personal income tax.

4. Academic Safe Havens and Intellectual Property:

No Political Vetting: It is strictly forbidden to conduct any form of political background check on scientific researchers. Ensure there are no forbidden zones in academia and no chains on thought.

IP Monetization (The Bayh-Dole Principle): Explicitly rule that the patents and IP from government-funded research projects belong entirely to the individual inventors, not the university or the state. Let scientists become filthy rich through their tech, completely legally and proudly!

[Legislative Goal]: Show the confidence of a great power. A confident nation isn’t afraid of its citizens holding foreign passports, because we are confident we can make them want to stay in China voluntarily.

[Expected Effect]: In the first year, 5 million overseas elites will flood back. China will instantly become the world’s second-largest “Global Talent Immigration Hub” after the US. China’s tech innovation capability will leap forward fundamentally in just 5 years.

Chapter 4: Social Security and the Survival Baseline (The Safety Net)

Article 19: Education Revolution, Crushing Corruption, and the Sunshine Act for Admissions

[Policy Content]:

1. Humane Basic Education:

- 12 Years Completely Free: The national treasury pays for EVERYTHING from elementary to high school—tuition, textbooks, school lunches, uniforms, and bus rides are 100% free for parents.
- Abolish the “Grades Only” Obsession: Completely scrap the brutal middle-school entrance exams and the toxic obsession with test scores. Ranking students is strictly forbidden from elementary through middle school.
- Civic Education: Replace political brainwashing with mandatory classes in Logic, Critical Thinking, and The Constitution and Civil Rights.

2. Ruthless Anti-Corruption in Schools (Power to the Parents):

- Cut the Profit Chains: Schools are strictly forbidden from directly profiting off cafeterias, uniforms, or study materials.
- Parent Committees: Establish independent “Parent Committees” with absolute veto power and final decision-making authority over all school purchasing contracts.
- Smash the Textbook Monopoly: Allow private educational organizations to write textbooks and compete in the free market after scientific review.

3. The Sunshine Act for Admissions (Beating the System):

- Double-Blind Reviews: College admissions will use “Multiple Reviewers, Back-to-Back, Double-Blind Scoring.” The student’s name and background are hidden to completely kill “backdoor deals” and “calling in favors.”
- Blockchain Trails: Every admission decision and scoring process must be uploaded to the blockchain in real-time. It cannot be tampered with.
- Education Fraud is a Crime: Anyone caught bribing, pulling strings, or faking documents for admissions will be severely punished. The student is banned from the education system for life, and corrupt school officials will face 10+ years in prison.

4. High-Skill Vocational Education: Create a dual-track system of “Academic High Schools” and “Tech High Schools.” Tech students get paid internships. The law will ensure that highly skilled technicians earn salaries just as high, if not higher, than white-collar office workers.

5. Historical Truth and Civic Enlightenment (Rebuilding the Soul):

- National Truth Commission:

- Open the Dark Archives: Immediately and unconditionally declassify all sealed political archives of the old regime (the Cultural Revolution, the Tiananmen Square Massacre, and past political purges). The people must see the true past; only by facing the darkness can we build immunity to it.
- Memorials: Build memorials for the victims of totalitarianism nationwide. “Never Forget” will be the first lesson of national education.
- From “Subjects” to “Citizens”:
 - Abolish Political Brainwashing: Instantly ban all “ideological and political” brainwashing courses in schools and universities. The goal of education is no longer to mass-produce obedient cogs for the state machine, but to raise modern citizens who can think for themselves and respect the rules.

[Legislative Goal]: Chop off the corrupt hands reaching for our children. Prevent the elites from hijacking the education system. Ensure that even the poorest child has a fair ladder to the top.

Article 20: Medical Revolution, Universal Healthcare, and the Revival of Traditional Chinese Medicine

[Policy Content]:

1. “Federal Universal Healthcare” System (The Single-Payer Model):

- One Massive Payer: Merge all scattered insurance funds into a single, independent “Federal Universal Healthcare Agency.” Using the massive bargaining power of 1.4 billion people, we will crush drug prices. AI audits will drop administrative costs below 1.5%.
- Mandatory Coverage for All: “Everyone has healthcare.” The system is funded jointly by employers, individuals, and the government. For the poor and vulnerable, the state automatically pays their premiums using the “Survival Dividend.” No one will ever lose their right to a doctor because they are poor.
- Strict Separation of Doctors and Drugs: Hospitals are strictly banned from selling drugs for profit. Doctors only write the prescription; patients buy the medicine at any private pharmacy. This completely kills the corrupt root of “prescribing unnecessary pills to make a buck.”

2. Freeing Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM):

- Self-Governance: Stop forcing TCM to be judged by Western bureaucratic standards. Let true folk masters and inherited practitioners form their own “TCM Guild” to manage themselves.
- Talent Over Paper: Abolish the rule that TCM doctors must pass Western medical theory exams. Acknowledge apprenticeships and family-taught skills. If they can cure people, they get a license!

3. The Ultimate Cleanup of Medical Corruption (The Sunshine Rule):

- The Crime of Medical Kickbacks: Any doctor or hospital boss caught taking bribes from pharma reps will face “Career Termination”—banned from the medical field for life, with all illegal wealth confiscated.

[Expected Effect]: Medical costs for citizens will plummet by 70%. The nightmare of a single illness dragging an entire family into extreme poverty will be wiped out forever.

Article 21: The Dual-Layer Pension System (State Guaranteed Minimum + Occupational Pension)

[Policy Content]:

1. Tier 1: National Basic Pension (The State's Safety Net, Equal for All):

- What it is: This is a universal welfare right. It has absolutely nothing to do with your past job, your rank, or how many years you paid into a system.
- Who gets it: Every living citizen who reaches retirement age gets it. Whether you are a retired President, a university professor, a farmer, a housewife, or disabled—EVERYONE gets the exact same amount.
- Funding: Paid 100% by the national treasury, Land Bank dividends, and state asset returns. It will be pegged to living costs to ensure every senior can live with basic dignity and never fear starvation.

2. Tier 2: Legal Occupational Pension (Work More, Get More):

- Personal Accounts: A mandatory savings system where employers and employees both pay in every month. This money belongs to the individual and moves with them if they change jobs. It's invested in the free market. You get out exactly what you put in plus investment returns.
- Smash the "Dual-Track" System: It is strictly forbidden to maintain a separate, luxurious, taxpayer-funded pension system for civil servants. Government officials must use the exact same pension accounts as factory workers. The era of bureaucratic privilege is dead.

[Legislative Goal]: Tier 1 shines like the sun on everyone—ensuring no elderly person in China is ever driven to despair by poverty. Tier 2 rewards hard work. [Expected Effect]: Completely wipe out the massive, unfair gap between elite retirees and poor farmers. Build an aging society with both warmth and fairness.

Article 22: Draconian Laws for Food Safety

[Policy Content]:

- Guilty Until Proven Innocent: If a food or drug safety crisis happens, the company MUST prove it did nothing wrong; otherwise, it is legally responsible.
- Ruinous Punitive Damages: Victims of toxic food have the right to demand "sky-high compensation" (e.g., 100 times their actual losses).
- Bankrupt the Criminals: Companies caught intentionally putting poison or fake ingredients in food will face fines so massive they will be instantly bankrupted, banned from the industry for life, and the bosses thrown in prison for decades.

[Expected Effect]: Toxic food will vanish instantly because the risk is total, lifelong financial and personal destruction.

Article 23: Environmental Justice and Pollution Compensation

[Policy Content]:

- Cap and Trade: Build a free market for carbon and emission credits, making environmental protection a highly profitable business.
- Pollution is a Crime: Bosses who maliciously dump toxic waste, and the corrupt officials who protect them, will face criminal charges with NO statute of limitations. We will hunt them down forever.
- Eco-Repair Fund: Slap massive environmental taxes on polluting companies, ring-fenced 100% to repair the damaged nature.

Chapter 5: The Ultimate Safeguard (The Last Line of Defense)

Article 24: The Constitutional Right to Rebel and the National Defense System (Authorized Responsibility)

[Policy Content]:

1. The Right to Rebel and the Axiom of Self-Defense:
 - Innate Human Right: It is a natural, God-given right to protect your life and fight oppression. When the government betrays the Constitution, turns into an illegal tyranny, and courts and elections are dead, the entire nation holds the constitutional “Right to Rebel” to violently overthrow the regime.
 - This is the “ultimate kill switch” of the Constitution, ensuring that public power forever fears the people.
2. National Defense Certification (Replacing Forced Conscription):
 - Abolish the universal draft. We shift to a system of “Voluntary Participation, State Certification, and Tiered Ownership.”

- The Gun License: Any citizen over 20, with no criminal record and a sound mind, can volunteer for “National Defense Training” (laws, safety, shooting). Those who pass get a “National Defense Certificate” and the legal right to buy and own approved firearms.

3. Civilian Militia and “Weapons in the People”:

- Certified armed citizens become part of the “National Reserve Militia.” In peacetime, they help guard their neighborhoods. In a constitutional crisis, they are the armed shield of the community. Rights come with responsibilities.

4. “My Home is My Castle” (The Castle Doctrine and Infinite Self-Defense):

- The Castle Doctrine: A citizen’s home is a sacred, inviolable sanctuary. If someone violently breaks into your home and threatens your life, you possess the “Right to Infinite Self-Defense.” You have NO duty to retreat.
- Immunity: Using lethal force to stop a violent intruder inside your home is classified as justifiable self-defense. It is NOT a crime, and you will not be prosecuted!

5. National Referendum on Gun Rights:

- Within the first year of the new, stable government, a nationwide referendum will be held specifically on “establishing a permanent civilian armed defense system.” All 1.4 billion citizens will vote to finalize the details of this law.

[Legislative Goal]: Smash the government’s absolute monopoly on violence. Return the right of defense to trained, responsible citizens. [Expected Effect]: Any ambitious dictator trying to steal power will pee their pants knowing they have to face millions of trained, armed citizens. Home invasions will plummet because criminals will know they might catch a bullet.

[Epilogue] The Return of Civilization and Our Promise

The intent of this New Deal is not some cheap political game to swap one ruler for another. Our true goal is the “Return of Sovereignty to the Millions.”

We swear to shatter the two-thousand-year cycle of dictatorship! We will lock power in the iron cage of the rule of law and contracts, and return wealth and freedom to every single citizen.

We promise to build a country that “Treats human beings like human beings”: There will be no more kneeling subjects, only standing citizens. There will be no more fear and poverty, only dignity and wealth. When the 1.4 billion free souls of China are finally awakened, the Chinese nation will rise from the ashes, civilized and prosperous, to reclaim its place at the top of the world.

The long night is ending. God bless China!

Lead Written by: Bian Jingtao

Publication Date: 2026

Place of Publication: Europe · Germany

THE UNMASKING

— Uncovering a Two-Thousand-Year Lie and Reshaping the Future—

Written by: Bian Jingtao

Part 1: The Past — Tearing Off the Painted Skin of History

Chapter 1: The Greatest Illusion of Humanity – From “Naked” to “Advanced” Slavery

Our history textbooks are filled with a colossal lie.

Those court-appointed scholars and literati have, for generations, indoctrinated the common people with a false “theory of evolution”: They claim that human society is constantly progressing. We transitioned from a barbaric primitive society to a slave society; then we overthrew the slaveholders and established a feudal society; finally, we bid farewell to the emperors and moved toward today’s “collectivism,” “authoritarian system,” or the so-called “dictatorial state.”

They describe this as a leap in civilization. But if we tear off this painted skin of “golden ages,” “rising powers,” and various “isms,” and examine the foundational operating logic of this land, we will discover a bone-chilling truth:

From the very first tribal chief who swung his club, to Qin Shi Huang who unified the empire, all the way to the dictators sitting in the halls of power today... the system on this land has never truly progressed. From beginning to end, through and through, it has always been exactly one system: slavery.

Why? Because the sole criterion for judging whether a society is a slave society does not depend on whether the common people wear physical iron chains, nor does it depend on whether they wear coarse linen or fine business suits every day. The only criterion for slavery lies in whether you have the right to choose, and whether you have the freedom to engage in an equal dialogue.

1. The Magic Mirror of Slavery: You Have No “Right to Bargain”

What is a slave? A slave is someone who must do exactly whatever the other party commands them to do. You have no right to resist, no right to dialogue, and at its core, you have absolutely no “room to bargain.” In a true society based on free contracts, individuals are equal to each other, and the people are equal to the government. How much tax the government wants to collect, what laws it wants to enact, and how it plans to spend that money—all must be negotiated with the common people, and the people have the right to say “no.” But over the past two thousand years, whether the rulers called themselves “emperors” or “leaders,” their communication with the common people has always been unilateral commands. When they want to expropriate your land, seal your door, or take away your wealth, you can only accept it on your knees. If you dare to stand up and demand equal dialogue or try to bargain, you are committing “insubordination against imperial decrees” and “picking quarrels and provoking trouble.” When facing public power, if you can only unilaterally obey and forever lose your right to bargain, then you are a slave.

Whether you are in the Colosseum of ancient Rome or in a modern high-end office building, there is absolutely no essential difference.

2. The Absolute Monopoly of Violence: The Legal Meat Grinder Why have the common people been forced to accept this “zero bargaining power” for thousands of years? Because the rulers hold in their hands a powerful machinery of violence that ordinary people are utterly incapable of resisting. In early slavery, slaveholders relied on whips and private armies. But in the so-called feudal system and the modern dictatorial system—which is “advanced slavery”—the rulers upgraded their violence. They monopolized the military, controlled the police, and draped this violence in a sacred cloak—they called it “the law.” This “law” was not enacted with the consent of the common people; rather, it is a tool used by the rulers to punish the disobedient. If you dare to disobey, they no longer just lash you with a whip; instead, they can mobilize the state machinery to legally, legitimately, and compliantly impose sanctions on you, arrest you, put you on trial, and even deprive you of your life. Faced with this absolute, crushing violence, the common people have lost any physical capability for self-defense and resistance, reduced to meat on a chopping block.

3. The Ultimate Hegemony of Interpretation: Calling a Stag a Horse The most vicious trick of advanced slavery lies not in violent suppression, but in the fact that “the entirety of the right to interpretation rests on their side.” This is the dictator’s absolute monopoly on truth: What he says is black, is black; what he says is white, is white; if he says you are a hero, you are a hero; if he says you are a class enemy, you are a class enemy. Even if he solemnly swore yesterday that a certain thing was right, and today he suddenly changes his mind and decides it is wrong, you still have to hail his brilliance. In short, his word is final. Under this system, common sense is obliterated, logic is twisted, and the common people are even stripped of the right to define their own suffering. When your brain and your mouth are forcibly represented by others, how could you possibly not be a slave?

4. The Farm Scam: From “Naked” to “Advanced” Once we see through these three essential characteristics (zero bargaining power, violent suppression, and monopolized interpretation), we will understand: Early slave societies were naked, straightforward slavery. The slaveholder directly declared: “I own your physical body.” This easily provoked resistance, and management costs were extremely high. However, the feudal society following the Qin system, as well as the current authoritarian dictatorial system, are an evolved “advanced slavery.” The rulers pretend to give you a little personal freedom, letting you farm, work, and pay off your mortgage. They no longer say they own your body, but through the household registration (Hukou) system, extremely high taxation, and the monopolization of all resources, they firmly choke you by the neck. They have turned the entire country into a massive super-farm. On this farm, we are no longer called slaves; we are called “subjects,” “the masses,” “labor forces,” or even coldly referred to as “human mines” (human resources to be mined). History hasn’t progressed at all; it’s just that the slaveholders have become more cunning, and the slaves’ shackles have transformed into invisible nanomaterials. As long as the three malignant tumors of “top-down rule,” “zero bargaining power,” and “violence monopoly” still exist, no matter how they whitewash it, the ordinary people on this land are still struggling in the endless cycle of advanced slavery. And today, our objective is to completely tear off this fig leaf and shred the two-thousand-year-old painted skin of power into pieces!

Chapter 2: The Evolution of Robbers and “The Emperor’s New Clothes”

If we completely shatter the filter of history and set aside those obscure academic terms, the so-called “slave society” in the early stages of humanity was actually extremely simple and brutal—it was a society built entirely on the logic of bandits and robbers.

It was nothing more than the naked exploitation of ordinary people by a group that controlled the machinery of violence. There was no reasoning to be had; whoever held the handle of the knife was the master. However, these robber chieftains later discovered that establishing authority through daily killings was too exhausting, so they learned the art of “packaging.” They found a group of eloquent shamans or literati who packaged the grand robber chieftain as the true Dragon Emperor with a “divine mandate from heaven,” and packaged the second-in-command and third-in-command as nobles, ministers, and tribal elders of “noble blood.” But if you strip away these magnificent titles, you only need to understand the so-called “elders,” “ministers,” and “chancellors” directly as “the chief and deputy heads of the bandit stronghold.”

1. Fiefdoms and the Qin System: From “Dividing the Spoils” to “Monopolizing the Loot” Before Qin Shi Huang unified China, the so-called “feudal decentralized society” was essentially the top robber chieftain engaging in a “division of power and spoils.” Because transportation was inconvenient and information was backward at that time, the grand robber chieftain lacked the capability to rule such a vast territory alone. Therefore, he could only distribute the land and slaves to his subordinate lesser robbers (the vassal lords); everyone claimed their own territory and exploited the people together. But by the time of Qin Shi Huang, his ambition and appetite reached an absolute zenith. He invented the “Qin System” (Centralization), which swallowed the entire country, all its lands, and all its people completely into his own sole stomach, never delegating power downward again. This is the most central malignant tumor of China’s two thousand years of history: to thoroughly exhaust the strength of all under heaven merely to serve the selfish desires of one man. This Qin system, which “turned the whole world into a private super-farm,” has continued to exist to this day, changing the broth but not the medicine.

2. The Emperor’s New Clothes: Modern Slavery Under the Guise of “Democracy” When the wheel of history rolled past the fall of the Qing Dynasty, the imperial signboard was smashed. The intellect of modern society began to awaken, and the rulers realized that the common people simply no longer believed in the old deceptive rhetoric of “sons and grandsons of dragons” and the “divine mandate of heaven.” To deceive the public and to save this giant “bandit stronghold,” they had to change their storefront and rearrange their props and backdrops. They noticed that the common people harbored a yearning for the “democracy” introduced from the West. So, without any hesitation, they stole the word “democracy,” repackaged it, and slipped it over their “concealed advanced slavery.” This is an absurd performance of “The Emperor’s New Clothes.” They blatantly invented a freakish term that couldn’t even logically justify itself: the “People’s Democratic Dictatorship.” This is simply the biggest joke in the history of human language. They didn’t even bother to fabricate a plausible lie, directly jamming “democracy” and “dictatorship”—two words as incompatible as fire and water—into the exact same sentence. “Democracy” is the anesthetic used to numb you, telling you “we are already a modern society”; while “dictatorship” is the dagger pressed against your ribs, meaning “the power of this country must be held by me.” Why do they dare to leave such a massive logical loophole and still act as they please? Because the handle of the knife of violence is in their hands, and the right of interpretation belongs to them! Behind closed doors, how the law is defined, and whether ordinary people even count as “the people,” is entirely up to them. Who dares not to cooperate? Who dares to raise an objection? At that solemn “National People’s Congress,” when a voice from the stage shouts, “Those opposed, please raise your hands,” who dares to raise that hand? If you dare to raise your hand today, tomorrow you are a corrupt criminal, the day after you are soliciting prostitutes, and the day after that, you are guilty of inciting subversion of state power! Under this absolute violent deterrence, this modern bandit stronghold wearing fine suits has brazenly continued to exist to this day.

3. The Economic Black Box: Privately Dividing the Gold in the Name of the “Collective” Controlling bodies and minds is not enough. For this advanced slave system to keep running, it must squeeze out the very last drop of blood and sweat. Economically speaking, they used an unquestionable government decree, under the guise of “for your own good,” and chanting loud slogans of “collective ownership” and “public ownership,” to legally confiscate all resources on this earth—land, mountains, rivers, all minerals, tangible and intangible wealth—into their own pockets. They tell you this belongs to the “state,” that it belongs to “everyone.” But in reality, this is just a gigantic curtain. In front of the curtain are the common people, who empty six wallets (generations of family savings) just to buy an apartment, and who go bankrupt just to see a doctor; behind the curtain, however, is a bottomless “black box.” These resources, which originally belonged to the whole people, generate astronomical amounts of profit every single day. But how this money is distributed and where it flows—the common people do not even have the right to glance at the ledger. Those modern robber chieftains cloaked as “public servants” hide within this black box, unscrupulously dividing up the gold that belongs to the entire population until there is nothing left. Who got how much, and whose family has stashed how much in overseas accounts, remains forever an unspeakable state secret. Robbers are still robbers, they just put on white gloves; slaves are still slaves, we are just stripped of the right to see our shackles.

Chapter 3: The Ultimate Harvesting of Advanced Slavery – Mortgages and State-Owned Enterprises

Ancient farm owners (emperors) exploited people very straightforwardly: He knew exactly how much grain you could harvest from your field each year, set a standard, and sent his bailiffs directly to collect the tax. That was outright robbery; whether it was a bit more or a bit less, the common people knew exactly what was happening.

But in today's authoritarian society, this logic of exploitation has undergone an extremely precise and extraordinarily cruel "advanced engineering." If ancient exploitation was an overt robbery with a knife, then today's exploitation is like inserting invisible tubes into you, not only sucking dry your current blood but also overdrawing your future life.

1. The Ultimate Robbery: Total Plunder Under the Guise of the "Collective" After the Communist Party took control of China, the first thing they did was complete the largest-scale robbery in human history. With just a single decree, they transferred all domestic natural resources—land, mountains, rivers, lakes, minerals, absolutely everything you can imagine—entirely into the pockets of the Communist Party. But they were too embarrassed to directly say, "This all belongs to me," so they invented a brilliant camouflage called "Collective Ownership." This rhetoric is incredibly hypocritical. Ultimately, whose ownership is this "collective ownership"? In reality, it is "Communist Party ownership." Through this sleight of hand, the ordinary common people, who were originally the masters of this land, were instantly stripped of everything and became "proletarians" in the truest sense of the word. Meanwhile, the rulers wielding the guns and the state machinery became the sole and largest slaveholders on this earth.

2. The Modern Indenture: Lifelong Captivity Through Real Estate As the industrial society swept the globe, China's rulers mimicked the West and went through the motions of running a modern economy. But what they truly learned was how to subject slavery to the most advanced "financialized packaging." The ultimate exploitation tool they invented is real estate. How did they do it? First, absolute monopoly over land supply; second, absolute monopoly over the right to build houses. This means that even if you have your own land, without their approval, you cannot build a house to live in. "I say you are qualified, only then are you qualified; you cannot deem yourself qualified." After completely monopolizing this "rigid demand" commodity that everyone must possess, they began hoarding it, artificially and insanely driving up prices. When ordinary people stood powerless before astronomical, multi-million dollar property prices, they "kindly" opened a door: allowing you to borrow from the bank, advance your income for the next twenty or thirty years, and use unfinished or even non-existent pre-sale homes as collateral. You think you signed a sales contract with the developer and a loan agreement with the bank? Wrong! The developers and the banks are nothing more than two fingers inside the glove of the Communist elite interest group (the true slaveholders). That mortgage contract, which you must pay off for twenty or thirty years, is absolutely not a financial product; it is a modern version of a "Deed of Indenture" (Slave Contract)! The moment it is signed, the ordinary citizen has completely sold their labor and youth for the next twenty to thirty years to the slaveholder. You dare not get sick, you dare not quit your job, you dare not rebel; every day you open your eyes, you must work for this super-farm to pay off your debt. The iron chains are no longer fastened around your neck; they are fastened to your property deed.

3. The Invisible Vampires: State-Owned Enterprises Are Tax Bureaus This is not the end. In this advanced slave society, there are countless invisible mouths sucking your blood. Those behemoths crowned with the title of “State-Owned Enterprises”—handling electricity, water, telecommunications, and energy—are actually not enterprises at all. They are all tax bureaus and tax-collection agencies of the Communist Party. Because they control the essential means of survival upon which ordinary people depend. As long as you are alive, as long as you need to drink water, use electricity, make phone calls, or fuel your car, you can never bypass these monopolistic departments. Through monopolistic high prices that permit absolutely zero bargaining, they extort heavy levies from the common people in every single second of their daily lives. You think you are paying utility bills; in reality, you are paying an extremely crushing “survival tax.”

4. The “Cruel Exploitation Rate” Concealed by Technology Many modern people fall under an illusion: We now have smartphones to play with, cars to drive, and we eat much better than people in ancient times. How can you say this is a slave society? This is exactly the most deceptive aspect of advanced slavery! The improvement in our living standards today is absolutely not because today’s slaveholders are more benevolent than ancient emperors, but because the development of science and technology has massively improved production efficiency, causing the total output of society to grow exponentially! It’s just that the overall pie has gotten bigger. But if you carefully do the math, you will discover a despair-inducing truth: The percentage of taxes you pay and the rate at which you are exploited today is absolutely no less than in ancient times; in fact, the exploitation is even more ruthless! In ancient times, after the slaveholder collected the imperial grain tax, you could keep the rest for yourself. But today’s slaveholders, through high housing prices, high living costs, state monopolies, and inflation, squeeze almost all the wealth you create completely dry. After precise calculation, they still only leave you with “just enough rations to keep you alive so you can go back to work tomorrow.” All the rest has been entirely surrendered to the slaveholders through various covert financial instruments. They operate more and more covertly, package it more and more modernly, leaving you exhausted running on the treadmill of heavy mortgages and exorbitant living costs, without even the energy to lift your head and catch a glimpse of the truth. This is the ultimate truth of China’s contemporary advanced slave society: Technology has amplified wealth, but the system has solidified enslavement.

Chapter 4: The Blindfolded Mill Donkey and the Ugly Clay Sculpture – The Ultimate Strangling of Truth

We have clearly seen how advanced slavery treats people as “consumables” economically. But how can a ruling clique that commits every kind of evil and extorts ruthlessly still sit securely on this large farm for decades or even centuries?

Because they have mastered the ultimate dark magic for keeping slavery running: covering your mouth, blindfolding your eyes, and plugging your ears. In this system, the positioning of the common people is extremely clear: You are not a human being, you are not even as good as an old ox plowing the fields; your most fitting identity is that of a blindfolded donkey continuously turning a millstone in the dark.

1. Why Are You Not Allowed to Speak? Because Truth is Poison to Dictators Why do they forcefully clamp their hands over your mouth, refusing to let you cry out? Because as soon as you open your mouth, you will inevitably speak the facts. And for dictatorial rulers, everything they do is inhuman, everything they do is sucking the blood of the people at the bottom. The things they normally broadcast on the radio and in newspapers are all carefully packaged lies. When lies become the foundation of the state, even the simplest truth possesses the nuclear explosive power to subvert the regime. Therefore, they absolutely cannot allow the donkey at the mill to let out a single bray of pain. They not only want to gag your truth-telling mouth, but they also use massive loudspeakers to continuously broadcast their self-fabricated lies of a “golden age” twenty-four hours a day, forcing you to sing praises along with them.

2. The Ugly Clay Sculpture and the Exquisite Ceramic: The Fear of Comparison Why do they blindfold you, preventing you from seeing the road ahead? Why do they plug your ears, preventing you from hearing the sounds of the world? The ancients said: “Listening to both sides leads to enlightenment; listening to only one side leads to darkness.” But what the dictator wants is precisely for you to “listen to only one side and believe it blindly.” Because they know perfectly well how exceedingly inferior their level of governance and administrative standards are. If we compare national governance to a work of art, what the dictator has kneaded together is a pitted, incomparably hideous “inferior clay sculpture.” But when you look at neighboring civilized countries, at most countries in the world that truly practice constitutionalism and the rule of law, their level of governance is like an “exquisite ceramic artwork.”

The moment your horizons are opened, the moment you are given eyes to see the world and hear the true words of your neighbors, you will instantly generate a powerful “comparison.” You will discover that in other countries, seeing a doctor is free for the citizens; that other people’s mayors can be harshly scolded on television; that other people’s houses come with permanent property rights! Once this “comparison” arises, the dictator’s “ugly clay sculpture” can no longer fool anyone. To cover up their ugliness, their only solution is to drape the entire country in a giant black cloth.

3. Information Monopoly and “The Emperor’s New Clothes” Therefore, whether it is the Chinese Communist Party or other authoritarian and totalitarian states in the world, the method they use to maintain their rule is always the same standard operation: absolute monopoly on information and dead-sealing the nation’s borders. They have monopolized all news agencies, newspapers, television, and the internet. Every voice broadcast to the masses must be censored and issued by them. Even if in certain authoritarian countries it looks as if ordinary people can complain a bit online, as if there is a little right to “free speech,” this is nothing but an illusion. In reality, these feeble voices are entirely under their extremely strict algorithmic surveillance and the control of internet police. The moment they cross the red line, they will immediately face account suspension, being “invited to tea” (police interrogation), or even imprisonment.

All these perverse regressions are, in the end, to provide cover for that group of liars strutting on the stage wearing “The Emperor’s New Clothes.” They are actually naked and unendurably ugly, but as long as they cover everyone's eyes and mouths, they can deceive themselves forever and enjoy the privileges of the farm owner.

Chapter 5: The Perfect Storm and the Death Spiral – Extinction-Level Exploitation and the Great Economic Collapse

When we tear off the false painted skin of the “economic miracle” and the “rise of a great power,” and use the perspective of slavery to examine the economic operations under Communist rule over the past decades, we will discover: China's current economic decline is by no means a conventional cyclical crisis. Rather, it is a total collapse orchestrated firsthand by the totalitarian rulers, an inevitable outcome following “extinction-level extreme exploitation” inflicted upon the people at the bottom.

To squeeze the last drop of blood and sweat from this land, this massive totalitarian machine has constructed a multi-layered and lethal exploitation system.

1. The Unscrupulous “Conventional Monopoly Harvester” In this country, from water, electricity, and telecommunications to energy and transportation, these lifeline industries utilize absolute monopoly power to arbitrarily set prices, constituting the slaveholders' most fundamental, daily blood-sucking of the slaves.

2. The Accelerator of Extinction – The “Real Estate Indenture” If conventional monopolies are just a “steady trickle” of exploitation, then to extract massive wealth in the short term to maintain the operation of the totalitarian machine, the rulers have unleashed the most vicious leverage tool in human economic history—Chinese-style real estate. Housing is fundamentally the most basic rigid demand for human reproduction and survival, yet the totalitarian government holds an absolute monopoly over the land supply and the building permit system. After completely monopolizing this rigid-demand commodity, they artificially and frantically endowed it with extreme financial attributes, driving up housing prices. The bankruptcy of a large number of developers proves that they are nothing but the chamber pots of power; the vast majority of the massive profits have been entirely swallowed by the true landlord who monopolized the non-renewable land resources—the totalitarian government. When ordinary people are powerless against astronomical housing prices, they allow you to borrow from state-owned banks. China's state-owned banks are all the biological sons of the Communist Party, and also its core exploitation tools. That mortgage contract, which you need to pay off for twenty or thirty years, is absolutely not a financial product; it is a modern version of a “Deed of Indenture” (slave contract)! The moment it is signed, ordinary people have essentially offered their entire income and personal freedom for the next twenty to thirty years completely to this bank, to the slaveholder. This is a veritable, extinction-level extreme exploitation.

3. The Limit of the Bubble and the Arrival of the “Perfect Storm” For decades, all of China's so-called high GDP growth, the superficial prosperity of local governments, and those grandiose, overwhelming infrastructure constructions, have all been built upon the massive bubble foundation of “driving up real estate to exploit the common people.” However, any physical exploitation has its limits. When the payment capability and overdraft capacity of the Chinese people are squeezed to the last drop of blood, the operation of things reaches its peak, and the turning point of history arrives with a bang. This hollow and inflated bubble, piled up by extracting the future, can no longer be pushed higher; it can only irretrievably burst. The collapse of real estate will inevitably, like dominoes, instantly trigger the explosion of bad bank loans, the default of massive local debts, and the complete shattering of the infrastructure bubble. In economics, this is the collapse of asset values, the “Minsky Moment” where the debts of a Ponzi scheme can absolutely no longer be covered up. All of this constitutes the most perfect economic storm in world history.

4. The Spiral Abyss: The Frog in Boiling Water Concealed by Dictatorship Faced with this unprecedented economic collapse, the totalitarian government’s instinctive reaction is to deploy all machinery of violence and “stability maintenance,” trying to cover the sky with one hand, tightly muffling the massive roar of the economic rupture. Therefore, on the surface, this collapse has not emitted a deafening roar, but this cannot in the slightest stop its destruction process on a physical level. Under the cover of news blackouts and fabricated data, the economy is presenting a spiraling downward death collapse, bit by bit, inch by inch, in a “boiling a frog in warm water” manner. What is even more despairing is that superimposed on this perfect storm of destruction is not only the “demographic cliff-like collapse” caused by long-term high-pressure exploitation (young people refusing to reproduce, refusing to provide new slaves), but also an incompetent and obstinate “Chief Accelerator.” Every blind command and every political regression by this dictatorial ruler is frantically stepping on the gas pedal for this storm. All of this is a foregone conclusion; the Great Recession is inevitable, and it will continue to deteriorate until the entire totalitarian economic system completely collapses.

5. Economic Collapse Does Not Equal Regime Collapse: Calling for a New System However, the cruelty of history lies in this: economic collapse is only a necessary condition for a regime’s downfall, not a sufficient condition. Dictators holding the barrel of a gun, even when the country’s economy rots into a pool of mud, might still maintain their rule through extreme violence and blockades. When the Minsky Moment arrives, and the old machine is completely paralyzed, China will face the most dangerous vacuum period. What the common people need is not only to understand why they end up with nothing, but even more so, a “new system” capable of instantly replacing the old machine and truly snatching back wealth and power. Otherwise, when the old slaveholders fall, there will only be new tyrants stepping over the ruins to establish the next farm.

Part 2: The Reshaping — The Consensus of Contract and Dividends

Chapter 6: The Physical Laws of Dictatorial Collapse and the “Premature Contract” to Break the Periodic Law

In Part 1, we have already diagnosed that this massive advanced slavery machine will inevitably become completely paralyzed due to the “economic death spiral.” In this totalitarian society, the rulers simultaneously monopolize the invisible absolute power and the tangible absolute resources. These two are mutually causal, forming an extremely terrifying “upward double helix.” But the underlying logic of philosophy and physics tells us: when things reach their extreme, they turn into their opposites. When the power of the exploiters is magnified beyond measure, and the survival space of the masses is compressed to the limit, this man-eating system is physically bound to face its collapse. Yet the cruelty of history lies in the fact that economic bankruptcy does not mean the dictator will voluntarily step down. How exactly will today’s totalitarian machine draw its last breath?

1. The Three Historical Paths and Probabilities of Totalitarian Disintegration Flipping through the thousands of years of history regarding the fall of autocracies, the collapse of old regimes ultimately boils down to only three paths:

Path One: Economic collapse triggers an uprising at the bottom (Probability: approx. 20%). When the masses face existential desperation, they rise up. But in a high-tech totalitarian society equipped with tanks, drones, and holographic surveillance, the probability of unarmed masses overthrowing the regime through pure “street uprisings” is infinitesimally small. Resistance at the bottom usually only serves as the “fuse” to ignite the powder keg, making it difficult to become the absolute force for a fatal blow.

Path Two: Intervention by foreign forces or the backlash of foreign wars (Probability: approx. 30%). As the domestic economy completely enters a dead end, the dictator has a high probability of attempting to divert attention by inciting extreme nationalism, or even risking a foreign war (such as a Taiwan Strait crisis). But this is often the final step in digging their own graves; the combined counterattack of the modern civilized world will instantly destroy their fragile military and economic machine.

Path Three: Infighting at the top and coups caused by uneven division of spoils (Probability: approx. 50%). A dictatorial clique is essentially a massive alliance for dividing the spoils. When the “Minsky Moment” arrives and the economic pie drastically shrinks, various factions will inevitably tear at each other to protect their lives and wealth. When the supreme dictator’s insane directives enrage the entire bureaucratic and military interest group, a “palace coup” or “military insubordination and defection” becomes a high-probability event. Fortresses are often breached from within.

2. Puncturing the Illusion of the “Savior”: Will Taiwan Take Over the Mainland? Speaking of foreign intervention, many desperate people on the mainland harbor an ultimate illusion in their hearts: If the CCP collapses in a Taiwan Strait war, will Taiwan’s democratic armed forces counterattack and take over the mainland? This is an illusion from which one must be completely awakened. From the perspective of rational geopolitics, Taiwan’s strategy has long since thoroughly shifted to a “purely defensive porcupine strategy.” Their goal is to defend their democratic way of life from being annexed. Within the framework of realpolitik, Taiwan has neither the political will nor the administrative capacity to act as the “armed savior” for 1.4 billion people. Taiwan’s true significance to the mainland is absolutely not military take-over, but the “proof of the lighthouse.” It acts like a mirror, thoroughly shattering the dictator’s shameless lie that “Chinese people are of low quality and unsuitable for democracy.” It proves that people of the same culture and bloodline can absolutely build a clean, free, and constitutional society. True freedom can never rely on the charity of outsiders.

3. The Curse of the Periodic Law and Breaking Through via the “Premature Contract” Seeing through the paths of totalitarian collapse, we discover a more despairing reality: regardless of whether the old regime collapses through bottom-up uprisings or top-down coups, if the ordinary people do not hold a mature set of contracts in their hands, China will never escape the historical curse of “only changing the king, not the system”! Today you overthrow an emperor named Li, tomorrow he is replaced by a warlord named Zhao. The blood of the bottom class is drained, yet the ultimate result is still a new elite monopolizing resources, and the masses remain the donkeys at the mill. Our generation must absolutely no longer be such meaningless political consumables. To completely sever this two-thousand-year cycle when the next great collapse arrives, the only way out is: before the old machine takes its last breath, to proactively put forward “The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom” (Magna Carta) and “The Outline for the Implementation of the New Deal” in advance! Its core strategic significance lies in “preemptively capturing consensus.” At the precise moment the old machine disintegrates and a power vacuum emerges, this “Magna Carta,” which has already deeply rooted itself in people’s hearts, will be the sole legitimate cornerstone for building the nation. We will hold this contract and tell anyone who attempts to seize power: “Times have changed! Any coup general or uprising leader who wishes to govern this country must immediately sign and strictly abide by this contract that returns power to the people. Otherwise, you are the common enemy of all citizens!” Using a preemptively established contract to bind future rulers is the only viable path we have forcefully hacked open amid the stormy waves of history.

Chapter 7: The Dimensional Elevation of Civilization – From Robber Logic to Equal Contract

After seeing through the bloodthirsty nature of China’s two thousand years of “advanced slavery,” in order to find a way out and formulate that “blueprint of the premature contract,” we must cast our gaze upon the democratic and free societies around the globe. Here, we must shatter two superstitions: the official brainwashing of the “theory of Western democratic decline,” and the blind worship of the “theory of Western democratic perfection.”

1. The Background Color of History: All Crows Under Heaven Are Equally Black We must tear off a fig leaf: before entering modern civilization, Western feudal society and China’s slave system had absolutely no difference in essence. The kings and lords of the Middle Ages were equally a group of robbers who controlled the machinery of violence, and the bottom masses were equally consumables on the farm.

In the long, early dark night, all of humanity was wallowing in the mud of “robber logic.”

2. The Magna Carta and Epoch-Making Elevation The watershed moment between Eastern and Western civilizations occurred in England in 1215. In that year, the “Magna Carta” was born. This document, for the first time, forced the high-and-mighty king (the grand robber chieftain) to the negotiating table, compelling him to admit: even a king cannot arbitrarily deprive people of their private property and lives; the collection of taxes must be agreed upon by those being taxed. From this moment on, humanity’s political system underwent an “epoch-making dimensional elevation.” It ushered humanity from “pure violent crushing” into a new era of “freedom, democracy, and constitutionalism.”

3. The Flaws of Democracy and the Crushing Advantage of Dimensions Are today’s Western democratic societies perfect? Absolutely not. They equally suffer from issues like partisan attrition and capital interference. However, compared to the evil of dictatorial regimes, this imperfection is not on the same dimensional level at all! It is like a modern airplane that occasionally breaks down, compared to a primitive horse-drawn carriage pulled by slaves who are whipped at any moment. The airplane, no matter its flaws, is flying in the three-dimensional sky; the carriage, no matter how smoothly it rides, will forever crawl in the mud pit.

4. The Duel of Underlying Logics: The Packaged Robber VS. Equal Negotiation The fundamental difference between slavery and democracy is extremely simple. The underlying foundation of slavery is the “logic of robbers and bandits.” The ruler has learned to package himself with the “big picture,” but he is always the commander, and you are always the obeyer and the tool to be extracted; you have absolutely no right to refuse. The underlying logic of democratic society, however, is: all people are born equal. The democratic system uses the cage of the constitution and the ballot to tightly suppress human greed. When the government wants to take money from your pocket, it cannot pull out a gun directly; it must engage in equal dialogue and negotiation with you under the watchful eyes of the entire society. One is a slave kneeling to listen to the master’s commands; the other is a negotiation standing up to bargain with the other party. The reason we are drafting “The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom” today is precisely to firmly nail that group of modern robbers, who have stolen the nation’s wealth, to this negotiating table to negotiate, or to kick them right off the table!

Chapter 8: The Blueprint for Breakthrough – The “Magna Carta” and the “New Deal” as the Founding Contract

When the “perfect storm” of economic collapse completely shreds the old machine, the lies and high walls will vanish into thin air. But on the ruins of the old system’s collapse, we must absolutely not fall into the abyss of warlord conflicts, let alone blindly wait for the next self-proclaimed “great savior” to take over everything. History has long proven that waiting for a savior often ends in welcoming a new slaveholder. To thoroughly sever this destiny of the cyclical loop of order and chaos, we must, before the old machine is completely paralyzed and before a new regime is established, have the 1.4 billion Chinese people themselves draw a clear blueprint for the future nation in advance and lay down insurmountable rules. The following two documents—"The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom" and "The Outline for the Implementation of the New Deal"—are exactly such a nation-building blueprint belonging to the 1.4 billion Chinese people. They are not high-handed directives, but a founding contract that must be agreed upon in advance by all compatriots through co-signing. When the consensus of millions converges here, the cornerstone of the new nation is already firmly laid in our hearts.

1. The Essence of Power: The Surrender of Private Rights and Anytime Recall The "Magna Carta" reaffirms the most common-sense and greatest truth in human constitutional history: all power in this country inherently and absolutely belongs to all of us, the people. The future governors of the state, whether the president or officials at all levels, do not possess any sacred halo or privileges themselves. The only reason they hold power is because all of us have reached a consensus and collectively surrendered a portion of our private rights to them temporarily, commissioning them as "temporary agents" to manage this shared country on our behalf. Since power is surrendered by us, we possess the absolute right of revocation. If, during their governance, these agents are incompetent, or even dare to use public power for misdeeds and rent-seeking, we, as the true masters of power, have the right and the confidence at any time to initiate recall procedures and immediately force them to step down. This is the "ultimate iron cage" and the Sword of Damocles tailor-made by the "Magna Carta" for all those in power.

2. The Boundaries of Wealth: Equally Dividing Heaven's Gifts, Absolutely Protecting Private Property The "New Deal" must draw an extremely strict property boundary in economics. We must clarify a core bottom line to everyone: The "New Deal's" proposal to evenly distribute wealth is absolutely not the historical "robbing the rich to feed the poor," nor is it the plundering of anyone's private property! The first category is the wealth you earned through personal invention, business operation, and hard work. The "Magna Carta" solemnly declares: private property is forever sacred and inviolable! Every cent exchanged for your sweat is forever under the absolute protection of the law. The second category is the so-called "inherent property rights" (natural rights to wealth)—the vast lands, minerals, and state monopoly dividends based on natural resources. These nurturings of nature rightfully belong to every single person on this land, and should absolutely not be privately monopolized by any totalitarian government or elite! What the "New Deal" will do is snatch back this portion of "Heaven's gifts" and distribute them absolutely evenly to every Chinese citizen. What we divide equally are the gifts of Heaven; what we protect is personal striving!

3. The Iron Law: Inherent Property Rights Cannot Be Traded, Only Inherited For this survival property right bestowed upon you by Heaven, you only have the unconditional right to "receive" and "enjoy" it, but absolutely no right to "trade and transfer." This is to completely block the possibility of a new round of slavery restoration. If this baseline property right were allowed to be bought and sold, capital giants would inevitably take advantage of people's vulnerabilities to acquire the "survival baselines" of ordinary people at extremely low prices. Therefore, this inherent property right gifted by nature is bound to your citizenship for life. You cannot sell it for cash; it forever and irrevocably provides you with the absolute baseline guarantee for survival.

4. The Ultimate Obligation of the State: The Dignity Baseline and the Fraternity of Compatriots The state should and must assume the most foundational responsibility: guaranteeing that every citizen has a decent, dignified life. The “New Deal” solemnly promises that the state must provide three unconditional baseline guarantees: universal free healthcare, free education, and guaranteed dignified eldercare. We absolutely will not allow any ordinary person in this new country to fall back into poverty due to illness. The 1.4 billion compatriots are all brothers and sisters; when our brothers and sisters temporarily fall into existential despair, we have the obligation to lend a helping hand. This is not only the statutory responsibility of the state machine but also the fraternal contract we as citizens pledge to each other based on the most fundamental human empathy.

5. The Defense Line to End Centralization: Federalism China has a vast territory. If the new regime remains a “Qin System of grand unification where the central government controls everything,” then even with elections, the extreme concentration of resources will inevitably spawn a new super-centralization. The “Great Charter of Chinese Freedom” completely breaks this two-thousand-year curse, establishing the iron law of “local self-governance” under federalism. In the future China, the power of the central government will be strictly limited to extremely narrow fields such as national defense and diplomacy. All provinces, cities, and counties will have a high degree of autonomy—the vast majority of local taxes will remain local to benefit local residents, and local chief executives must be authentically elected by local residents, rather than parachuted in from the center. Only by thoroughly decentralizing power and wealth to the various provinces and municipalities can a super-dictator be forever prevented from once again gathering the nation’s resources to enslave the people.

Chapter 9: The Natural Enemy of Power – Freedom of Speech and the Return of Authority to the People

1. The Arrogance of Power and Public Opinion Monopoly: Why is “Freedom of Speech” Alone Ineffective? We must first puncture a naive political illusion—the belief that relying solely on “freedom of speech” can overthrow corruption. Examining totalitarian societies, the ruling clique has taken all the military, judiciary, and media into its own hands. Taking a step back, even if the public exposes the evidence of a high official’s corruption or abuse of power to the world, will those heavily empowered officials resign in disgrace? Absolutely not. Faced with public opinion that lacks substantive constraint, rulers possessing absolute violence will only display extreme arrogance and contempt. What is even more absurd and contrary to modern political ethics is that the totalitarian system not only blocks criticism, but openly uses citizens’ tax money to support a large number of court writers to fabricate its legitimacy, and even long maintains sub-organizations like “art and cultural troupes” within vital national instruments such as the military. Those performers, who should have survived on their own merit in the commercial market, forcibly whitewash a reality riddled with wounds into a flourishing era of peace on stage, purely in exchange for privileges within the system; the rulers even arbitrarily bestow sacred military ranks and senior general treatment upon these tools solely responsible for singing praises. This act of treating public state apparatuses as entertainment is the totalitarian ruler openly declaring the rot and arrogance of their power to the entire society. This is the most cruel underlying logic of politics: if the sword of sanction is not in hand, the public's freedom of speech, in the face of a fully armed totalitarianism that monopolizes the discourse, is nothing but a helpless sigh without any substantive binding force.

2. Election, Recall, and Common Law: The “Three Cornerstones” for Completely Returning Authority to the People If we want freedom of speech to truly erupt with devastating efficacy, we must snatch the country's laws and machinery of violence back from the hands of the extremely small privileged class and hold them firmly in the hands of the vast majority of ordinary people! The “New Deal” completely returns state authority to the ordinary people by establishing the following “Three Institutional Cornerstones”:

Cornerstone One: The Right to Authentic Elections (Temporary Transfer of Power). The administrative heads and representatives at all levels of the state must be genuinely elected by every ordinary citizen through “one person, one vote.” This proclaims that the sole legitimate source of power is bottom-up authorization.

Cornerstone Two: The Right of Recall at Any Time (The Ultimate Deterrence of Power). An election by no means implies writing a “blank check” for several years to politicians. As long as officials are duplicitous or act recklessly, the public does not need to wait for the next term; they can recall them at any time through legal procedures.

Cornerstone Three: The Common Law System and the Civilian Jury (The Ultimate Judgment of Power). After evils are exposed, they are no longer judged by “bureaucratic judges” eating from the government's rice bowl. Judges are demoted to “referees who interpret the law,” while the power of life and death is completely handed over to a jury randomly composed of ordinary citizens.

3. The Closed Loop of Freedom of Speech and Common Law When election rights, recall rights, and the common law system are established, freedom of speech and the press are no longer helpless sighs. Together they form an indestructible closed loop of the rule of law: The news media and the freely speaking internet are the “searchlights” completely independent of government interference, responsible for thoroughly exposing the sins in the dark; authentic elections and the right of recall at any time are the “dismissal notices” in the hands of the people, responsible for stripping wrongdoers of their political power at any time; and the civilian jury under the common law system is the “ultimate bench of judgment” of justice, completely returning power to the people, that is, the ordinary person.

4. The Upgrade of Common Law: The “On-Site & Cloud” Dual-Track Jury To push the mechanism of preventing power interference to the extreme, the “New Deal” carries out a major upgrade in the history of human justice—establishing the “On-Site 12-Person + Large-Scale Online Random” Dual-Track Jury System. In the courtrooms of major public cases in the future, besides the 12 civilian jurors on site, the system will randomly select thousands or tens of thousands of “online jurors” from among legally eligible citizens nationwide who apply voluntarily. They will synchronously watch the trial through an encrypted network and make an independent verdict. A corrupt politician could easily bribe a government judge under the totalitarian system; but now, it is absolutely impossible for him to bribe the on-site civilians at the moment the trial opens, and it is even more impossibly unlikely for him to bribe the massive, completely anonymous online jurors scattered across the country! At the moment the public is randomly selected for the bench of judgment, they represent the natural justice of the majority of this country; no strong power can overturn this verdict.

The Ultimate Closed Loop of Discovering and Solving Problems If a society only has freedom of speech and the press, but lacks legal fairness and the return of authority, then at best you have only “discovered the problem,” but have absolutely no ability to “solve the problem.” You can only watch the evil dragon commit evil; aside from a lament, there is no other way. However, when we truly possess authentic election and recall rights, when we have a neutral military and a common law system led by the people, we not only possess the eyes to discover problems, but have completely grasped “all the means to solve the problem”! Only when the freedom to discover problems is perfectly combined with the ability to solve them can a nation that has experienced two thousand years of cycles return fairness and justice, without reservation, to every single individual.

Chapter 10: Democratic Restructuring in the Tech Era – Eliminating the Representational Loss of the Horse-and-Buggy Era

Since the modern democratic system is a civilization dimension higher, can we just directly copy the blueprints from the West from two hundred years ago and use them as a panacea to save China? The answer is: we cannot simply copy them. When we hold the magnifying glass of political science and use real data to examine those traditional democratic systems in the world that have been running for hundreds of years, we will find that these systems, born in the “horse-and-buggy era,” have inevitably exposed some unavoidable systemic limitations in today’s information age. If traditional democracy is not upgraded at the fundamental level in combination with modern technology, it will similarly face severe representational loss from elite agents.

1. The Infinite Loop of Deception in Traditional Representative Systems In traditional presidential or parliamentary systems, although they flaunt democracy, reality reveals a fatal pain point: the betrayal of campaign promises and the severe lag in correction mechanisms. To garner votes, politicians often speak nonsense and make arbitrary promises before elections. However, once they hold great power, the policies they implement after taking office are completely contrary to their promises, or even deeply tied to capital conglomerates. At this time, the public finds that the ballots in their hands are of no help whatsoever; the only thing they can do is helplessly endure the long four or five-year term. What is even more despairing is that when you have endured this term’s fraudster, the next time you elect another person, you still do not have any mechanism to guarantee they won’t deceive you again. The common people have actually fallen into an infinite loop of being “forever alternatively deceived.” During this long “window for doing evil,” power continues to operate arrogantly, and the public can only swallow their anger. Furthermore, in the multi-party compromises of the parliamentary system, the final policies enacted are often neither Party A’s original intent nor Party B’s promise, but a “diluted patchwork” that seriously violates the voters’ will.

2. The Democratic Elevation in the Tech Era: Granting the “Emergency Brake Right” We must objectively admit that this traditional “representative democracy” was born hundreds of years ago. In an era when it took weeks for commoners riding horses to deliver ballots, electing a “representative” to go to a meeting was a magnificent innovation. But today, in the era of a technological explosion characterized by artificial intelligence and instantaneous communication, if we still let a few politicians hide in back rooms making decisions for hundreds of millions of people, it would be a massive waste of modern technology. When exploring the restructuring of a new type of democracy, we must face a reality: we do not need 1.4 billion people to vote every day on which highway to build or what specific emission standards to set; daily administration is still left to the civil service system. However, the new type of democracy must grant ordinary citizens an absolute power where no middleman profits from the spread—the direct “emergency brake right” to say “no”! True democracy does not require every passenger to rush forward and seize the steering wheel of the great vehicle of the state; rather, it grants every passenger in the vehicle the “right of direct recall” under their seat, achievable in one step. You do not need to know how to drive the engine. But when the politician holding the steering wheel attempts to drive the vehicle off a cliff, or when the bureaucracy attempts to embezzle your wealth in a black box, the public has the confidence to press the button at any time and instantly strip them of their power.

3. The Fair Contract in the Sunlight Since we do not require the common people to replace officials in driving, how should we drive these politicians? The answer is: completely discard the moral hypocrisy of “selfless dedication,” and establish a set of “absolutely transparent employment and fair contracts.” The essence of democratic elections is the public contract signed between the public and the politicians. As long as politicians take away high legitimate returns openly and aboveboard in the sunlight, under the real-time monitoring of all citizens’ accounts, relying on real political achievements, the public will applaud them. We never oppose officials obtaining high legitimate interests. However, the other side of the contract is absolutely ruthless. If your hand dares to reach into the black box, dares to engage in rent-seeking or corruption—the searchlights of the free media and the public’s right of recall will instantly make you lose everything, confiscate all your property, and subject you to severe trials. Between the absolute transparency of high rewards and severe punishment, the only ones left behind can be the public servants of the state who truly revere the contract.

Chapter 11: Shredding the Arrogance of Pseudo-Elites – The Ultimate Dissection of the Three “Threats of Chaos”

When we present the “Magna Carta” and the “New Deal” to the world, the first to jump out and oppose them will absolutely not be the ordinary toiling masses, but those “pseudo-elites” and vested interest classes who have long monopolized the discourse. To maintain their privilege of “standing high above and making decisions for you,” they will desperately instill fear into the public, bring out the most obscure academic jargon, and throw out three extremely vicious “threats of chaos.”

1. Dismantling the Threat of “Mob Rule”: Rational Mathematical Shackles, Secondary Confirmation, and “Absolute Veto” The first threat from the elites is: if the common people are granted the power to recall officials at any time, society will fall into the irrational “tyranny of the majority” and “mob rule.” This is an arrogant lie that treats the masses as ignorant! In the design of the New Deal, the decentralization of power is by no means a reckless opening of the floodgates, but is equipped with extremely strict “dual rational thresholds” and a thunderous “absolute red line”:

Threshold One: The extremely harsh absolute mathematical baseline. To initiate a nationwide recall, it must reach the absolute approval of “more than 50% of ALL citizens holding voting rights.” Note, it is not over half of the people who voted, but “absolute over half of the entire society.” In reality, to get more than half of the nation’s citizens to lay down their work to jointly recall a person, unless this person has truly committed heinous crimes that even common sense cannot tolerate, it is fundamentally impossible to trigger. This fundamentally eradicates the possibility of a small number of extremists instigating trouble.

The Absolute Red Line: The 66.7% “Direct Recall” killer move. In this mechanism, there is an insurmountable iron law of public will: if in the first national vote, the proportion in favor of recall directly triggers the extremely high absolute majority threshold of 66.7% (two-thirds), this means that the official’s conduct has completely pierced the society’s bottom line, provoking an indisputable absolute consensus. Faced with this overwhelming public will, the system will no longer grant any second chance or cooling-off period; the official will be immediately and completely recalled from office!

Threshold Two: A three-month “Cooling-Off Period” and Secondary Confirmation. If the first round of recall voting crosses the 50% warning line but does not reach the 66.7% absolute majority, the system will only trigger a “yellow warning card” and forcefully enter a three-month “cooling-off period.” The shelf life of human emotion is very short; this is the coolant that allows truth to ferment. Three months later, the whole nation conducts a second round of voting. If the emotions have completely cooled, yet there is still more than half of the nation resolutely wanting him to step down, this is absolutely not some “impulse of a rabble,” but an irresistible rational public will!

Facts have long proven that when the citizens of a country possess equal wealth distribution and fair treatment, mobs are forced out by tyranny; whereas citizens who possess real money and contractual guarantees are the most rational bedrock in the world.

2. Dismantling the Threat of “Hyperinflation”: The Transfer of Wealth Rather Than Money Printing The second threat from the elites is: dividing the state-owned monopoly profits equally as a “survival dividend” to the whole nation is engaging in Latin American-style populist suicide, which will trigger hyperinflation and cause the national economy to collapse completely. This rhetoric deliberately confuses the difference between “unanchored money printing” and “profit dividends.” How does hyperinflation come about? It happens when a dictatorial government, to fill deficits, turns on the printing presses to print out waste paper backed by nothing real. But the money given to the common people in the “New Deal” is not money printed out of thin air; it is the “true profits” that those monopolistic state-owned enterprises and the privileged class originally earned and withheld! Land, mountains, rivers, and minerals are inherently free gifts from nature and Heaven to all new lives on this land. Dividing the revenues of these resources among all people is essentially conducting an “absolutely fair transfer of purchasing power.” The total pool of funds in society has not increased by a single cent; it is just that this real wealth, previously withheld and squandered by a few, is now transferred horizontally into the bank cards of 1.4 billion ordinary people. Returning the common people’s own money to the common people is entirely justified! This is absolutely no poison of inflation, but the right path to achieve the baseline guarantee.

3. Dismantling the Threat of “Rule by the Legally Illiterate”: The Paradox of Interests and the Return of Common Sense The third threat from the elites is the most deceptive: they claim that the judiciary must be monopolized by professional elites; if ordinary masses act as judges (in a civilian jury), the law will cease to exist. This not only demonstrates ignorance of the common law system but also overlooks the great bedrock of human nature: the absolute paradox of interests. In the logic of common law, once a verdict is formed, it becomes an “absolute precedent” that everyone must obey. If the public today deprives a person of their property or life without evidence due to momentary emotion, they are establishing a precedent for this country that “property and life can be casually deprived.” The common people are absolutely not stupid; who would be crazy enough to establish a rule that could hang themselves or deprive their descendants of their interests tomorrow? This is exactly why the masses, when holding judicial discretionary power, will not only refrain from acting recklessly, but will be far more cautious than any so-called elite. Because protecting the legitimate rights of that stranger is protecting the masses’ own avenue of retreat. Letting the common sense of the masses return to the courtroom is the thorough liquidation of elite judicial privileges.

Part 3: The Future — The Shore of Civilization and the Return of Humanity

Chapter 12: The Iron Law of History and the Last Gasp Behind High Walls

When we stretch the yardstick of time and look down upon history from the pinnacle of human civilization's evolution, we will discover an extremely cold, yet extremely fair iron law: History is pushed forward by the entire world, and its direction is absolutely predestined. Any careerist, any interest group, attempting to reverse the wheel of history is ultimately like a mantis trying to stop a chariot.

1. The Increasingly Narrow Survival Space of Dictators and Their Inner Fear Looking around the globe, the survival space for dictatorial regimes and authoritarian states has become increasingly narrow. Under the revealing mirror of universal values—freedom, democracy, constitutionalism, equality, and human rights—dictatorial regimes have become increasingly isolated on a global scale.

Many people believe that totalitarian rulers are extremely powerful and confident. The reality is exactly the opposite. If they were truly as “great, glorious, and correct” as they propagandize themselves to be, why must they erect a towering internet firewall within their own country? Why must they strictly control the dissemination of information?

The answer is simple: Because those inside the system know better than anyone else the direction of history's ultimate choice! They know that their rhetoric collapses at the first blow in the face of truth. All the blockades and information controls implemented today are fundamentally not for any simple “national security,” but the “last gasp” of vested interest groups unwilling to relinquish their absolute power and massive interests in the face of the irreversible tide of history.

2. Our Original Intention: Sowing the Seeds of Consensus in Advance in the Dark Night However, no matter how long the dark night is, it cannot stop the arrival of dawn. At this critical point in history, we face an unprecedented responsibility.

If we wait until the day the old system comes crashing down for the common people to awaken from their dreams and seek a way out, society will inevitably plunge into massive turmoil and bloodshed. But what if, today, we can write the ideals of universal values into “The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom”? What if we can let the people on this land understand the truth in advance and form an indestructible consensus in their hearts?

When the earth-shattering transformation of society happens sooner or later, as long as the consensus of “the will of the people” is already formed, the cancerous tumor of autocracy will absolutely never grow again on the ruins of the fallen old machine. This is our original intention in writing this work: to avoid senseless social turmoil, to end the historical cycle of dynastic changes, and to use the consensus of the contract to escort this deeply suffering nation safely to the shore of civilization.

Chapter 13: The Ultimate Mission of Civilization – The Iron Law of the Survival Baseline and the Vision of Great Harmony

When we talk about the future of China and the world, what we face is not only the reshaping of the political system, but an unprecedented massive transformation that the entire human civilization is about to usher in—the comprehensive arrival of the Artificial Intelligence (AI) era. This is not only a technological leap, but the ultimate test of the fundamental functions of a state.

1. The Giant Wave of the Era: The Survival Baseline is the “Historical Mission” of the State Faced with the reality of AI comprehensively replacing human mental and physical labor, a modern civilized state must fulfill its fundamental task: unconditionally guaranteeing the survival baseline of every citizen.

We must explain clearly to the masses: This is absolutely not a government handout. Guaranteeing the survival baseline is the historical mission that the new regime must undertake. If a country is unable to protect its citizens from hunger and despair, then this state machine loses the legitimacy of its existence.

2. Rejecting the “Ten-Yuan” Scam: The Concrete Estimation of the Survival Dividend The greatest worry of the common people is: “It sounds nice, but when the time comes and you only distribute ten or eight yuan a month, what kind of guarantee is that?”

Here, we must provide a clear, dignity-anchored numerical estimation. The new regime promises that the “survival dividend” received by every citizen will consist of two parts, ensuring its true purchasing power:

Baseline Anchoring: The dividend distributed monthly shall never be lower than 1.5 times the minimum cost of maintaining a decent life locally. This means that no matter where you are, this dividend must guarantee that you not only have enough to eat and wear, but can also afford rent, pay for internet, and participate in social life with dignity.

Resource Dividend: The nurturings of nature rightfully belong to every single person on this land, and should absolutely not be privately monopolized by any totalitarian government or elite! According to our calculations, by taking the national land transfer revenues, mineral resource revenues, and the total annual profits of monopolistic state-owned enterprises—which are currently intercepted by the privileged class—and distributing them directly and evenly among the 1.4 billion people through the “National Survival Fund,” every Chinese family (taking a family of three as an example) is expected to receive a direct cash dividend of 50,000 to 100,000 RMB annually.

This money is not waste paper printed from a machine; it is the gold snatched back from the black boxes of those “grand robber chieftains,” which originally belonged to you in the first place.

3. Backed by Strength: How Can We Accomplish This? Many people will ask: “Where does the money come from?” We want to give all citizens a pill of reassurance; our financial strength comes from three unshakable sources:

Reclaiming “Natural Resources”: Over the past few decades, hundreds of trillions in land transfer fees and mineral revenues generated by this land have been illegally misappropriated. The New Deal will thoroughly reclaim these “Heaven’s gifts” and use all their interest and returns for the universal dividend.

Liquidating the “Monopoly Black Box”: Those monopolistic behemoths, named “state-owned” but actually “domestic slaves,” will have their hundreds of trillions of accumulated assets comprehensively liquidated and converted into the universal equity of all people.

Levying the “Tech Computing Power Tax”: In the AI era, we will levy a reasonable “robot tax” on automated production and cutting-edge computing power. When machines replace humans in labor, the surplus value created by machines will no longer flow solely to capitalists, but will flow into the universal accounts of the people.

4. Eliminating Fear: Moving Toward the Shore of Great Harmony When this “survival baseline” is firmly secured by the rule of law and financial strength, the development of technology will no longer be a nightmare for ordinary people, but a gospel for all of humanity.

Capable entrepreneurs are free to innovate and become wealthy, because the problem of the survival baseline for the entire society has been solved under the premise of fairness, rationality, and without plundering others. By that time, no matter how AI technology disrupts industries, its impact on the bottom of society will be completely absorbed by the system’s safety net.

If we build society according to the model of “The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom,” on the day it operates maturely, humanity will truly move toward that ultimate shore anticipated by ancient philosophers for thousands of years—All under heaven belongs to the public; the world is a Great Harmony.

Final Chapter: The Dragon Breaking Its Chains – The World Coordinate of a Free China and the Ultimate Outlook

When we ruthlessly tear off the painted skin of two thousand years of “advanced slavery” in this book, and use “The Great Charter of Chinese Freedom” and “The Outline for the Implementation of the New Deal” to smash these invisible shackles, many people might ask: When this new system—which thoroughly returns power to the people and fairly distributes wealth to the masses—is truly implemented and operational, what kind of society will the future China become?

Here, based on the strictest economic logic, political common sense, and the dimensional crushing power of modern technology, we can present an absolutely suspense-free ultimate outlook to our 1.4 billion compatriots, and to the world.

1. The Breakthrough of Ideas: A Hundred Schools of Thought Contending and the Comprehensive Freedom of Spirit and Body When the common law system defends absolute fairness, and freedom of the press and speech disperses the black box of power, the first and greatest chemical reaction will occur in Chinese society: the thorough dissipation of fear and the liberation of the soul.

For two thousand years, the most vicious method of the totalitarian system has been to lock 1.4 billion brains into the same cage. But under the sunlight of the New Deal, we will usher in a true era of “letting a hundred flowers bloom and a hundred schools of thought contend”! In this free country, there will no longer be “banned books,” no longer a high-and-mighty “Ministry of Truth.” What kind of lifestyle you want to live, where you want to migrate, is all entirely up to you. The 1.4 billion vivid souls will erupt with unprecedented vitality and creativity. The future China will bid a complete farewell to that lifeless “standardized processing factory” and become a boiling ocean of colliding ideas and extreme cultural prosperity.

2. Minimalist Government and AI Transformation: Severing Rent-Seeking for Ultimate Integrity Accompanying the liberation of minds, the New Deal will conduct an unprecedented “physical-level slimming down” of the national governance system—comprehensively introducing AI to build an extremely compressed “minimalist government.”

In the old machine of the past, the bureaucratic system, to prove its own existence and create rent-seeking space, deliberately invented countless cumbersome approvals and certificates. They fed tens of millions of “redundant personnel” who created no value, alongside a massive “stability maintenance machine,” madly consuming vast amounts of tax revenue every day.

The underlying purpose of the “New Deal” is extremely cold and clear: use technology directly to eradicate the physical soil of corruption! The new regime will hand over the vast majority of administrative approvals and resource audits to open-source, transparent AI algorithms. AI has no selfish desires and accepts no bribes. The pure administrative costs of the new state and the frictional costs of the entire society will experience a cliff-like plunge, dropping directly to one percent (1%) of the old era! This not only brings thrilling efficiency, but the trillions in massive tax revenues saved will be injected losslessly into genuine livelihood dividends.

3. The Re-slicing of Wealth: Independent Labor Unions, Middle-Classification of the Bottom, and Detonating Super Domestic Demand

When the extremely heavy costs of stability maintenance and bureaucratic friction are completely wiped out, the New Deal will deploy its core weapon in the field of wealth distribution—establishing genuine independent labor unions and significantly raising the minimum wage standard.

Under the old “advanced slavery,” ordinary people were stripped of their bargaining power and reduced to consumables in sweatshops. The emergence of independent labor unions gives laborers the backbone to clash head-on with capital and the government at the negotiating table. Its ultimate goal is to universally and irreversibly elevate the income of all ordinary people at the bottom to a middle-class level!

This is not at all inflation caused by over-issuing currency, but an “absolutely fair re-slicing” of the social wealth pie! In the past, the totalitarian government and crony capitalists acted as “slaveholders” to siphon off massive profits. Now, the policies of independent labor unions and a minimalist government are to snatch back the swallowed profits and return them to the ordinary people.

This not only brings dignity but instantly spawns the largest and most robust super-consumer group in the entire history of humanity. When one billion people at the bottom dare to consume and are able to consume, this massive domestic demand will force Chinese enterprises to bid farewell to the model of squeezing the bottom, compelling them to comprehensively upgrade toward high-tech and high value-added sectors, realizing a truly healthy and enduring internal economic circulation.

4. The True Soaring of the Dragon: The Convergence of Six Divine Artifacts and the Dimensional Strike of the “Miracle Decade”

When the common law system and authentic elections and recalls bring absolute fairness and justice; when the three major dividends of healthcare, education, and eldercare unconditionally catch the survival baseline; when the AI minimalist government clears social frictional costs to zero; when independent labor unions re-slice wealth for the bottom masses; coupled with the thorough liberation of ideas and spirit—the combined effect of these six major policies will bring China an unprecedented qualitative leap and an overall elevation in civilizational dimensions!

The explosive power of this economic and social soaring will be extremely astonishing. In the first 5 to 10 years following the implementation of the “New Deal,” China will usher in the most spectacular “Miracle Decade” in human history. In these 5 to 10 years, although it will still take time to catch up with old powerhouse nations in absolute per capita GDP statistics, because the bone-sucking exploitation of the old system has been completely severed and wealth flows directly back to the private sector, the “civilizational dimension” of Chinese society and the “true life happiness” of ordinary people will instantly reach or even surpass the experience of developed countries! In an extremely short time, China will leap from an oppressive sweatshop into a wealthy, free, and world-class, top-tier civilized society.

Immediately following this, driven by the frenzy of a healthy internal circulation, the physical dimensional strike power of the population multiplier will reveal its true might: China’s population base is about four times that of the United States. Driven by a minimalist, free constitutional system and super domestic demand, we only need to achieve one-third to one-half of the production efficiency of Americans, and China’s overall economic scale will, without any suspense, reach 1.5 to 2 times that of the United States within 20 to 30 years!

This is not painting a pie in the sky; this is the inevitable outcome firmly locked in by fair distribution and economic common sense. The future China will gloriously transform from a “systemic threat” that the free world guards against everywhere, into the strongest cornerstone defending global modern civilization and the world’s hegemon of domestic demand.

Conclusion: This Golden Age Shall Be As You Wish

The two thousand years of dark night have been long enough. Today, the death knell for totalitarianism has sounded, and that old meat grinder is accelerating its collapse in the death spiral of its own making.

When all our compatriots sign this “Great Charter of Chinese Freedom” on the eve of dawn, when we personally snatch back the state’s machinery of violence and distribute the wealth that belongs to us—that new China with no emperor, no privileged redundant personnel, no fear, possessing only absolute fairness, minimalist efficiency, a hundred flowers blooming, and dignity, will inevitably rise from these ancient ruins.

It will inevitably become the freest, most incorruptible, and most prosperous country in the world; it will inevitably become the greatest lighthouse for all humanity moving toward “Great Harmony” in the tech era!

All of this merely awaits our awakening; all of this merely awaits our joint carving of that uncompromising contract.

[Attachment] The Truth of the National Abacus — Without increasing a single cent of tax, how do we fulfill the welfare bottom line for 1.4 billion people?

When we promise to all citizens that the future Chinese Federation will implement “universal free healthcare, universal basic pension, twelve-year free education”, and distribute national natural revenues as a “survival dividend”, people who have been brainwashed by the old system for a long time will always exclaim: “Where does the money come from? Isn’t this killing the chicken to get the eggs, a Latin American-style populism that will bankrupt the country?”

The people who raise this kind of doubt do so because they have never seen the real national ledger. They simply do not know how astonishing the wealth created by the Chinese common people is, and even less do they know how bottomless the “man-eating black hole” of that old system is.

Today, we will use the public data published by the CCP’s National Bureau of Statistics and Ministry of Finance themselves to conduct an extremely cold and professional financial sandbox deduction. We want to prove to the 1.4 billion citizens: As long as we cut off the blood-sucking tubes of the old system and establish the modern financial dual-track system of “physical isolation between the national treasury and the universal fund”, we can not only afford this money, but also leave a perpetual treasury for our descendants.

I. The bottom ledger of expenditure: The three major livelihood bottom lines, how much money needs to be spent exactly? Before calculating income, let us first calculate the account of rigid national expenditures to death. To let 1.4 billion people live with dignity, exactly how much real gold and silver is needed every year?

1. The absolute safety net of healthcare and education (An annual increase of about 4 trillion)

Universal free healthcare: To fill the gap of “personal health expenditure” that ordinary people currently pay out of their own pockets, an annual increase of about 2.5 trillion in financial investment is needed.

Twelve-year free public education: To completely exempt tuition and miscellaneous fees as well as parents’ invisible expenditures, an annual increase of about 1.5 trillion in targeted subsidies is needed.

2. Dual-track pension system: Absolute equality at the bottom line and distribution according to work at the upper limit (About 5.4 trillion annually) On the issue of pensions, the New Deal will absolutely not practice the absolute egalitarianism of feeding idlers, but will introduce the extremely mature “New Zealand model”:

The first layer (Absolute state safety net): No matter if you were a mayor or a farmer before, as long as you reach the statutory retirement age, the state will uniformly distribute a basic pension of 1500 yuan per month without difference from taxes, ensuring that everyone eats their fill, dresses warmly, and is respected in old age. Calculated based on the current approximately 300 million elderly people, the annual expenditure is about 5.4 trillion.

The second layer (Upper limit of personal effort): Establish personal and occupational supplementary annuity accounts. The more diligent you are when you are young and the more money you deposit into your personal account, the higher the total amount you will receive after retirement. The bottom line is absolutely guaranteed by the state, and the upper limit is strived for by personal struggle.

[Total ledger of new rigid livelihood additions]: Healthcare and education (4 trillion) + Basic pension (5.4 trillion) = About 9.4 trillion RMB annually. Facing this 9.4 trillion, the old bureaucrats will cry that there is no money. Good, now let us see, as long as we smash the privilege machine, how much money can we save!

II. Extreme throttling and treasury replenishment: Cutting off four major blood-sucking black holes In the future Chinese Federation, the “taxes” legally paid by ordinary people will all enter the [Federal Treasury]. The money in the treasury will only do two things: maintain the operation of the minimalist state machine and provide a safety net for universal basic livelihood.

Under the operation of the highly AI-ized platform-type government in the future, treasury expenditures will experience a “dimensionality-reduction type” reduction:

1. Extreme slimming of the AI minimalist government (Saves about 8 trillion annually) The CCP’s current “financially supported personnel” is conservatively estimated to be up to 50 million people, consuming tens of trillions of the people’s hard-earned wealth every year. In the future, relying on the “Federal Super Digital Hub”, complicated approvals for taxation, civil affairs, industry and commerce will all be integrated and mastered by AI, and government administrative expenditures will be reduced to about 1% of the present! Laying off tens of millions of redundant personnel will directly save at least 8 trillion in cash for the treasury every year!

2. Erasing the “stability maintenance black hole” and party affairs expenditures (Saves about 3 trillion annually) The “stability maintenance fee” used by the old system to guard against ordinary people is up to more than 1.4 trillion every year; at the same time, taxpayers also have to spend an astronomical amount of funds to support party committees, official media, and cultural troupes. Under a free constitutional government, these two major blood-sucking black holes will be completely ended. This 3 trillion will be fully transformed into the education and healthcare budget of the ordinary people!

3. Depriving special supplies and high-ranking cadres’ privileges (Saves about 1.5 trillion annually) The high-ranking officials in the old system hold excess pensions of several thousands or even tens of thousands per month, and occupy luxurious special-supply hospital wards. The New Deal will implement a one-size-fits-all “equal rights liquidation”, depriving all supra-national treatments. Forcibly saving at least 1.5 trillion in cash from the hands of the privileged class every year!

4. Calling a halt to ineffective infrastructure and corruption depletion (Saves about 4 trillion annually) All government expenditures will be open-source on the entire network and use zero-based budgeting, completely cutting off the face-saving projects and ineffective infrastructure massively undertaken by the old system for money laundering. The invisible waste avoided is at least 4 trillion annually!

[Total throttling]: 8 trillion + 3 trillion + 1.5 trillion + 4 trillion = Saves 16.5 trillion annually! (Conclusion: Just the money saved by cutting off bureaucrats and privileges is enough to pay that 9.4 trillion bill for universal healthcare, education, and pensions, and the Federal Treasury still possesses a huge healthy surplus of up to 7 trillion! Without increasing a single cent of tax, the grand livelihood ledger has already been completely settled.)

III. Extreme open-source and fund isolation: Creating a “perpetual motion machine treasury” for 1.4 billion people Since the daily tax balance has already settled the ledger, then where does the money for universal dividends come from? And how should the massive confiscated corruption funds be used? This is the moment when the New Deal demonstrates modern financial wisdom.

In modern civilized countries, the government’s money and the ordinary people’s money must be completely cut off physically and legally. For China’s three most massive gold mountains—land, state-owned enterprises, and natural resources, the federal government and the treasury have no right to use a single cent of the massive wealth they generate! They will be 100% fully injected into a [Chinese Universal Wealth Fund] that is completely independent of the administrative system.

1. The fund’s three major absolute cash flows (About 8 trillion remitted annually):

Perpetual land rent of the land bank (About 3 trillion): Abolish the malicious policy of “one-time land selling” which drains the pond to catch the fish. The transparent sub-leasing revenues from national commercial, industrial, and agricultural land transfers will be directly remitted into the fund.

The true profits of monopoly state-owned enterprises (About 4 trillion): Monopoly state-owned enterprises such as tobacco, electricity, and finance are no longer the ATMs of the powerful, and their net profits after tax will be fully handed over to the fund.

Realization of natural resource franchise rights (About 1 trillion): The auction revenues of resources such as minerals, water conservancy, and communication spectrums will be fully merged in.

2. The fund’s “dual-track operation”: Cash dividend + Investment compound interest Facing the huge wealth of 8 trillion pouring in every year, we will absolutely not engage in the “eating it all and distributing it clean” of killing the chicken to get the eggs, but adopt the most mature operation model of a sovereign fund:

[Universal survival dividend (Directly distributing money)]: Extract 50% (about 4 trillion) of the total revenue of the current year, use it as the “survival dividend”, set no threshold, and evenly transfer it into the private bank accounts of the 1.4 billion citizens. Every person can obtain about 3000 yuan of pure cash dividend every year. For a bottom-tier family of five, even doing nothing for a year can increase absolute income by fifteen thousand yuan, completely bidding farewell to extreme poverty.

[Compound interest appreciation pool (Money generates money)]: The remaining 50% (about 4 trillion) will be permanently sealed within the fund pool, left in enterprises for technical research and development or invested in extremely steady high-quality assets globally.

3. The nuclear strike of “currency replacement” and the destination of recovered stolen funds At the beginning of the launch of the New Deal, we will launch an unprecedented financial war: through global fugitive recovery, and at this moment launch the “dimensionality-reduction nuclear strike” of “currency replacement”. With a time limit for real-name exchange of new currency, the tens of trillions of cash black money hidden in the basements by corrupt officials will instantly become waste paper (physically eliminating inflation), or be fully confiscated.

But please note: the government will absolutely not directly spend this “one-time windfall” up to tens of trillions! It will all be injected as principal into the “Universal Wealth Fund”. Even if it only generates a 5% investment return every year, it can bring an endless stream of 1.5 trillion pure interest to the country. This is the inexhaustible gold mountain we leave to our descendants.

IV. Endgame: The economic nuclear explosion triggered by returning property to the people This grand national ledger has formed a perfect closed loop here: using the money saved by cutting off redundant personnel and privileges, it has completely covered free healthcare, education, and the pension safety net; using half the profits of state-owned assets, it has distributed universal cash dividends; using the confiscated corruption black money, it has established a perpetual interest-bearing sovereign fund.

There is no inflation at all, and no eating the food of tomorrow today.

And this is still just the static inventory. When the “Magna Carta” thoroughly protects private property rights, and when privileges are eliminated, the creativity of the whole society will usher in an unprecedented blowout. When 1.4 billion people no longer worry about seeing a doctor and retirement, the suppressed massive consumption power will instantly detonate the domestic demand market. The explosion of the overall economic plate will naturally double the country’s tax base.

We are not drawing a blueprint of utopia, we are just doing what a normal company should do—dismissing the corrupt official bookworms who hold a sinecure, and returning the company’s original abundant profits, openly, decently, scientifically, and rigorously to the 1.4 billion lawful shareholders!

Appendix: About the Author & Call to Action

Bian Jingtao Independent Scholar / Researcher of Political and Economic Systems Author of The Magna Carta of Chinese Freedom and The New Deal Implementation Outline

Location: Europe · Germany (Deutschland, Europa)

Secure & Encrypted Contact (For IT Experts & Whistleblowers) We are urgently recruiting top-tier cybersecurity experts and blockchain geeks to co-build the new system. To ensure absolute anonymity and security, please contact us via Session, a decentralized, end-to-end encrypted messenger:

- Session ID: 051423e4e85bb16773d1598b6fe616023b7a0788723b0b6097364cd81c23f10700 (Note: Session requires no phone number for registration. Simply download the app and enter the ID above for secure communication.)

Official Platforms & Social Media

- Official Website: <https://www.freechinacharter.org/>
- X (Twitter): @JingTao618
- YouTube Channel: youtube.com/c/ChinaConstitution

Get the Physical Book & Support the Cause If you wish to collect the physical edition for its historical value or support our constitutional enlightenment movement, you can purchase it globally on Amazon:

- English-Chinese Bilingual Edition (Amazon): <https://www.amazon.de/dp/B0H18LQFF3>
- German Edition (Amazon): <https://www.amazon.com/dp/B0H1WC4SBZ>